

No personal agenda, will meet anyone for State's development: CM Revanth Reddy

January 16 TSIT : Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy on Friday asserted that he had no personal agenda and would meet anyone, including Prime Minister Narendra Modi and Union Home Minister Amit Shah, solely in the interest of Telangana's development and for securing funds and projects for the State. Addressing a public meeting at Nirmal after laying foundation stones and inaugurating several development works in the erstwhile Adilabad district, the Chief Minister said politics should be confined to elections and that collective focus should thereafter shift to development. He recalled that the people of Nirmal had placed their trust in him, enabling him to become Chief Minister. Describing Adilabad as a land of valour and struggle, he referred to the legacy of Kumuram Bheem and the historic fight for 'jal, jangal and zameen', and said the district had not received the level of development it deserved. Mr. Reddy assured that funds on par with those allocated to the Palamuru region would be sanctioned for Adilabad district as well. He announced that a university would be established at the Basara IIIT and sought the cooperation of all public representatives for the project. The district would also be developed as an industrial hub, he said. The Chief Minister proposed the establishment of an airport in Adilabad district and said about 10,000 acres of land would be required for the project. He suggested that Prime Minister Modi be invited for the inauguration once the airport becomes operational. Stressing the need to ensure irrigation water for the region, he said the Tummidihatti project must be taken up and completed. Mr. Reddy said he had been meeting the Prime Minister once every three months to seek central assistance for State projects. Responding to criticism over his frequent meetings with

Mr. Modi, he said it was the Centre that had to provide funds and projects, and that unless the State's requirements were conveyed, the Union government would not be aware of them. He alleged that the previous government had failed for a decade to effectively pursue Telangana's demands with the Centre, resulting in significant losses to the State. He urged BJP leaders in Telangana also to approach the Prime Minister and help secure projects and financial assistance for the State. Announcing further initiatives, the Chief Minister said an Advanced Technology Centre would be sanctioned for Nirmal district, 22 crore would be allocated for the development of the Nagoba Jatara, and 300 crore had already been spent on the reconstruction and development of the Sammaka-Saralamma Jatara.

Mr. Reddy said Hyderabad had emerged as a global destination for investments and accused his critics of spreading false propaganda by alleging that the government was indulging in real estate business when it was, in fact, striving to attract investments.

Israel kills 11 Palestinians despite ceasefire agreement entering Phase 2

Israel continued to attack Gaza, killing at least 11 Palestinians and wounding several others on Thursday and Friday, January 15 and 16, even as the ceasefire agreement with Hamas entered the second phase. The United States on Thursday announced Phase 2 of the ceasefire agreement between Israel and Hamas. This phase will focus on demilitarisation, technocratic governance and the reconstruction of Gaza. On Thursday, Israeli air strikes targeted areas like the central city of Deir el-Balah, killing 10. On Friday, as it continued its drone strikes, Israel killed a 62-year-old Palestinian woman in al-Mawasi in southern Gaza. Data by the Gaza Health Ministry showed that Friday's attack took the tally of Palestinians killed since the initiation of the US-brokered ceasefire in October 2025 to 452, Al Jazeera reported. Phase 2 of ceasefire Representatives of Hamas and other Palestinian factions were in Cairo, Egypt, for a discussion on the ceasefire agreement. Most of the objectives set during the first phase of the ceasefire brokered by the United States were not met. The first phase of the ceasefire was supposed to immediately halt the fighting and facilitate the exchange of Israeli and Palestinian hostages. Apart from this, a timeline for the withdrawal of Israeli forces from parts of Gaza was also supposed to be drawn.

During the event, DHCBA president and senior advocate N Hariharan raised some "deep institutional concerns", such as inadequate physical infrastructure and "diminishing elevation" of lawyers from the high court as judges. "Despite 47,000 advocates, only three have been elevated as judges since August 2024," Hariharan said, adding that he was "not questioning any individual appointments" made to the high court. Hariharan also raised the issue of vacancies in the high court. With 44 judges against a sanctioned strength of 60, there is a 27 per cent vacancy in the Delhi High Court, he said. In response, CJI Kant said the system would address these issues in due course. He also praised the DHCBA for its "collaborative ethos" and said it contributed to the growth of arbitration and mediation.

