Gold biscuits and cash worth Rs 21.87 crore seized

Agartala (TSIT): In a major crackdown on smuggling of gold and financial crimes, the Assam Rifles, in a joint operation with the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence (DRI), seized gold biscuits and unaccounted Indian currency worth Rs 21.87 crore in Tripura, officials said on Wednesday. A defence spokesman said that acting on secret inputs, the joint operation was conducted at Shantipara in the heart of the capital city and in Dhaleswar on the outskirts of the city and arrested three persons, identified as Kunal Jaiswal, Ajay Naha and Rakesh Das. He said that during the operation, gold biscuits weighing approximately 14 kg, valued at around Rs 19 crore, along with Indian currencies amounting to Rs 2.87 crore, were recovered. "The successful seizure was carried out by Assam Rifles and DRI based on specific intelligence inputs," the spokesman said.

5 arrested for stone-pelting during demolition drive near Delhi mosque

New Delhi (TSIT): Delhi Police have arrested five people in connection with the stone-pelting incident during the demolition drive near a mosque, officials said. The incident occurred near the Faiz-e-Ilahi Mosque in the Turkman Gate area, close to Ramlila Ground, where authorities launched an anti-encroachment operation. According to officials of the Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD), the drive was conducted to clear unauthorised structures from land adjoining the mosque and nearby areas, in compliance with directions issued by the Delhi High Court on November 12, 2025. The demolition exercise began in the early hours of Wednesday, with a heavy presence of civic staff and police personnel. Officials stated that between 10 and 17 bulldozers were deployed as part of the operation. As the demolition got underway, a large number of residents gathered outside the mosque, raising slogans and protesting against the action.

CM Revanth unveils CM Cup-2025 poster

Hyderabad (TSIT) Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy on Wednesday unveiled the poster of CM Cup-2025 (Second Edition) at Jubilee Hills, marking the launch of one of Telangana's largest grassroots sports initiatives. The event was attended by Minister Vakiti Srihari, SATS Chairman Shivasena Reddy, Special Chief Secretary Jayesh Ranjan, Principal Secretary to the Chief Minister Srinivasa Raju, and Sports Authority of Telangana (SATG) Managing Director Sony Bala Devi. Speaking on the occasion, the Chief Minister reiterated the state government's commitment to promoting a strong sports culture at the grassroots level and encouraging youth participation across both urban and rural areas of Telangana. According to the schedule announced, CM Cup-2025 competitions will be held in phases, starting with village-level events from January 17 to 22, followed by mandal-level competitions from January 28 to 31. Constituency-level matches will take place from February 3 to 7, district-level events from February 10 to 14, and the state-level finals from February 19 to 26. The Sports Authority of Telangana will organise competitions in 44 different sports disciplines, offering a wide platform for young and emerging talent from across the state. The CM Cup aims to identify and nurture sporting talent while promoting fitness, discipline and competitive spirit among the youth, in line with the government's vision for sports development in Telangana.

Polavaram Project works will be completed by March 2027: Naidu

Vijayawada (TSIT): CM N Chandrababu Naidu said here on Wednesday that the government will ensure all Polavaram Project works are completed by March 2027 and bring it into use by December next year. Addressing a press conference at the project site, the chief minister promised to finish construction of the diaphragm wall by February 15. "We will take steps to complete all Polavaram Project works by next March (2027). By December 2027, our goal is to bring the project to use," said Naidu, following an aerial survey and inspection of the project. Had the diaphragm wall been constructed before, it could have been completed at a cost of just Rs 440 crore and the project itself could have been completed earlier, he said. However, he alleged that the government change in 2019 ended up as a major loss to the project and accused the previous YSRCP government of neglecting the project that resulted in a delay of six years. Observing that the alleged delays inflated the cost, Naidu said that an additional amount of Rs 1,000 crore was required for the diaphragm wall. The Andhra CM alleged that only 2 per cent of works were progressed between 2019 and 2024, after 72 per cent of works were completed between 2014-19. Likewise, he noted that the works related to the main canal were almost complete and efforts are on to finish embankment works by June. Further, the CM directed officials to complete Rehabilitation and Resettlement (R&R) works in the next 12 months and to hasten the acquisition of land required for resettlement. Highlighting that the 'largest' inland waterways will be established, Naidu said tunnel connectivity will be increased in the Polavaram left and right canals. Channel water to Visakhapatnam from the Polavaram Project, the CM noted that Vizag and Anakapalli districts will be made fertile. Likewise, he noted that all the minor irrigation projects and check-dams running along Polavaram Project canals will be filled with Godavari River water. Telangana govt to seek interim stay on Pollavaram project

India's 'Reform Express' continues to gain momentum: PM Modi on GDP growth

NEW DELHI (TSIT) : Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Wednesday said that India's "Reform Express" continues to gain momentum, as official figures showed that real GDP has been estimated to grow by 7.4 per cent in FY 2025-26 against the growth rate of 6.5 per cent during FY 2024-25. According to the National Statistics Office (NSO), nominal GDP is estimated to grow at 8.0 per cent in FY 2025-26. In an X post, PM Modi said: "This is powered by the NDA Government's comprehensive investment push and demand-led policies". "Be it infrastructure, manufacturing incentives, digital public goods or 'Ease of Doing Business', we are working to realise our dream of a prosperous India", the Prime Minister emphasised. The buoyant growth in the services sector has been found to be a major driver with a robust growth of 9.9 per cent at constant prices in FY 2025-26 for financial services, real estate, professional services, and public administration.

Trade, hotels, transport, and communication & services related to the broadcasting sector have been estimated to grow by 7.5 per cent, the official statement said. Manufacturing and construction in the secondary sector have been estimated to achieve a growth rate of 7 per cent, while the agriculture sector growth rate is estimated at 3.1 per cent. Real Private Final Consumption Expenditure (PFCE) has been estimated to attain a growth rate of 7 per cent during FY 2025-26, backed by the income tax exemptions announced in the Budget for 2020-26 and subsequent GST rate cuts across goods and services.

'Sir, may I see you please?' Trump recounts PM Modi's 'request' for Apache helicopters

Washington (TSIT) US President Donald Trump on Tuesday (local time) boasted about India-US defence cooperation, claiming that India's order for 68 Apache attack helicopters was delayed by five years and that Prime Minister Narendra Modi personally raised concerns over the long delivery period during a meeting with him. Speaking at the House GOP Member Retreat, Trump highlighted defence cooperation between the United States and India and criticised what he described as years-long delays in supplying defence equipment.

"India ordered 68 Apache helicopters. PM Modi came to me and said 'Sir, may I see you please?' and I said yes," Trump said, while recalling his interaction with PM Modi. Trump also reiterated his good relationship with

Prime Minister Narendra Modi; however, he underscored PM Modi's unhappiness over the high tariffs imposed on India for purchasing Russian oil. "I have a very good relationship with PM Modi, but he is not happy with me as India is paying high tariffs. But now they have reduced it very substantially, buying oil from Russia..." he added. The tariffs, totalling 50 per cent, were imposed due to India's significant purchases of Russian oil, which the US sees as supporting Russia's economy amid the Ukraine conflict.

Grok AI obscene content issue: Govt seeks more details from X

X said it respects Indian laws and all guidelines, and that India is a big market for the platform.

New Delhi: The government has sought more details from X, including specific action taken on obscene content linked to its Grok AI and steps to prevent a repeat in future, sources said on Wednesday, January 7, adding that the response submitted by the firm, while detailed, was not adequate.

The move came after the Elon Musk-led social media platform made its submissions to the IT Ministry on the Centre's directive to crack down on the misuse of the artificial intelligence chatbot Grok for the creation of sexualised and obscene images of women. Sources told PTI that the IT Ministry has sought more details from X, including specific action taken on obscene content linked to Grok AI and steps to prevent it in future. The response submitted by X earlier was "detailed, but not adequate," they added. X was given extended time until Wednesday, 5 pm, to submit an action taken report to the ministry, after a stern warning was issued over indecent and sexually-explicit content generated through the misuse of AI-based services like 'Grok' and other tools. Sources said that X said it respects Indian laws and all guidelines, and that India is a big market for the platform. In its response, it also outlined the strict content take-down policies it abides by when it comes to misleading information and those related to non-consensual sexualised images. Memory Khan Seminar The reply, while being detailed, missed crucial information, including specific steps that have been taken on the Grok AI obscene content issue, they added.

INDORE WATER CRISIS:

Cong demands answers on WHO cholera guidelines, claims death toll has increased

Bhopal, Jan 7 : Congress on Wednesday asserted that the crisis involving contaminated water in the Bhagirathpura area of Indore persists, following yet another reported death. The party has inquired whether the Madhya Pradesh government has notified the World Health Organisation in accordance with international protocols, given that "cholera bacteria have allegedly been confirmed".

Congress media cell chief and former Minister Mukesh Nayak highlighted the latest fatality, stating that 20 innocent lives have been lost and over 1,000 people severely affected due to contaminated water in Indore's Bhagirathpura and surrounding areas. Terming it "criminal negligence" by the BJP government, Nayak accused the administration of suppressing actual death figures and showing insensitivity. Nayak highlighted that state Congress president

Jitu Patwari and Leader of Opposition Umang Singh visited affected families, who expressed deep anguish. Despite Chief Minister Dr Mohan Yadav being in charge of Indore, only four families have received Rs 2 lakh compensation each, he said. "With cholera bacteria reportedly confirmed," Nayak questioned, "whether the state informed the World Health Organisation as per international protocols", demanding immediate clarification from state and central health departments.