Amritsar: The next two decades are very important in making 'Viksit Bharat', President Droupadi Murmu on Thursday, January 15, said, noting that the future of India depends on young people who possess a scientific temper, act responsibly and serve selflessly. While addressing the convocation ceremony of the Guru Nanak Dev University here, she urged the higher education institutions to inculcate these values in their students. She also urged young students to ensure that whatever profession they choose, their contribution should strengthen the nation and reinforce human values. During her address, the president also touched upon the drug problem and said that the youngsters of Punjab have been affected the most in recent years. This problem is impacting not only health but also the social, economic, and moral fabric of society, she said. "A lasting solution to this problem is essential for a healthy society. In this context, the role of educational institutions like Guru Nanak Dev University is crucial. All stakeholders of this university should make every possible effort to guide the youth in the right direction," she said. Addressing the students in the gathering, she advised them to remember that education is not merely a means of livelihood. It is also a means of serving society and the nation. She said that they owe a debt to society, which has contributed to their education. Making efforts to uplift those who have been left behind in the development journey can be one of the ways of repaying the debts. The president said that after completing formal education students will embark on their journeys in different directions. Some will serve in the government or private sector, others will pursue higher education or research, while many will establish their own ventures or build their careers in teaching, she said. While each field requires different types of qualifications and skills, some qualities are equally essential and helpful for progress in every field.

2023 Parliament security breach on Dec 13 can't be coincidence: Delhi HC

AGENCY

New Delhi: The Delhi High Court on Thursday, January 15, said the 2023 Parliament security breach, which happened on December 13, the anniversary of the 2001 Parliament terror attack, could not be a coincidence. A bench of Justices Prathiba M Singh and Sudha Jain made the remarks while dealing with the bail pleas of three accused — Manoranjan D, Sagar Sharma and Lalit Jha — in the security breach case. Even as the counsel for the accused submitted that there was no connection between the two incidents by them as the accused in the present case were merely protesting unemployment, the bench retorted, "it can't be a coincidence... 13 December can't be a coincidence". The senior lawyer appearing for the accused said that while the "way of protest" might not have been right, the accused people ought not to be kept in jail indefinitely. "They had anger, but I totally agree that it was not the way to protest. If we look at history, even the English people did not keep people behind bars for an indefinite period," the counsel said. He emphasised that the charges were yet to be framed and the accused were educated youth with no prior involvement in a criminal case. The counsel for the police said the prosecution had concluded its arguments on the charge before the trial court. The court listed the matter for further hearing in February and asked the parties to go through the Supreme Court's judgment in the case of Gulfsha Fatima, who was granted bail recently in a 2020 Delhi riots case under UAPA. The three accused had moved the high court against the dismissal of their bail pleas by the trial court in December 2024. Accused Neelam Azad and Mahesh Kumawat were granted bail by the high court in July 2025. In a major security breach on the anniversary of the 2001 Parliament terror attack, accused Sagar Sharma and Manoranjan D allegedly jumped into the Lok Sabha chamber from the public gallery during Zero Hour, released yellow gas from canisters and sloganised before they were overpowered by some MPs. Around the same time, two other accused — Amol Shinde and Azad — allegedly sprayed coloured gas from canisters while shouting "tanashahi nahi chalegi (dictatorship won't work)" outside the Parliament premises.