He referred to the International Health Regulations (IHR), which mandate reporting through the National IHR Focal Point for events of potential international concern. He said Congress demands include - FIR and dismissal of the Indore Mayor, resignation of Kailash Vijayvargiya, and Rs one crore compensation per deceased family. In protest, the party will hold a state-level 'Justice March' on January 11, starting at 11 a.m. from Bada Ganpati Temple (Indore) to Rajwada Chowk's Ahilyabai statue.

Indian Army continues restoration work in cyclone-hit Sri Lanka, shares video of gratitude

Colombo (TSIT): As part of Operation Sagar Bandhu, the Indian Army's Engineer Task Force is working relentlessly to restore B-492, which connects Kandy in the Central Province to Badulla in Sri Lanka's Uva Province, which was severely affected due to Cyclone Ditwah. In a video posted by the Indian Army on X, a schoolgirl said, "We are really grateful to you for the service you have done for us, especially coming all the way from India. Due to the damaged bridge, we had no way of crossing over to this side. We are so thankful to all of you for coming and doing this for us. Thank you very much for the assistance you have provided." While sharing the video and image on X, the army stated, "The Indian Army's Engineer Task Force is relentlessly restoring critical road connectivity on the vital B-492, linking Kandy in the Central Province with Badulla in the Uva Province of Sri Lanka, which was severely affected by Cyclone Ditwah."

"Through the swift construction of Bailey bridges at KM 15 and KM 21, the Task Force has reconnected communities, reduced travel time and strengthened bonds with the people of Sri Lanka," it added. In November last year, India launched Operation Sagar Bandhu, as the First Responder in the immediate aftermath of the devastating Cyclone Ditwah, to provide urgent Humanitarian Assistance and Disaster Relief (HADR) support to Sri Lanka. Cyclone Ditwah triggered widespread flooding, landslides and large-scale infrastructure damage across Sri Lanka, overwhelming the country's disaster-response mechanisms.

Himanta meets Shah to discuss Assam polls; NDA seat-sharing likely to be finalised by Feb 15

Dhemaji/Dhakuakhana (TSIT) Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma on Wednesday said he met Union Home Minister Amit Shah to discuss the seat-sharing agreement with NDA partners for the upcoming assembly elections in the state.

Speaking to reporters on the sidelines of an official function, Sarma said the BJP is likely to formalise its seat-sharing arrangement with the Asom Gana Parishad (AGP) and other smaller NDA allies by February 15. Last month, Sarma had said the finalisation of the alliance with existing NDA partners was expected to be over by January 15. “Our seat sharing and other details related to the alliance will be finalised by February 15. Last night, I went to meet the Union home minister and discussed it. Hagrama Mohilary (BPF chief) was also with me during the meeting,” the CM said.

Prior to this meeting, UPPL president Pramod Boro had also met Shah, he added. The CM went to Delhi on Tuesday in a special flight and returned on Wednesday morning. “Yesterday, I had a long discussion with AGP president Atul Bora. Our discussions are going on. We will amicably decide on a seat-sharing agreement and there will be no issue at all,” Sarma said. He, however, did not share any reason for the delay of a month in finalising the seat-sharing agreement and other details for the elections. Sarma also said new faces always get an advantage in every election and this time will not be different. The BJP currently has an alliance with AGP, United People’s Party Liberal (UPPL) and Bodoland People’s Front (BPF). Besides, Rabha Hasong Joutha Sangram Samiti (RHJSS) and Janashakti Party (JP) are also NDA constituents in Assam. On December 5, Sarma said, “I feel we will complete our discussion with AGP regarding poll alliance and seat-sharing before Magh Bihu.” In the same manner, BJP’s talks with the RHJSS and JP would also be over by Magh Bihu, which is celebrated usually on January 13-15, he had said. “My target is that all understandings with our allies should be formalised by January 15,” the CM had said. Assembly elections are likely to take place during March-April. The BJP presently has 64 seats in the 126-member House, while its allies AGP have nine, UPPL seven, and BPF three MLAs. In the opposition, Congress has 26 seats, AIUDF 15, CPI(M) one, and one Independent legislator. In August, several NDA leaders including Sarma, Union Minister Sarbananda Sonowal, and AGP chief Atul Bora had set a target of winning 100 seats, with Sarma later claiming the ruling alliance had high chances in 103 constituencies.

ISI turns to mule accounts to revive home-grown terror in Kashmir

New Delhi, Jan 7 : The raids by the Counter Intelligence Wing (CIK) of the Jammu and Kashmir Police in connection with a cyber terror case have uncovered scores of mule accounts. The raids were conducted at several locations across the Valley. During the raids the CIK found that there were many mule accounts in operation. The operation was aimed at disabling these accounts which were indulging in cyber frauds and also facilitating terror financing. Acting on specific information, the CIK raided nearly 22 locations in the Kashmir Valley. An official said that the raids were aimed at identifying people who were part of this network. This network was illegally routing money, which was in turn being used for terror related activities.

SCR Stenographers’ Association holds annual general body meeting in Secunderabad

The South Central Railway Stenographers’ Association held its Annual General Body (AGB) Meeting on January 7, 2025, at the Railway Sports Complex, Secunderabad, to commemorate Sir Isaac Pitman, the God of Stenographers. Dr. M. Raghavaiah, General Secretary of NFIR/SCRES, attended the meeting as the chief guest. The programme was conducted under the leadership of T. Anil Kumar, Zonal President, and J. Ramakrishna, Zonal Secretary. Addressing the gathering, Dr. Raghavaiah appreciated the contribution of stenographers to the railway organisation and their role in strengthening employee welfare. On the occasion, he felicitated seven retired stalwarts of South Central Railway Stenographers by presenting them with “Lifetime Achievement Award” mementoes and certificates, in recognition of their decades-long dedicated service towards the welfare of stenographers. The meeting witnessed the participation of association members from across the zone and concluded with a reaffirmation of commitment to uphold professional excellence and unity among stenographers.

ICAR Scientists Decode World’s First Chromosome-Scale Genome of Little Millet

Hyderabad: In a major breakthrough for millet research, scientists at the Indian Council of Agricultural Research (ICAR) have successfully decoded the world’s first chromosome-scale genome of little millet, significantly strengthening India’s scientific leadership in millet research. The achievement was accomplished by the Global Centre of Excellence on Millets (Shree Anna) at the ICAR-Indian Institute of Millets Research (IIMR), Hyderabad, in collaboration with the University of Saskatchewan, the National Research Council of Canada, and the University of Agricultural Sciences, Bengaluru.

Little millet, a climate-resilient crop traditionally grown in dry and marginal regions, is known for its low water requirement, drought tolerance, pest resistance, and high nutritional value, especially iron and dietary fibre. Until now, limited genetic information had constrained efforts to improve the crop. The newly developed genome map reveals 18 chromosomes and more than 59,000 genes governing climate resilience, nutrition, yield, and grain quality. Researchers also analysed 300 little millet varieties from across India, identifying nearly 2.5 lakh SNP genetic markers that explain variations in yield and nutritional content. The findings have been published in the international journal Nature Communications. This milestone paves the way for precision breeding, genomic selection, and gene editing, enabling the development of improved varieties for farmers and the health-food sector. As climate challenges and nutritional deficiencies persist, the breakthrough provides strong scientific support to India’s millet mission, reinforcing the role of little millet in sustainable food and nutrition security.

LIC launches Jeevan Utsav Single Premium plan

Mumbai (TSIT) Life Insurance Corporation of India (LIC) has introduced a new insurance product, LIC’s Jeevan Utsav Single Premium (Plan No. 883), which was launched by LIC CEO and Managing Director Shri R. Doraiswamy on January 6, 2026.

LIC’s Jeevan Utsav Single Premium is a Non-Participating, Non-Linked, Individual Savings Whole Life

Insurance plan. It is a single premium policy that offers Guaranteed Additions during the Guaranteed Addition period and provides guaranteed lifelong income along with lifelong risk cover. The Unique Identification Number (UIN) of the plan is 512N392V01. The plan is available for individuals aged between 30 days and 65 years. The minimum annually, or Flexi Income Benefit, which allows income accumulation with interest at 5.5 per cent per annum, compounded yearly. The plan also provides comprehensive death and maturity benefits, loan facility, high sum assured rebates and optional riders.

Basic Sum Assured is Rs.5 lakh, with no upper limit, subject to underwriting norms. Guaranteed Additions accrue at the rate of Rs.40 per thousand of Basic Sum Assured at the end of each policy year during the specified period.

The plan will be available for purchase from January 12, 2026, through both offline and online channels.

Rising Employment, Unequal Pay: Telangana’s Women Workers Speak.

BY AUTHOR .VAISHALI TIWARI

Rising Employment, Unequal Pay: Telangana’s Women Workers Speak. None Women’s participation in the workforce in Telangana has shown a steady and encouraging rise in recent years. However, this progress continues to be overshadowed by deep-rooted wage inequality, especially in the informal sector, as reflected in official data and ground-level interactions with women workers across the state. According to the Periodic Labour Force Survey (PLFS) 2023-24, female labour force participation rate (LFPR) stands at approximately 50-51 per cent, while rural participation remains significantly lower at 25-26 per cent. The women’s workforce participation rate (WPR) has nearly doubled over the last seven years—from 22 per cent in 2017 to 40.3 per cent in 2024. Overall LFPR during the period July 2023 to June 2024 was recorded at nearly 60 per cent, highlighting a broader shift toward increased economic engagement. Despite this quantitative rise, wage parity remains elusive. Multiple studies and sector-wise data indicate that women workers in Hyderabad earn 30 to 40 per cent less than their male counterparts on average. In sectors such as retail and manufacturing, the wage gap ranges between 15 and 17 per cent, while in the IT sector it fluctuates between 10 and 17 per cent. Although the disparity is relatively lower in healthcare and pharmaceuticals—around 10 per cent—it remains persistent. Agriculture continues to record the highest wage gap, reflecting entrenched gender inequalities in traditional occupations. Data from TeamLease Digital and the National Sample Survey Office (NSSO) reveal that women often earn only 60 to 70 per cent of male wages. Experts attribute this to women’s overrepresentation in lower-paying roles, limited access to leadership positions, and frequent mid-career dropouts due to work-family pressures and lack of institutional support.