They were identified as Urmila (60), Tara (65), Nandal (70), Hiralal

Kumaraswamy's State Comeback Sparks BJP Leadership Jitters, Exposes Weak Opposition

Kumaraswamy's re-entry into state politics has turned the gun on Congress, but the target is only BJP leaders! Vadra. The idea that Kumaraswamy will re-enter state politics has created a stir in state politics. It has made leaders sleepless nights, even in the ruling party, even in the alliance party BJP. If we look at the current political situation in the state, it seems that the strongest opposition party fighting against the government has declined. The reason for this is the lack of leadership in the opposition party. When it comes to the BJP issue, those in their own party are sharpening their swords against state president Vijayendra. Behind-the-scenes efforts to change the leadership continue. The high command is already considering bringing Union Minister Somanna to the state BJP by giving him the title of state president. Now, when it comes to the issue of opposition leader R Ashok, the lack of leadership is evident. The support that should be received within the party is not being received. There is a doubt that he has failed to take any issue against the government to the people so effectively. It does not seem like many within the party have accepted Ashok as a leader. The reason for this is that the label of adjustment politics is haunting him. Thus, there is a lack of strong opposition leaders to fight the government. Kumaraswamy, who was a dream come true for the BJP government. As for Kumaraswamy, was a toughest opposition leader for the previous BJP government. Even in the session, Kumaraswamy's style of presenting documents and evidence had disturbed the ruling party. In the last session, the way he exposed the BMS Educational Institution scam and documents against Minister Ashwath Narayan had attracted everyone's attention. Moreover, Kumaraswamy's words are still respected by people, forgetting party differences. Kumaraswamy also became a strong reason for the BJP's defeat in this assembly election. Prime Minister Modi himself recognized Kumaraswamy's political acumen and honored him by giving him the influential position of Steel and Heavy Industries Minister in the Union Cabinet. Kumaraswamy has also become successful though in national politics. But if we look at the current state political situation, the weakness of a strong opposition party to fight against the government is evident. In such a situation, the issue of Kumaraswamy's re-entry into state politics has now become a new weapon for the opposition party. Yes, the opposition parties should oppose everything that the ruling government stumbles. But it has been said that the opposition party has failed to demonstrate it so effectively in the state. Especially when the government takes any wrong decision, the opposition party has failed to protest effectively. However, even though a series of allegations have been made against the Congress government, it has been accused that the BJP has completely failed to use it as a weapon in the right way. In the last 2 years, despite many allegations including serial corruption and zero development, it has failed to use the issue of questioning and fighting it as a right weapon. Even when 18 BJP party members were suspended for a long period, the BJP had completely failed to protest effectively against the government. The recent government land encroachment clearance operation in Kogilu Layout of Yelahanka in Bengaluru had made an international splash. The Karnataka government's demolition of 200 illegally constructed Muslim houses was accused of being a dictatorial attitude of the Deputy Chief Ministers. There were also suspicions that the accused not only helped encroach on government land, but also created fake documents and distributed plots to people and received money. Even though the people who lost their houses were directly accusing the government, the opposition parties were not very effective in using it, and limited it by only forming a fact-finding committee and preparing a report and demanding an NIA investigation. An influential leader is necessary for state politics.

'It'll Divide Society': Why Congress Buried The Mandal Report For Years

Rahul Gandhi would rue reading how, between 1980 and 1982, Indira Gandhi was vetoed four times by her cabinet colleagues from implementing the Mandal Commission report, something that could have been a game-changer for the Congress.

In an engaging autobiography of P Shiv Shankar, soon to be published by Simon & Schuster India, the veteran legal luminary gives a graphic account of how PV Narasimha Rao, R Venkatraman, Pranab Mukherjee and Giani Zail Singh, who were holding external affairs, defence, finance and home portfolios and were part of the Cabinet Committee on Political Affairs (CCPA), repeatedly rejected and stonewalled a report meticulously prepared by Bindeshwari Prasad Mandal. How The Congress Lost Out

The implementation of the Mandal Commission report, which discussed jobs and quotas in educational institutions, by the VP Singh government in 1990 altered the grammar and arithmetic of Indian politics. "Mandal politics" or the process of 'Mandalisation' of society, led to a seismic shift in social and caste dynamics, redefining power structures and solidifying caste as a central factor in Indian politics. It initially benefited regional outfits and backward class leaders such as Lalu Prasad Yadav, Nitish Kumar, Mulayam Singh Yadav, but eventually consolidated the BJP at the expense of the Congress. Although VP Singh's tenure lasted for barely 343 days, his actions made the "Mandal" identity a permanent and irreversible feature of the Indian political landscape. So, even when the Congress government under PV Narasimha Rao put the Mandal report to action, it didn't get any political dividends - both because it failed to get the first-mover advantage, and because Rao had always been against caste-based reservation.