The situation is even more concerning in the informal sector, where regulation and enforcement are weak. Women workers here reportedly earn 20 to 60 per cent less than men for similar work, despite working long hours under strenuous conditions. Many earn as little as Rs.5,000 per month—far below Telangana’s minimum wage benchmark of Rs.12,000. Savita Devi, a garment factory worker from Nacharam Chilaka Nagar, shared her experience: “I come early every day and work till evening. There are around 3,000 women workers here. Men doing the same work earn about Rs.14,000, but women are paid only Rs.9,500. After factory work, we also have household responsibilities, but nothing changes.” Echoing her concerns, Arjun, a local factory worker, said, “Women operate the same machines and work as hard as men, but they are always paid less, even when they work long hours.” Repeated attempts to seek a response from officials of the Hyderabad Labour Department regarding wage disparities and enforcement of minimum wage norms did not receive any reply, raising questions about monitoring mechanisms and accountability. While Telangana’s rising female workforce participation signals social and economic progress, the persistent wage gap underscores a troubling reality. Employment alone does not guarantee empowerment. Without strict enforcement of labour laws, transparent wage structures, and gender-sensitive workplace policies, women’s growing presence in the workforce risks becoming a statistic devoid of true equality. Bridging the gap between participation and fair pay remains an urgent challenge for policymakers, employers, and society at large.

ARCI scientist delivers invited lecture on advanced battery materials at GITAM

HYDERABAD : Dr. Bulusu V. Sarada, Scientist ‘G’ and Head of the Centre for Advanced Materials and Batteries (CAMB) at the International Advanced Research Centre for Powder Metallurgy and New Materials (ARCI), delivered an invited lecture on “Advanced Research on Energy Storage Materials and Devices: Innovations in Batteries and Supercapacitors” at the GITAM School of Science, Hyderabad, on January 7, 2026.

Organised under the Translating Research into Technology and Transfer to Indian Industries programme, the lecture focused on recent advancements in lithium-ion, sodium-ion, lithium-sulfur batteries and super-capacitors. Dr. Sarada highlighted key challenges and innovations related to energy density, safety, cycling stability, ion transport and cost optimisation, along with the role of nano-structured materials and advanced fabrication techniques. She also elaborated on ARCI’s indigenous research initiatives, including the development of cobalt-free cathodes, sodium-ion batteries, lithium-sulfur systems and pouch cell fabrication, underscoring their industrial relevance and technology readiness. The session offered valuable insights into sustainable energy storage technologies for students and faculty. Prof. B.V.R. Tata, Distinguished Professor, GITAM, and Prof. T. Vishwam, Head of the Department of Physics, felicitated Dr. Sarada. The programme was coordinated by Dr. P. M. Swarup Raju, Associate Professor, Department of Physics, GITAM School of Science.

PULWAMA POLICE BUST MAJOR DRUG HAUL

Srinagar, Jan 7: In a significant push against the narcotics trade, police in Jammu and Kashmir’s Pulwama district recovered 4.5 kilograms of charas during a routine patrol in the Kulpora area, dealing a major setback to drug traffickers operating in the region. According to police officials, the recovery was made as part of ongoing anti-drug operations aimed at curbing the spread of narcotics in the district. During the patrol, a suspect identified as Parvez Ahmed Dar, son of Ali Mohammad Dar and a resident of Kulpora, was intercepted. A search led to the seizure of a powder-like substance later confirmed to be charas.

WHY HEART ATTACKS ARE COMMON IN WINTER ?

DR. G. DURGAPRASAD RAO
SENIOR HOMOEOPATHIC
PHYSICIAN, HYDERABAD.

Winter ... the hunter of heart health ! Heart attacks and Heart failures are more common in winter. Severe cold weather and sudden cold winds increase the risk of heart attacks. This season sees the highest number of heart attack cases, along with a higher incidence of heart-related deaths. Cold winds and lifestyle changes affect the heart. Reduced activity, drowsiness, laziness, and prolonged periods of inactivity due to the cold can increase the risk of heart problems. Nowadays, heart problems are affecting people of all ages, regardless of age. The winter season in particular, acts as a trigger for heart attack problems in yourh . Cold , stress and unhealthy habits are among the reasons for heart attacks during winter. Due to extreme cold, blood vessels, especially the coronary arteries, constrict to keep the body warm. Reduced physical activity and less sweating during this period lead to increased blood volume and higher blood pressure. The metabolism slows down due to the cold, and the effect of certain hormones increases the tendency of blood clotting, which can block blood flow in the heart's arteries, thus increasing the risk of heart attacks. Winter affects the cardiovascular system in many ways. Those with underlying heart conditions should be very careful during this season. Elderly people, those with high blood pressure, diabetes, and pre-existing heart conditions should be especially careful. In people with coronary artery disease, 'angina' (chest pain) is more likely to occur during winter. Due to the cold weather, blood vessels constrict (vasoconstriction), and as a natural response, blood pressure increases, the demand for oxygen supply to the heart increases, and the heart beats faster because it cannot adequately supply the body with the required blood. This increases the stress on the heart and can lead to a stroke. Another common problem is 'arrhythmia'. Due to sudden temperature changes, irregular heart rhythms occur in winter. Cold air irritates the heart's electrical system, causing abnormal rhythms in vulnerable individuals. Reduced physical activity, increased consumption of fried and spicy foods, and high stress levels during winter also harm the heart. Body weight should be kept under control, because excess weight, especially in young people, increases the heart rate, thereby putting a strain on the heart. How to manage heart problems during winter to avoid complications? Wear warm clothes to prevent body temperature from dropping. Do light exercises like walking and yoga. Meditation is also very helpful. Quit smoking and reduce or eliminate alcohol consumption. Consume plenty of fresh, nutrient-rich foods, pulses, fruits, nuts, and whole grains. Drink plenty of water (lukewarm), even if you don't feel thirsty. Reduce meat consumption. Take your prescribed medications regularly. Many people neglect their health, thinking everything is fine and there's no need to consult a doctor. Sometimes, they reduce their medication on their own without medical advice. This can suddenly put their health at risk. It's important to understand that we may not notice the problem until heart failure occurs. Elderly people, those with heart disease, high blood pressure, diabetes, those who are overweight, extremely weak, under mental stress, or who work outdoors for extended periods should not ignore any discomfort caused by the cold weather. They should take appropriate precautions and seek medical advice if necessary. * Regularly check your blood pressure, sugar, and cholesterol levels. * If you experience chest pain, difficulty breathing, or dizziness, * Pain radiating to the left arm, neck, jaw, and back, * Unusual fatigue, * Sudden weakness or lightheadedness, If these symptoms persist, consult a doctor immediately. With these small changes, you can significantly reduce the risk of heart attack during the winter season. Premature deaths can also be prevented !

EDITORIAL

It's Not Really About Venezuela. It's About Cuba

Something the international press ignores about what has been happening in Venezuela in recent months is that it has little to do with the country's internal problems, or its role in global geopolitics. Venezuela is already a marginal oil producer. It is politically isolated in Latin America; there is no danger of what happens in Venezuela being “contagious” for the rest of the region. The regime in Venezuela was already falling apart. Even Nicolas Maduro’s allies, Russia and China, had made it clear that they couldn’t care less about what happens in his country. And Venezuela’s other ally, Iran, has enough to worry about at home. Of course, American oil companies would love to get their hands on Venezuela’s vast reserves, especially since Donald Trump could deport the hundreds of thousands of undocumented Venezuelan immigrants in the US. But that wouldn’t justify what’s happening in that country right now. Furthermore, for Trump and his “MAGA” (Make America Great Again) agenda, domestic problems must be addressed first, not issues that are quite irrelevant to his grand American geopolitical project. In reality, Trump doesn’t even pretend this is all about “democracy” in Venezuela. I doubt the well-being of the Venezuelan people is something that keeps him up at night. In fact, he’s never had a problem allying himself with dictatorships in other parts of the world. And as his own actions at home have shown, “democracy” has never been particularly relevant to him. All he’s said so far about Venezuela is about drug trafficking and “narco-terrorism “; but at the same time, he pardons the former president of Honduras, Juan Orlando Hernández, who was convicted of being directly responsible for shipping more than 400 tonnes of cocaine to the US. We already know that consistency isn’t Trump’s strong suit, but this goes beyond the pale. Meanwhile, he had put a higher price on Maduro’s head than Osama Bin Laden’s... Besides drug trafficking and insisting that Venezuela had to return the oil it had “stolen” from American multinationals (when they were nationalised), Trump only emphasised the difficulties the Maduro regime placed on the repatriation of undocumented immigrants. Furthermore, the US midterm elections are still a way off (they’re only in November of this year), and while there is a real risk that Trump could lose control of the House of Representatives, doing this so early in the year wouldn’t make much sense if that’s what he was aiming to avoid. This is really about something else: putting more pressure on Cuba, which needs Venezuelan oil to survive economically. Venezuela not only sells Cuba oil at very low prices, but under Chávez, and later under Maduro, it has also sent such large amounts of oil for free (in exchange for doctors and professional assistance) that Cuba was even able to become an exporter of oil. What truly changed everything was the appointment of Marco Rubio, a Cuban-American from Miami who has never denied his lifelong political objective: to liberate Cuba, as Secretary of State. While regime change in Venezuela would be a marginal and temporary success for Trump, contradicting all his criticisms of US military interventions in other countries, regime change in Cuba is something else entirely, transcending even immediate political gains. Rubio has already declared that the Cuban government is now “in a lot of trouble”. As everyone knows, the economic situation in Cuba is extremely precarious and deteriorating steadily. Sixty percent of the population is already without electricity, which is impacting tourism – its main source of foreign currency. Without Venezuelan oil, which was already arriving in lower quantities than usual, and without its earnings from tourism, Cuba’s economic situation could become unsustainable. Furthermore, a regime change in Cuba would ensure Rubio a strong position as a candidate in the upcoming Republican primaries.

US, UK Are Losing Their Professionals To A City They Once Mocked

A few years ago, a friend had the opportunity to move to Dubai, but he dismissed it outright, saying it was a "concrete jungle", "soul-less", "too hot", and that he would never swap London for Dubai. However, early last year, he did exactly that. He moved to Dubai with his family, and the business he had set up there has already begun to show results. "It wasn't Dubai's sun versus London's gloomy weather," he told me recently over the phone. "It was the ease of doing business versus endless bureaucratic hassles and crushing taxes in the UK." My friend was one of the nearly 1.9 lakh people who moved out of the UK lock, stock and barrel in 2024-25, the majority of them heading to Dubai, Qatar and other Gulf destinations. They were young entrepreneurs and salaried professionals. Dubai, indeed, is one of those cities that divides opinion here in the West almost instinctively. To its critics, it feels soulless, a concrete jungle rising out of sand. Others recoil from its curtailed political freedoms or dismiss it as a place sustained by money and mammon-worship. And yet, steadily and relentlessly, people are moving there in waves, not for its sandy beaches and sun but for job and business opportunities. Young professionals, entrepreneurs, startup founders, consultants, investors, freelancers are all moving with their families and children. They are arriving from India, Europe, Russia, Britain and other countries. Many are fully aware of what Dubai is not. But they are equally clear about what it offers. Ambition, work, utmost ease of doing business and mobility are being redefined in the 2020s. Why People Are Leaving Anyway If you disregard the rhetoric, you will find Dubai's appeal to be remarkably practical. Safety. Order. A decent standard of living without urban chaos. Infrastructure that works. Roads that are sans potholes. Public services that function predictably. The system is free of bribery. Digital systems do what they promise. Above all, it offers a business environment that does not exhaust you before you begin. The arithmetic is brutal and persuasive. No personal income tax. Very low corporate tax. Clear rules. Minimal bureaucratic the-atre. In a world where ambition is often throttled by paperwork, Dubai offers speed. And speed, today, is a form of freedom. It is, because setting up a company, for example, is not a long ordeal. In many free zones, a business can be registered, licensed and operational in five to seven working days. Visas, medical tests and Emirates ID processing are integrated into a single workflow. What takes months of coordination in labyrinths of democratic countries is compressed into a matter of days. And if you want the process to be fast-tracked against higher fees, most services can be delivered the same day or the next day. I have been there only once, almost six years ago, and my lasting impression was that the city occupies a strategic geographic sweet spot. It is neither fully Western nor fully Asian, but a bridge between the two. Eight hours from London. A little over three from Delhi. Two from Riyadh, with Doha even closer. From one base, you can service Europe, Africa and Asia without fully exiting any world. For globally mobile professionals and founders, this matters. Perhaps most striking is Dubai's social reality. People from countries that glare at each other across borders elsewhere work side by side here, and even start companies together. Pragmatism often triumphs over border skirmishes. My broader impression was that the city felt culturally India-dominated. During my trip, I met an extremely wealthy Sheikh who effortlessly broke into fluent Hindi, spoke warmly about hosting Bollywood stars, and took pride in celebrating Holi and bursting crackers on Diwali with his Indian friends. The Pandemic That Nearly Broke Dubai It is easy to forget how close Dubai came to the edge in 2020. When Covid-19 hit, the city gasped. Lockdowns paralysed its tourism-driven economy. Hospitality collapsed. Real estate froze. Expo 2020 was postponed. A survey by the Dubai Chamber suggested that nearly 70% of businesses feared closure within months if restrictions continued. Comparisons with the 2009 debt crisis returned with force. Dubai, a city built on movement, trade and openness, had suddenly lost all three.

A Story Not Told in 'Ikkis': What Arun Khetarpal Did With His Rs 685 Army Salary

Rohit Khanna

"My dear Dadaji... I have just received my first pay slip, so I thought that before touching the money, I should send you a present." On August 30, 1971, 2nd Lt Arun Khetarpal received his first salary, a princely sum then of Rs. 685. The same day, he penned this simple and beautifully written letter to his grandfather Chaman Lal Khetarpal - who himself had been a World War 1 veteran - gifting his entire first salary to him. Less than four months later, young Arun, just 21 years old, was martyred on December 16, the last day of the 1971 Indo-Pak war. 'Rookie' to War Hero in 5 Months Arun got his Indian Army salary for just five months. A tragically short career, but what a career. The young tank commander who destroyed 10 Pakistani tanks in a single day, who refused orders to fall back even after his tank had caught fire, and who made sure the road to Jammu and Kashmir was not threatened by the Pakistan Army, died fighting till his last breath. The heroism of India's youngest Param Vir Chakra awardee has been well captured in the film Ikkis. Directed by Sriram Raghavan, it features Agastya Nanda, Amitabh Bachchan's grandson, as Arun Khetarpal, and late actor Dharmendra as Arun's father. Arun's untimely death made this letter to his grandfather even more precious for the Khetarpal family. It has been preserved for over 55 years by Mukesh Khetarpal, Arun's younger brother. The 17th Poona Horse The letter is written on stationery of the 17th Poona Horse Tank Regiment, Arun's first posting after being commissioned that year. Poona Horse had a proud 200-year-old history. In the 1965 war, their Commanding Officer, Lt. Col. Ardeshir Taraporewala, had died in action, earning the regiment's first Param Vir Chakra. When new officers of Poona Horse were 'dined-in', Arun toasted that he would be the unit's second Param Vir Chakra awardee. The unit officers laughed it off as they had been drinking, but that is what happened. The scene has been re-created compellingly in Ikkis. Arun had excelled at the National Defence Academy in Pune and at the Indian Military Academy in Dehradun. "Arun was very bright. He had even cleared the IIT exam in 1967, but wanted to go to NDA, and fought with our dad over it, who finally agreed," recalls

Mukesh Khetarpal years later. "He was gentle and quite softspoken, but was obsessed with becoming a soldier. He loved hearing World War 1 stories from our Dadaji." The Khetarpals were a 'fauji' family. Arun's dad, Brigadier Madal Lal Khetarpal, was an Indian Army engineer, a World War 2 veteran who also fought in the 1948 and 1965 Indo-Pak wars. His great-grandfather, Ram Narain, served in Maharaja Ranjit Singh's Sikh Khalsa army in the 19th century. Mukesh Khetarpal has carefully preserved young Arun's payslip from September 1971. Army salaries used to be modest back then - Rs 400 was Arun's basic pay, Rs 160 was his Dearness Allowance, and Rs 50 'Kit Allowance', to keep his various uniforms and army fatigues, his shoes, belts, beret, and his rank and service ribbons, squeaky clean. He got just Rs 30 as 'Family Separation' allowance, as army officers are often posted to sensitive border areas where their families cannot be with them. Of Motorcycles and Johnny Mera Naam... Young Arun, who studied at The Lawrence School, Sanawar, was mindful of some of the privileges he had as a young man. "My motorcycle is running very well ... nobody else over here has got as many things as I have. Daddy and Mummy have made me most comfortable ... There is nothing else that I need today but your blessings," he wrote to his grandfather in the letter. Arun also kept some time aside for 'extra-curriculars': before writing that letter, Arun had just watched the Dev Anand and Hema Malini starrer Johnny Mera Naam, a big hit back in 1970-71. The letter closes simply with Arun asking his grandfather to stay in touch: "Please do write when you find the time. Yours affectionately, Arun." We don't know whether Chaman Lal Khetarpal was able to write back to his grandson. Within two months of penning the letter, Arun had been mobilised as war clouds loomed. The 17th Poona Horse moved to the Samba district and played an extensive role in the 1971 war in that sector. The regiment was deep inside Pakistan on the morning of December 16; they even heard over the radio that the Pakistan Army was surrendering in Dhaka, and that a ceasefire was imminent. However, as fate would have it, the Battle of Basantar did rage on that day, claiming many lives on both sides. One of them was 2nd Lt Arun Khetarpal.

There's A Question About Trump India Hasn't Asked Yet After Venezuela

The strategic dilemmas facing Europe and India today originate from an increasingly unpredictable and unilateral US foreign policy. Beyond mere criticism of alliances, Donald Trump has created deep insecurity among partners once reliant on American stability. With Washington shifting toward a transactional "MAGA Imperialism", both regions are navigating a harsher security environment defined by US disengagement and the aggressive reassertion of spheres of influence. For Europe, the shock has been swift and profound. The 2026 renewal of US claims to annex Greenland, framed as a "national security necessity" following the military intervention in Venezuela, has shattered the illusion of a rules-based transatlantic order. By suggesting that Denmark cannot handle the strategic demands of the era, Trump has signalled that his "Donroe Doctrine" (a 21st-century expansion of the Monroe Doctrine) now views even European soil through a lens of American acquisition. This follows the dramatic January 3, 2026, capture of Nicolás Maduro during Operation Absolute Resolve, where the Venezuelan leader was extrajudicially rendered to the USS Iwo Jima.