Decades later, in 2023-24, Sonia Gandhi would tell the Congress Working Committee, "I am 100% with the caste census, we must get it done. This is our highest priority." The comment came when the Congress's apex decision-making body passed a resolution to back conducting a caste-based census and implement a quota within quota in line with numerical strength. The question that needs to be asked is, have Congress leaders - particularly those belonging to the upper caste - had a change of heart, or are they overwhelmed by Rahul's leadership qualities? After all, right from the Indira years to the UPA era, particularly in

Indira Gandhi Was For It

Shiv Shankar was the Union Law Minister in the Indira cabinet. The second Socially and Educationally Backward Classes Commission, which popularly came to be known as the Mandal Commission, had conducted a detailed study of the status of those sections of society that were defined in the Constitution as 'socially and educationally underdeveloped'. Rao, Mukherjee and Venkataraman kept telling Indira, both personally and in writing, that a decision taken to implement the Mandal Commission's suggestions may prove detrimental to the country by bringing about "irreversible fissures between the people of the country and lead to law-and-order problems throughout the country with riots erupting down to the village level". Shiv Shankar writes how he went numb when Indira Gandhi showed him the letters of her communication with the CCPA. "These contained the back and forth between her and the committee. I very categorically told the PM that rejecting the report would not only mean letting down a large section of the people who have faced neglect and discrimination since times immemorial, but also denying them a chance of redeeming their lives. Implementation of the Mandal Commission's recommendations would give them access to better education and employment opportunities, and through those, economic as well as social development. I explained to Mrs Gandhi that the Backward Classes were a dejected lot because they feel they have remained underdeveloped for far too long." "I agree with every word you have spoken, Shiv Shankerji. In fact, I have been thinking exactly along the same lines. That is the reason I have sent the matter back to the Cabinet Committee of Political Affairs every time they have rejected it," Shiv Shankar writes, recounting Indira Gandhi's response. The Law Minister explains how he kept arguing that Backward Classes were losing faith in the Congress "because of a perception, right or wrong, that the party is not attentive to their interests". He said to Indira Gandhi, "They probably think the Congress has not stood by them, Madam. No doubt we have been winning elections all along, except in 1977. But our percentage of votes has always hovered around 40%. I strongly suspect that the majority of the 60% (who did not vote for us) would be from the Backward Classes. If we have their support, we would not only increase our vote share, we could become invincible."

BP Mandal's Scepticism

Indira, Shiv Shankar repeats, was personally keen to implement the report. She gave two extensions to the Mandal Commission, even though the panel was set up by the Morarji Desai government. In fact, when Desai and Charan Singh governments fell in quick succession and Shiv Shankar spoke to BP Mandal to check the Commission's progress, Mandal's scepticism was barely concealed: "I am grateful, Shiv Shankerji, but please pardon me. I don't think I would like to come. The government has changed, and I do not think the new government would be in favour of the Commission completing its work. I