● The Growing Russia Threat For Europe European leaders now view the US not as a protector but as a direct threat to continental sovereignty. Polish Prime Minister Donald Tusk issued a sharp warning on January 5, 2026, stating that "no one will take seriously a weak and divided Europe" and that without unity, the continent is "finished". Tusk emphasised that such large-scale events as the US strike in Venezuela affect the entire globe, forcing Europe to "react and prepare for a new situation". This shift comes as Russia's threat grows through cyberattacks and military pressure. Consequently, Europe is rearming and distancing itself from China's economic influence. The threat is no longer just a pullback from NATO; it is an active encroachment on European sovereignty that makes the drive for strategic autonomy a survival necessity. India faces a similar challenge. With waning US support in the Indo-Pacific, New Delhi faces increased pressure from China. While Beijing may publicly seek tactical harmony, it continues to strengthen the military capacity of India's neighbours. A 2025 Pentagon report confirmed China delivered 36 advanced J-10C fighter jets to Pakistan, effectively compressing India's decision-making timelines and eroding traditional air superiority buffers. This collusion underscores that Beijing's diplomacy cannot be equated with strategic trustworthiness. These insecurities are collateral effects of a US policy focused on leverage over stability. Ironically, they create a basis for new alignment: Europe searches for partners beyond the Atlantic, and India seeks to diversify its cooperation in defence, technology, and supply chains. Yet, Russia complicates this emerging Europe-India alignment.

● Moscow's Growing Dependence On China For decades, Russia helped India maintain strategic independence. However, Moscow's growing dependence on China now limits its autonomy. A partner unwilling to help India earlier is even less likely to do so now, as Beijing likely sees Russian passivity as a green light for coercion. Recent high-level summits have been high on symbolism but delivered little substance, highlighting Russia's limited current offerings From a European perspective, Russia is now the principal security threat. Grey-zone coercion and long-term decoupling have pushed Europe into its most serious military mobilisation since the Cold War. In this context, India's deep defence integration with Moscow limits the speed and depth of its integration into sensitive Western technology ecosystems. India faces a tough choice: Russian equipment remains vital, but overreliance on a weaker, China-aligned Russia is risky. Phased diversification toward European suppliers offers a balanced path forward. The "American variable" adds further uncertainty. Trump's current stance, exemplified by the Donroe Doctrine and the forceful removal of Maduro, has unsettled all allies. While this may offer India transactional energy opportunities in a US-controlled Venezuelan oil market, it reinforces the danger of relying on a Washington that prizes unilateral leverage over global stability.

US seizes Russian-flagged tanker in Atlantic and second vessel linked to Venezuela in Caribbean Sea

The US Coast Guard boarded two “ghost fleet” tanker ships in a “meticulously coordinated” operation, Homeland Security Secretary Kristi Noem says. Noem says one ship was in the North Atlantic Sea while the other was in international waters near the Caribbean. The operations took place within hours of each other, she adds. The tankers, the Marinera and the Sophia—were “either last docked in Venezuela or en route to it”, Noem adds. The Marinera has been trying to “evade the Coast Guard for weeks”, she says. Her post includes a short video showing thermal imagery of people appearing to board the Sophia by descending from a helicopter. Around 10 people are then seen on an upper deck of the vessel. We have just heard from US Defence Secretary Pete Hegseth on the seizure of the Venezuela-linked oil tankers. In a post on X, Hegseth says: “The blockade of sanctioned and illicit Venezuelan oil remains in FULL EFFECT—anywhere in the world”. He later shared a similar message alongside a video of the US seizing a second tanker in the Caribbean sea. The US has seized a second oil tanker, this time in the Caribbean sea, according to the US Southern Command. The vessel, a “stateless, sanctioned dark fleet motor tanker”, was apprehended in a pre-dawn operation, the military adds. “The interdicted vessel, M/T Sophia, was operating in international waters and conducting illicit activities in the Caribbean Sea,” the US military says in a statement. “The US Coast Guard is escorting M/T Sophia to the US for final disposition.” The prime minister’s official spokesperson says Downing Street won’t comment on the US operation involving the Venezuela-linked Marinera oil tanker. “We don’t comment on the operational activity of other nations, including the third party use of UK bases”, the spokesperson told reporters when asked about the tanker in the regular Wednesday briefing following Prime Minister’s Questions, adding that the was “a long-standing position” of UK governments. This shows Donald Trump’s appetite for unilateral military action remains undimmed. This was proven beyond doubt with his military aggression against Venezuela, and he seems to want to reinforce that message by going after those tankers that he has sanctioned. There are lots of questions we simply don’t know the answer to, including what is being carried on the ship. This operation demonstrates the US might like to do things alone, but it also needs allies. It is only able to carry out operations like this because it has large military airbases outside the US from which it can mount these kind of operations. We can bring you some more from the US European Command now, which says the seizure of the vessel supports US President Donald Trump’s “Proclamation targeting sanctioned vessels that threaten the security and stability of the Western Hemisphere”. “The operation was executed by DHS components with support from @DeptofWar, showcasing a whole-of-government approach to protect the homeland.” The US European Command says the US Department of Justice and Homeland Security have “today announced the seizure of the M/V Bella 1 for violations of US sanctions”. In a post on X, they add: “The vessel was seized in the North Atlantic pursuant to a warrant issued by a US federal court after being tracked by USCGC Munro.” Two images published by Russian state broadcaster RT show a helicopter close to a ship that appears to be Marinera. Features visible on the vessel in the images, including the position of the window and the white and green colour of the metalwork, are consistent with publicly available and satellite images of Marinera.

Six dead and hundreds of flights cancelled as snow causes chaos across Europe

Intense snowfall and icy weather conditions have caused widespread travel disruption across Europe, with six reported killed in weather-related incidents on the continent. Five people died in two separate regions of France as a result of treacherous driving conditions, authorities said, while one woman was also killed in Bosnia’s capital, Sarajevo, after 16in (40cm) of snow fell on the city. Hundreds of flights have been cancelled across Europe, with thousands left stranded at airports in Paris and Amsterdam. Disruption is expected to continue into Wednesday. In France, three people died in two separate incidents in Landes, in the south-west, due to black ice, authorities said. Two more died in separate motor accidents in the Paris region. One was the result of a collision between a driver and a heavy goods vehicle in east Paris, police said. The other was killed after a taxi driver hit a kerb due to snow and plunged into the Marne river, the outlet said. The Balkans has also seen snow and heavy rain. A woman died in the Bosnian capital Sarajevo on Monday after a tree weighed down with wet snow fell on her, police said.

Families shocked Swiss ski bar was not inspected for years before deadly fire

Families of the victims of a fire at a Swiss bar on New Year’s Eve have expressed shock after officials admitted the venue had not undergone safety checks for five years. Romain Jordan, who represents some of the families, said the “staggering number of breaches and shortcomings in the inspections raises the question of whether the municipality should be investigated with even greater urgency”. Other lawyers also urged officials to take responsibility for the disaster at Le Constellation bar in Crans-Montana in which 40 people died and 116 were injured. Prosecutors believe the fire started when champagne bottles with sparklers attached set light to sound-insulating foam on the ceiling. The two bar managers have been placed under criminal investigation, but not in custody. French couple Jacques and Jessica Moretti are suspected of manslaughter by negligence, bodily harm by negligence and arson by negligence. In their first statement since the fire, they said they were “devastated” and pledged “full co-operation” with the investigation. Venues like Le Constellation should have been checked annually, but the mayor of Crans-Montana, Nicolas Feraud, said on Tuesday he could not explain why it hadn’t been checked in so long. “We regret that - we owe it to the families and we will accept the responsibility,” he said. He added that sparklers would be banned in local venues. Most of the victims of the fire were young - eight under the age of 16. Many of the injured have severe burns and are being treated in Switzerland and other European countries. The funerals of some of those who died have been taking place. Under Switzerland’s political system, power is distributed among three levels of the confederation, 26 cantons and then about 2,131 municipalities.

Plot to kill Burkina Faso leader foiled, says junta

A plot to kill Burkina Faso’s military leader, Capt Ibrahim Traoré, has been thwarted, the West African nation has announced. The sophisticated plan had been hatched by Lt Col Paul Henri Damiba, the military officer ousted by Traoré in September 2022, the security minister said in a late-night broadcast. “Our intelligence services intercepted this operation in the final hours. They had planned to assassinate the head of state and then strike other key institutions, including civilian personalities,” said Mahamadou Sana, further alleging that the plot had been funded from neighbouring Ivory Coast. There has been no comment from either Col Damiba or Ivory Coast. Since seizing power, Capt Traoré has faced at least two coup attempts and is also grappling with growing jihadist violence that has forced millions from their homes. Despite these challenges and his authoritarian reputation, the 37-year-old military leader maintains strong popular support and has gained a following across the continent for his pan-Africanist vision and criticism of Western influence.

US discussing options to acquire Greenland including using military, White House says

US President Donald Trump has been discussing “a range of options” to acquire Greenland, including use of the military, the White House said. The White House told the BBC that acquiring Greenland - a semi-autonomous region of fellow Nato member Denmark - was a “national security priority”. The statement came hours after European leaders issued a joint statement rallying behind Denmark, which has been pushing back against Trump’s ambitions for the Arctic island. Trump repeated that the US “needed” Greenland for security reasons over the weekend, prompting Danish Prime Minister Mette Frederiksen to warn that any attack by the US would spell the end of Nato. The White House said on Tuesday: “The president and his team are discussing a range of options to pursue this important foreign policy goal, and of course, utilising the US military is always an option at the commander-in-chief’s disposal.” Nato is a trans-Atlantic military group in which allies are expected to go to each other’s aid in case of external attacks. US Secretary of State Marco Rubio also told lawmakers at a classified briefing on Capitol Hill on Monday that the Trump administration did not plan to invade Greenland, but he mentioned instead buying the island from Denmark, the Wall Street Journal and other US media reported. Then on Tuesday, a state department spokesperson told the BBC that the US was “eager to build lasting commercial relationships that benefit Americans and the people of Greenland”. The spokesperson added: “Our common adversaries have been increasingly active in the Arctic. That is a concern that the United States, the Kingdom of Denmark, and Nato allies share.” Greenland and Denmark previously said they had asked to meet Rubio quickly to discuss the US claims on the island. Denmark’s Foreign Minister Lars Lokke Rasmussen said speaking to America’s top diplomat should resolve “certain misunderstandings”. On Tuesday, six European allies expressed support for Denmark. “Greenland belongs to its people, and only Denmark and Greenland can decide on matters concerning their relations.