Pak Blames India For 'Losing' Afghanistan. Numbers Tell A Different Story

So finally, a Taliban diplomat is officially in charge in Delhi. The Taliban's newly appointed ambassador to India, Noor Ahmad Noor, took charge of the Afghan Embassy in Delhi last week. A statement issued by the Taliban's embassy in India on Monday said he met Anand Prakash, Joint Secretary of the Pakistan, Afghanistan, Iran Division at the Ministry of External Affairs, with discussions focusing on strengthening political and trade ties, including easing visa procedures. Interestingly, just about a year ago, on January 8, India's Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri had met Mullah Akbar, the Taliban foreign minister, in Dubai for "detailed discussions" on bilateral relations. This was the first high-level meeting between the two sides following the Taliban's sweep to power in Kabul in August 2021; it came after a gap of four years. Following the meeting, the Taliban Foreign Ministry termed New Delhi a "significant regional partner." By then, the rift between the Taliban and Pakistan had come to the fore - it was a time when Pakistan had launched airstrikes in Afghanistan's bordering regions to flush out terrorists, but which, according to the Taliban, had instead ended up claiming more civilian lives. The spokesperson for the Indian Ministry of External Affairs had criticised the Pakistani air strike on Afghanistan and the loss of civilian lives. A Slew Of Visits Since then, ties between India - which had been reluctant till then to extend recognition to the Taliban - and the Taliban have been dynamically developing. Three high-level visits have taken place by Taliban officials to Delhi in quick succession. The acting Taliban foreign minister, Mullah Amir Khan Muttaqi, visited India in October, followed by trade minister Haji Nooruddin Azizi, and, more recently, in December, the acting Health Minister Noor Jalal Jalali. New Delhi announced that it was upgrading its representative office in Kabul to a full-fledged embassy. And now, it has welcomed the first official Taliban envoy to be stationed in Delhi. Noor's arrival coincided with a diatribe by the Pakistani Information Minister, Attaullah Tarar. Lashing out at the growing diplomatic engagement between the Taliban and India, he questioned the nature of their cooperation. While accusing the Taliban of allowing Afghan soil to be used for attacks against Pakistan, funded by "foreign designs", he bluntly asked, "What kind of Islam is this where you take money from India to carry out explosions here?" Islamabad continues to accuse the Taliban and India of supporting Baloch separatist groups and the Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP). Pak Needs To Look Within The accusations come as Pakistan faces a surge in militant violence, with over 5,000 terror incidents reported in 2025. However, to allege that India was behind them is a pathetic reflection of Pakistan's own desperation. After all, even in a world of constant geopolitical realignments and strategic shifts, the speed with which India-Taliban and Pakistan-Taliban relations have redefined themselves is rare. The only consistency is that Islamabad continues to be at odds with whoever happens to be in power in Kabul. The appointment of Noor Ahmad Noor is significant for the Taliban's efforts to expand diplomatic presence abroad and gain greater international engagement. In this, India is neither the first nor the only country to accept a Taliban envoy. It is following a regional consensus. China was technically the first one to accept an official Taliban envoy in Beijing, followed by Moscow, Tashkent, Astana, Jakarta, and, of course, Pakistan. India's View In fact, Afghanistan is perhaps the only foreign policy success for India in its turbulent neighbourhood. As Bangladesh deepens relations with Pakistan, whose intelligence and army are now actively playing a role in bilateral relations, India's presence in Afghanistan gives it strategic depth there. On the other hand, India, as recently stated by External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar, is continuing with its time-tested humanitarian and people-centric approach to Afghanistan, building on the already existing goodwill in the country towards India. But cultivating ties with the Taliban also opens up enormous economic opportunities for India. Afghanistan requires massive investments in almost all sectors of the country. It is seeking India's help and expertise in textiles and pharmaceuticals, but requires investment and technology in its trillion-dollar mining and infrastructure sectors, in some of which India has successfully implemented under the previous government.