OPPOSITION LEADER MACHADO SAYS HER COALITION SHOULD LEAD VENEZUELA

Venezuelan opposition leader Maria Corina Machado has said her coalition should “absolutely” be in charge of the country, following the US ousting of President Nicolás Maduro last week. “We are ready and willing to serve our people as we have been mandated,” Machado said in an interview with the BBC’s US partner CBS. She thanked US President Donald Trump for his “leadership and courage” after US forces stormed Caracas and arrested Maduro, but said nobody trusted the deposed president’s ally, who has been appointed as interim leader. Machado and her opposition movement claimed victory in 2024’s heavily disputed elections, but Trump has refused to back her, saying she lacks popular support. The former legislator, who was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize last year, described US military action in Venezuela over the weekend as “a major step towards restoring prosperity and rule of law and democracy in Venezuela”. She said she had not spoken with Trump this year, but expressed gratitude to him for deposing Maduro. “President Trump’s leadership and courage has brought Nicolás Maduro to face justice and this is huge,”

she told CBS. Despite her overtures, the US president has publicly dismissed Machado as a credible successor to Maduro. “I think it would be very tough for her to be the leader,” Trump told a news conference days ago, referring to Machado. “She doesn’t have the support within or the respect within the country. She’s a very nice woman, but she doesn’t have the respect.” Machado, who has been in hiding for months after being barred from running in the 2024 presidential elections in Venezuela, has previously called for the opposition’s Edmundo González to assume power after Maduro’s arrest.

Aldrich Ames, CIA agent who sold secrets to the Soviets, dies aged 84

Aldrich Ames, a CIA officer who became one of America’s most damaging double agents, has died aged 84. The former counterintelligence officer, who was serving a life sentence without the possibility of parole, died on Monday at the Federal Correctional Institution in Cumberland, Maryland, CBS News, the BBC’s media partner in the US, reported. Ames was jailed on 28 April 1994 after he admitted to selling secret information to the Soviet Union and later Russia. He compromised more than 100 clandestine operations and divulged the identities of more than 30 agents spying for the West - leading to the deaths of at least 10 CIA intelligence assets. Seeking money to pay debts, Ames said he began providing the KGB with the names of CIA spies in April 1985, receiving an initial payment of $50,000. Known to the KGB by his code name, Kolokol (The Bell), Ames went on to identify virtually all of the CIA’s spies in the Soviet Union, for which he was well rewarded. “To my enduring surprise, the KGB replied that it had set aside for me $2 million in gratitude for the information,” he said in an eight-page statement he read to the court. Over the course of nine years, Ames admitted receiving a total of about $2.5 million from the Soviet Union for his betrayal of the US. The cash fuelled a lavish lifestyle, with Ames splashing out on a new Jaguar car, foreign holidays and a $540,000 house - despite never having a salary of more than $70,000 a year. Ames’s 31-year career at the CIA began when his father, an analyst at the CIA, helped him land a job there after dropping out of college in 1962. He married his first wife, fellow CIA agent Nancy Segebarth, in 1969, before being sent to Turkey as a counterintelligence officer to recruit foreign agents.

YEMEN SEPARATIST LEADER ACCUSED OF TREASON AS SAUDI ARABIA STRIKES FORCES

The Saudi-backed presidential council in Yemen has expelled the leader of a separatist group and charged him with treason after he failed to fly to Riyadh for talks. Six other members of the presidency accused Aidarous al-Zubaidi, head of the United Arab Emirates-backed Southern Transitional Council (STC), of “undermining the independence of the republic”. A Saudi-led military coalition said Zubaidi “fled” after not joining STC officials on a flight from Aden and “moved a large force” to al-Dahle province. Coalition aircraft launched strikes on the forces in response, it added. The STC said the strikes, which reportedly killed four people, were “unjustified” and that Zubaidi was still in Aden. It also expressed concern that contact had been lost with the group’s delegation in Riyadh. The past few weeks have seen southern Yemen moving to the brink of a new conflict, pitting factions battling the Iran-backed Houthi movement in the country’s decade-long civil war against each other and deepening a rift between Saudi Arabia and the UAE. STC-aligned forces have in recent years taken control of much of the south, which they want once again to be an independent state, by pushing out forces loyal to the internationally recognised government and the Presidential Leadership Council overseeing it. In December, the STC’s forces launched offensives to seize the eastern provinces of Hadramawt and al-Mahra from the government, saying they were necessary to “restore stability” in the south and combat the Houthis, al-Qaeda and Islamic State group.

However, Saudi Arabia warned last week that the advances near the kingdom’s borders constituted threats to its national security as well as the security and stability of Yemen. It also accused the UAE of “pressuring” its separatist allies to push into eastern Yemen and expressed support for a demand from the presidential council for all Emirati forces to leave. At the same time, the Saudi-led coalition - which was formed in 2015 by Arab states, including the UAE, after the Houthis seized control of north-western Yemen - struck what it said was a shipment of weapons and military vehicles for the STC that had arrived from the UAE. The UAE expressed “deep regret” at the Saudi accusations and denied there were any weapons, but agreed to pull its remaining forces out of the country. Since then, forces loyal to the government have largely retaken control of Hadramawt and al-Mahra with the help of coalition air strikes. In order to further diffuse tensions, Zubaidi and an STC delegation had been due to fly from Aden to Riyadh on Tuesday night for talks with the government. However, the coalition said the plane left three hours late without Zubaidi, who “fled to an unknown location”. “The legitimate government and the coalition received intelligence indicating that Zubaidi had moved a large force - including armoured vehicles, combat vehicles, heavy and light weapons, and ammunition - from the Jabal Hadid and al-Solban camps [in Aden] towards al-Dhale,” coalition spokesman Maj-Gen Turki al-Malki said in a statement.

Shyam Steel appoints Harmanpreet Kaur as Brand Ambassador

7th January, India: Shyam Steel, one of India's leading producers and manufacturers of primary TMT bars, has announced the appointment of Harmanpreet Kaur, Captain of the Indian Women's Cricket Team, as its brand ambassador. The association marks a significant step for the brand, reinforcing its progressive outlook by aligning with one of India's most respected women leaders in sport. With this partnership, Shyam Steel highlights its belief that strength today goes beyond infrastructure, it reflects mindset, inclusion, and shared responsibility. Guided by its core philosophy, "Maksad Toh Hai India Ko Banana Hamesha Ke Liye Strong", the brand continues to evolve its narrative by acknowledging the growing role of women in shaping key household and construction-related decisions. As women increasingly take the lead in decisions around home building, safety, and long-term investments, Shyam Steel's association with Harmanpreet Kaur reflects this shift. Her leadership, resilience, and sportsmanship mirror the brand's belief in strength with purpose, responsibility, and long-term commitment. At the heart of this association lies the belief that strong nations are built on strong choices, choices made even before the foundation is laid. Today, these decisions are increasingly being led by women, who prioritise safety over shortcuts and quality over compromise. Through this partnership, Shyam Steel reinforces its campaign thought - "Strong Woman. Strong Steel. Strong India." - a reflection of how responsible decisions build strong homes, and strong homes contribute to a stronger nation. Strengthening this commitment further, Harmanpreet Kaur will also be actively associated with Shyam Steel's Apna Ghar App - "Neev Se Pravesh Tak", a one-stop digital solution designed to simplify the entire home-building journey. From planning and material selection to expert guidance and execution support, the app enables homeowners to make informed, responsible decisions at every stage, right from the foundation to final possession. Harmanpreet's association with Apna Ghar reinforces the platform's message of trust, reliability, and confidence in making the right choices while building a home. Commenting on the association, Mr. Lalit Beriwalla, Director, Shyam

Steel, said, "This partnership represents a shared belief in discipline, determination, and reliability - values that define both Shyam Steel and Harmanpreet Kaur. As a brand, we have always stood for strength with purpose, and Harmanpreet's leadership on and off the field reflects this philosophy in its truest sense." Adding perspective on the growing influence of women in construction-related decisions, Mrs. Megha Beriwalla Gupta, Director, Shyam Steel, said, "Today, women are no longer just participants but key decision-makers when it comes to building homes and securing the future of their families. Our association with Harmanpreet Kaur, including her involvement with the Apna Ghar platform, celebrates this change. She represents confidence, leadership, and trust—qualities that resonate strongly with modern Indian women and align perfectly with Shyam Steel's vision of building a stronger, more inclusive India."

Virat Kohli Gets Mobbed By Crowd Upon Arrival In Vadodara

Fans gathered in huge numbers to welcome India's star batter Virat Kohli as he reached the Vadodara airport ahead of the first ODI against New Zealand. The host team is set to play a three-match series against the Blackcaps in the format. The first match will be played on January 11 at the BCA Stadium, Vadodara. Kohli, who is active as an international player only in ODIs, arrived in the city of Gujarat on Wednesday. In a poor turn of events, he got mobbed by the crowd which was there to welcome him.

The security personnel struggled, taking Kohli to his car outside the airport. Kohli, the senior pro, recently returned to the Vijay Hazare Trophy, competing in the List A format for the first time in 15 years. The former India captain has been in impressive form, following a strong 131 with a smooth 77 in his two matches. Kohli also surpassed 16,000 runs in List A cricket, becoming the fastest to reach this milestone, breaking Sachin Tendulkar's record. Kohli has been in outstanding form ever since he returned to international cricket during the Australia tour in October last year. Although his start was slow with two ducks, he has since been performing exceptionally well. In the recent ODI series against South Africa, Kohli scored consecutive centuries and was India's leading scorer. The right-handed batter is only 25 runs short of becoming the fastest cricketer to score 28,000 runs in international cricket. He could join Sachin Tendulkar and Kumar Sangakkara as the third player to reach the milestone.

Bangladesh Board Reveals ICC's Response To Its T20 World Cup Concerns

The Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) on Wednesday broke silence on its conversation with the International Cricket Council (ICC) over security concerns pertaining to the upcoming T20 World Cup in India. The ICC has "conveyed willingness to work closely" with the BCB to address concerns related to the team's participation the showpiece event. This was after hostilities rose between India and Bangladesh following Bangladeshi pacer Mustafizur Rahman's ouster from the IPL on BCCI's instructions. The move prompted a livid BCB to demand that its four World Cup matches in India be shifted to co-host Sri Lanka in a written submission to the ICC. "The Bangladesh Cricket Board has received response from the ICC regarding the Board's expressed concerns over the safety and security of the Bangladesh National Cricket Team in India for the ICC T20 World Cup, including the request for relocation of the team's matches," the BCB said in a statement. "In its communication, the ICC has reiterated its commitment to ensuring the full and uninterrupted participation of the

Bangladesh team in the tournament. "The ICC has conveyed its willingness to work closely with the BCB to address the concerns raised and has assured that the Board's inputs will be welcomed and duly considered as part of the detailed security planning for the event," it added. The ICC has not issued a public response to the BCB on this subject. The T20 World Cup starts on February 7 and Bangladesh are due to play their four games in Kolkata and Mumbai. According to ICC sources speaking to NDTV, the governing body has explicitly rejected the BCB's proposal to shift the scheduled venues away from India. While tensions remain high regarding the hosting arrangements, the ICC is opting for a diplomatic approach, scheduling a series of high-level meetings intended to resolve the crisis and ensure the matches can proceed under mutually agreeable conditions. In a move to stabilise the situation and maintain the integrity of the competition, the ICC has clarified that it has not asked Bangladesh to forfeit any points at this stage.

Bangladesh's Strong Reaction After ICC's Letter On T20 World Cup Venue Change Row

The Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) top officials held a high-level meeting on Wednesday regarding their stance of not playing T20 World Cup matches in India. The meeting was attended by BCB president Aminul Islam Bulbul and Asif Nazrul, the Bangladesh government's advisor on Youth and Sports. In the meeting, it was decided that Bangladesh will try to convince the ICC to shift its T20 World Cup matches to Sri Lanka. Bangladesh are scheduled to play four T20 World Cup group stage matches in India (three in Kolkata and one in Mumbai). The venue row started after Bangladesh pacer Mustafizur Rahman's release from the Indian Premier League (IPL) 2026. On the instructions of the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI), Kolkata Knight Riders released the veteran seamer, leaving the Bangladesh government and its cricket board fuming. The ICC on Tuesday had sent a letter to the Bangladesh Cricket Board after its request regarding venue change. "In its communication, the ICC has reiterated its commitment to ensuring the full and uninterrupted participation of the Bangladesh team in the tournament," the BCB claimed. "The ICC has conveyed its willingness to work closely with the BCB to address the concerns raised and has assured that the Board's inputs will be welcomed and duly considered as part of the detailed security planning for the event." In Wednesday's meeting, Nazrul reiterated Bangladesh's stand of not wanting to play in India. "We don't want to play the T20 World Cup in exchange for the honour of our country or in exchange for the security of our players and journalists. The letter that we have received from the ICC, after reading that we feel there is a major security concern in India regarding Bangladesh cricketers.

Arjun Tendulkar Set To Marry Saaniya Chandhok, Report Confirms Wedding Date

Wedding bells are ringing for the Tendulkar family, with a report confirming that the wedding date of Arjun and Saaniya Chandhok has been finalised. After months of quiet whispers and private celebrations, it has been confirmed that Arjun is set to marry his fiancée, Saaniya, this March. Arjun, who was recently traded from the Mumbai Indians to the Lucknow Super Giants in the Indian Premier League (IPL), is all set to take a big step forward in his personal life. Saaniya is a successful entrepreneur and comes from a prominent background herself. She is the granddaughter of the well-known Mumbai businessman Ravi Ghai. She has reportedly been a close part of the Tendulkar inner circle for quite some time. The couple actually took the first step toward marriage back in August 2025 as they held a secret engagement ceremony attended only by their closest family members. The news only became public knowledge after Tendulkar himself confirmed it during a Reddit AMA (Ask Me Anything) session. When a fan asked if Arjun had really got engaged, the 'Master Blaster' responded: "Yes, he did, and we are all very excited for the new phase in his life." The wedding festivities are scheduled to kick off on 3 March, with the main ceremony expected to be held on 5 March 2026. While the world might be watching, the event itself is expected to stay intimate. A report in the Times of India has claimed that the celebrations will be held in Mumbai and will remain a private affair, with a highly curated guest list consisting of family, close friends, and select members of the cricketing community in attendance. Arjun Tendulkar's Cricketing Career Arjun has carved out a distinct path in domestic cricket, transitioning from his early days in Mumbai to becoming a vital bowling all-rounder for Goa.

Nicholas Pooran And Jason Smith Power MI Cape Town To Dramatic First Season 4 Win

Unseasonal rain could not prevent MI Cape Town from clinching a dramatic four-wicket (via Duckworth-Lewis-Stern method) victory over Joburg Super Kings at Newlands on Tuesday evening. MI Cape Town edged past JSK's revised target of 128 with four balls remaining to claim their much-needed first victory of the competition. The Newlands faithful had been waiting patiently for Nicholas Pooran to explode, and the West Indies dynamo delivered a power-hitting show of the highest calibre. Pooran smashed five sixes in a thrill-a-ball 33 that rewarded the crowd that had waited patiently despite the consistent drizzle. Each six was bigger than the previous, with Pooran's massive heave onto the top tier of the Members

Stand off Richard Gleeson destined to live in the memory of those who witnessed it for a long while. Pooran ultimately fell on his sword, being caught on the deep cover boundary, which left Rassie van der Dussen (35 off 24 balls, 3x6) having to hold it together before Jason Smith injected the momentum MI Cape Town required with a boundary-laden 22 off just six balls, taking the home side to the brink before Karim Janat closed out the victory with four balls remaining. Intermittent weather had earlier delayed the match by an hour before the Super Kings could begin their innings after being inserted by MI Cape Town. JSK captain Faf du Plessis and his new opening partner James Vince stormed out of the starting blocks with a 32-run partnership off just 2.4 overs before Vince (15 off 9 balls, 2x4, 1x6) was caught in the covers off George Linde. Du Plessis has shown already that he was in a destructive mood, striking MI Cape Town spearhead Kagiso Rabada for four successive boundaries in the second over, and continued to lead JSK's charge after Vince's dismissal. The four Player of the Match candidates were Corbin Bosch, Faf du Plessis, Rashid Khan and Nicholas Pooran, with 'Nicky P' winning 59.7% of the fan vote. After striking Linde over long-on, Du Plessis set his sights on New Zealander Trent Boult in the final over before the conclusion of the Powerplay.

Neymar extends Santos deal in bid for World Cup spot

Brazil forward Neymar has extended his contract with Santos until the end of 2026 as he seeks to earn a World Cup call-up. The 33-year-old, who returned to his boyhood club in January 2025, has not represented five-time World Cup winners Brazil since 2023 amid his struggles with injuries. The former Barcelona and Paris St-Germain forward played through pain to help Santos avoid relegation from Brazil's top flight last season, scoring five times in their last five matches. He then had surgery on his left knee, to repair a damaged meniscus, to boost his hopes of being included in Brazil coach Carlo Ancelotti's plans this summer. "Santos is my place, I'm at home," Neymar said in a video posted on the club's social media. He told the fans: "It's with you that I want to achieve the dreams that are still missing." Ancelotti said in October that Neymar, Brazil's all-time leading goalscorer with 79 goals, must be fully fit to earn a recall. Neymar spent 12 months out after he ruptured his anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) in October 2023. He was due to make his return to the national team last year after a 17-month absence but was forced to withdraw from the squad with a muscle injury.

Brazil will face

Scotland, Morocco and Haiti in Group C at the World Cup, which begins on 11 June across Canada, Mexico and the United States.

"Cricket Deserves Truth": Ridhima Pathak, Indian Presenter, On Her Bangladesh Premier League Exit

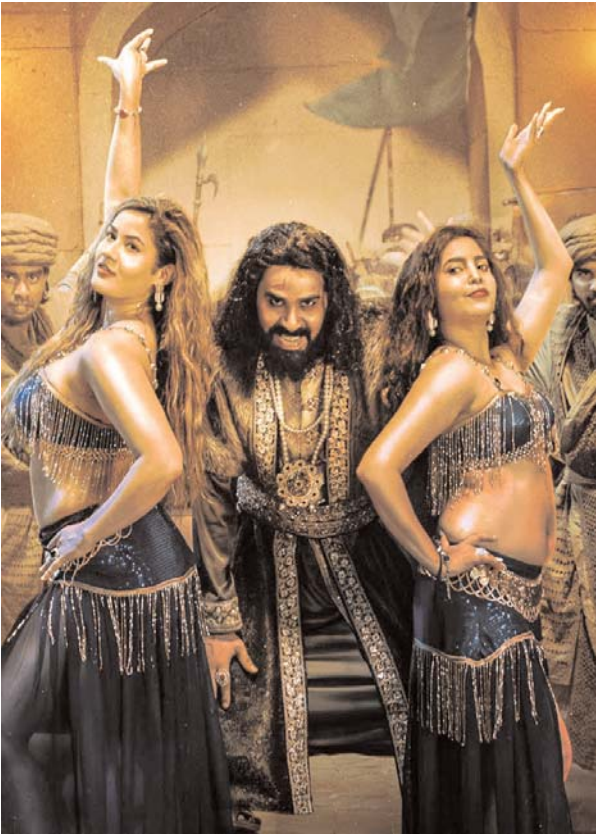

The sporting ties between India and Bangladesh have taken a sharp downturn following reports that the Bangladesh Cricket Board (BCB) officially removed Indian presenter Ridhima Pathak from the hosting panel of the ongoing Bangladesh Premier League (BPL). This move is viewed as the latest ripple effect in a rapidly escalating diplomatic and sporting row between the two nations. However, Pathak-a prominent figure in Indian sports broadcasting-has refuted these reports, stating that she voluntarily withdrew from the T20 league due to the current political climate. The friction intensified on 3 January, when the Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) reportedly directed the Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) to release Bangladeshi pacer Mustafizur Rahman from their squad. In response to this decision, the Bangladesh government announced a nationwide ban on the telecast of the Indian Premier League (IPL) and demanded that its T20 World Cup matches be shifted to Sri Lanka. Amidst this back-and-forth between the BCCI and the BCB, various Bangladeshi media outlets reported that Pathak had been ousted from the BPL. Pathak quickly moved to clarify that the decision to leave the competition's panel was her own.

‘Tarasuki Ram’ Lyrical from Draupathi 2 Reflects Celebration Shaped by Faith and Power

The lyrical song “Tarasuki Ram” from Draupathi 2 has been unveiled as a composition built on contrast, using celebration not as ornamentation but as narrative language. Rather than functioning as a conventional festive number, the song positions itself firmly within the film’s historical and ideological framework, presenting parallel emotional worlds that quietly underline the divisions shaping its story. The lyrical serves as a tonal bridge, offering insight into the film’s larger conflicts without spelling them out. Structured around two distinct stanzas, Tarasuki Ram moves fluidly between spectacle and conviction. The opening section, “Tarasuki Tarasuki,” captures the sultanate clan immersed in exuberant celebration. Driven by pulsating rhythm, scale-driven choreography, and dynamic movement, this portion leans into excess and momentum, presenting celebration as an assertion of authority and dominance. The energy is outward-facing and expansive, marked by collective fervour, rhythmic intensity, and a visual language that privileges scale and power. The song then transitions into its second stanza, “Jai Rama Rama Hare Ram,” unfolding during the pra’a prati??ha celebrations. This movement features Richard Rishi’s character carrying the idol of Rama alongside others from his clan. While celebratory in spirit, the emotional register shifts decisively toward faith, unity, and shared purpose. Here, celebration becomes an act of consecration and collective resolve rather than display, grounded in belief and participation. The contrast between the two stanzas is allowed to exist without commentary, letting emotion and imagery carry the meaning. Choreographed by Thanika Tony, ‘Tarasuki Ram’ binds these opposing emotional registers through movement, ensuring continuity while preserving distinction. The choreography functions as a connective thread, allowing both worlds to coexist within the same musical frame while retaining their individual identities. Produced by Sola Shakkaravarthi under Netaji Productions, in association with G. M Film Corporation, Draupathi 2 expands into a broader and more historically layered canvas. Set in the 14th century, the film navigates an era shaped by imperial conflict, regional resistance, and cultural upheaval, drawing from the reign of Hoysala emperor Veera Vallalar III and the legacy of the Kadavarayas of Sendhamangalam. The release of Tarasuki Ram, following the emotional response to the earlier lyrical “Nelaraaje,” further reinforces the film’s approach to music as an extension of storytelling rather than a standalone attraction.

Let's have fun this Sankranti with the movie 'Bharta Mahasayaluku Vijyapthi'. Let's be fully entertained: Mass Maharaja Ravi Teja at the trailer launch event

-Mass Maharaja Ravi Teja, Kishore Tirumala, Sudhakar Cherukuri, SLV Cinemas grandly launch the trailer of their 'Bhartha Mahasayaluku Vigyaapthi' Directed by Mass Maharaja Ravi Teja and Kishore Tirumala, the family entertainer 'Bhartha Mahasayaluku Vigyaapthi', produced by Sudhakar Cherukuri under the banner of SLV Cinemas, is set to have a grand release on January 13. Starring Dimple Hayathi and Ashika Ranganath in the lead roles, the film has already created a huge buzz with its teaser and first three songs. Continuing this momentum, the film team has now launched the much-awaited theatrical trailer. The trailer starts with a catchy dialogue saying, "Enough with Ravi Teja's action movies." This is a fun indication that he is returning to the family zone that the audience has been missing for a long time. The story begins with his love for Aashika Ranganath on a foreign tour, and his married life with Dimple Hayathi takes an unexpected turn. His journey, torn between two women and two different questions, is hilarious and emotional at the same time. Director Kishore Tirumala, who handles family stories brilliantly, has enhanced the humor this time with his trademark freshness. Comedy, as the main force driving the story forward, provides a lively feel-good vibe to the film. The way Ravi Teja's soul shows his difficult situation in the last sequence sets the humor tone of the film perfectly. After mass and action roles, it is refreshing to see Ravi Teja in a clean, family-friendly avatar. He combines class with swag and elevates every scene with excellent comic timing. His acting is charming and natural. While Dimple shows strong intensity in the role of the possessive wife, Aashika's role with a modern edge also stands out. The heroines impressed in both these roles with contrasting personalities. On the comedy front, Satya entertained with laugh-riot moments. Sunil and Vennela Kishore further elevated the fun. Technically, the film is vibrant and rich. Prasad Moorella's cinematography provides a glossy, colorful texture, while Bheem's music elevates the humorous emotion. SLV Cinemas' production values are top-notch. Sreekar Prasad's editing and AS Prakash's production design add further strength to the film. Overall, the trailer promises to be a must-see entertainer for family audiences in theaters, with comedy, drama, emotions, and relatable relationship confusions. Speaking at the trailer launch event, hero Ravi Teja said, "Hi everyone. Let's celebrate this festival with fun and excitement."

I have played a character that I can personally relate to in 'Nari Nari Nadu Murari'. It is a full fun entertainer. The whole family can enjoy it together: Heroine Sakshi Vaidya

Charming Star Sharva and Ram Abbaraju are starring in the wholesome family entertainer 'Nari Nari Nadu Murari' directed by Ram Abbaraju. Produced by Anil Sunkara and Ramabrahmam Sunkara in association with Adventures International Pvt. Ltd. under the banner of AK Entertainments, the film stars Samyukta and Sakshi Vaidya as the female leads. The promotional content has already created a good buzz. The film will hit the theatres on January 14. On this occasion, heroine Sakshi Vaidya shared the film's features at a press conference.

How did you get into this project?

-While the Agent movie was going on, producer Anil garu said that he would do another movie with me. He kept his promise. Anil garu and the director finalized me for the character of Nitya in this movie.

-Nitya's character, I really liked this story. This character is very relatable to me personally. She is an innocent-looking girl. She is honest.

How did it feel to act with Sharwa?

It was a great pleasure working with Sharwa. His comedy timing is also amazing. It was a great experience acting with him.

-All of them are very good costars. Watching Vennela Kishore's performance during the shooting was very surprising. Because when he was in character, he looked like a completely different person. Also, Naresh's character is also very good in this. It was a great pleasure to work with everyone. Isn't there a language barrier when acting in Telugu? Speaking in Telugu is a barrier. Otherwise, there is preparation in advance when it comes to dialogue. Director Sai took a lot of care in timing. He gave enough time and was very supportive. Saigari's strength is comedy. He is very funny even during the shooting. He keeps laughing. The same is seen in the movie too.

How did you prepare for this character?

-I have a very good character in this movie. We did a workshop for this movie for almost a month. I understood everything about the character. What was your reaction when you heard this story? -When I heard this story, I felt like I had the opportunity to make a very good story. I immediately signed on to do this film. The story is king for this film.

A real life story that Impress millions made by Film Maker Dolly Tomar!!

Filmmaker Dolly Tomar brings heartfelt storytelling to the screen with Omsheel Productions' documentary “Ziindaagi in Two Shades.” For Dolly, filmmaking is life itself ...a journey of emotions, truth and human connection. The film follows the inspiring story of "Iftekhar Sharif", the first Overseas Citizen of India, showing how he beautifully balances two countries and two cultures.

Hyderabad was chosen for the premiere because the journey begins here.. it is his birthplace, his emotional ground, and a city deeply connected to his success. Dollye's inspiration came when she witnessed Iftekhar in Chicago helping Indians who had lived abroad without documents for years, ensuring their safe return home ...a gesture that touched her deeply and sparked this documentarv. Directed with sensitivity by Rajneeshh Dubey, the film gains emotional depth through strong editing by Devu Namdev and a soulful background score shaped by Dollye herself. Supported by producers Khurram Syed and Kalpana Rajput, the documentary is receiving appreciation and interest from film festivals and international audiences, proving its emotions truly universal.