Why India Can't Close Key Submarine and Fighter Deals

Chandigarh: India remains perpetually on the cusp of major defence deals, the latest being long-delayed agreements with Germany for six submarines and France for 114 multi-role fighter aircraft (MRFA) - both still unsigned, and emblematic of the services' and the Ministry of Defence's chronic inability to convert intent into action. The Indian Navy's over Rs 70,000 crore or USD 8 billion Project 75(I) submarine programme, now centred on a German-designed platform, has been more than two decades in gestation, tracing its origins to the late 1990s and early 2000s. The proposed MRFA buy, valued at between USD 25-30 billion, was formally launched in 2019 after the collapse, three years earlier, of the Medium Multi-Role Combat Aircraft (MMRCA) tender for 126 Dassault Rafales. It had, however, been under discussion for much of the preceding decade, as the Indian Air Force grappled with worryingly declining fighter squadron numbers. But years of platform evaluations, tender revisions and procedural resets for both procurements were yet to translate into contractual closure. One unresolved technical or commercial issue after another continued to surface - whether from the Services, the MoD or both. High-level political engagement between India, Germany and France repeatedly raised expectations of a breakthrough, only to fade without result. German Chancellor Olaf Scholz's recent visit to Ahmedabad, for instance, fuelled expectations that the long-pending submarine joint venture between Thyssen Krupp Marine Systems (TKMS) and Mazagaon Dock Shipbuilders Limited (MDL) to domestically construct six advanced Type 214 boats might be clinched, but to no avail. After more than two years of negotiations, the project remains stalled over issues that were evident from the outset - pricing, the scope of technology transfer and the level of indigenous content to be incorporated in the boats. Alongside, in recent days, focus has shifted to the impending visit of French President Emmanuel Macron on February 19, for the AI Impact Summit in New Delhi. This has also raised expectations that the stalled MRFA negotiations, with the Rafale widely seen as the frontrunner, could see some progress. A two-star Indian Navy veteran, involved with the P75I project while in service, said the operational gaps are widening as the clock keeps ticking. The prolonged uncertainty surrounding these two critical platform acquisitions reflected a procurement system paralysed by procedure and loath to take timely decisions. "Postponement, it seems, remains the default option in such cases, rather than any urgency to shape outcomes," he said, declining to be named. The result, he added grimly, was that the Indian military's capability gaps were being managed - but not closed. Few materiel procurements in recent years better reflect the systemic dysfunction within the MoD and the two services than the P75I and the MRFA buys. Initiated years ago under different governments, and driven by operational urgency to arrest looming capability gaps in two critical domains - undersea warfare and air superiority - both had morphed into case studies in drift. The P75I was formally launched 19 years ago, in 2007, and the MRFA in 2017-18. Yet, mired in a labyrinthine and over-engineered acquisition process and constantly shifting qualitative requirements, both programmes had badly faltered. It seems that as India's maritime and aerial threats mounted, the platforms meant to counter them remained stuck in files at the MoD and at respective Service headquarters.

Budget 2026: Industry calls for stronger push to domestic manufacturing

New Delhi, Jan 15 (IANS) Industry stakeholders have called for stronger push to domestic manufacturing and the 'Make in India' initiative among the top priorities for the Union Budget 2026-27, a pre-Budget survey conducted by the Associated Chambers of Commerce and Industry of India (Assocham) said on Thursday.

The survey, conducted among professionals across manufacturing, services, infrastructure, IT/ITeS, startups and allied sectors, found that 55 per cent of respondents remain optimistic about the business outlook over the next 12 months, while 32 per cent maintain a neutral stance and only 13 per cent expressed a pessimistic outlook.

Boosting domestic manufacturing emerged as the single most important Budget priority to advance the vision of an Aatmanirbhar and Viksit Bharat, followed by strengthening MSMEs and simplifying tax and compliance systems.

According to the apex industry chamber, infrastructure and logistics development, skills and job creation, and accelerated digital and AI-led growth also featured prominently among industry expectations from the Budget. To accelerate manufacturing growth, industry participants said the budget should focus on providing cheaper long-term capital, enhancing credit availability and offering targeted tax incentives for technology upgradation, automation and artificial intelligence adoption. Expansion of PLI schemes to more sectors, tax incentives linked to Industry 4.0, rationalisation of customs duties on critical raw materials, and faster clearances at industrial parks, SEZs and industrial clusters were also highlighted.

The survey further underscored the close link between manufacturing growth and MSME health, with 55 per cent of respondents being MSMEs themselves.

"Delayed payments and working capital shortages were identified as the most critical pain points for MSMEs, reinforcing the demand for cash-flow-based lending, green-channel credit linked to GST and e-invoice data, and incentives for timely payments," the findings showed.

The survey report highlighted that the Union Budget 2026-27 should prioritise execution-oriented reforms, rationalise compliance frameworks and deploy targeted fiscal incentives to unlock private investment, strengthen MSMEs and enable manufacturing scale-up.

NITI Aayog unveils blueprint to empower MSMEs by boosting scheme implementation, service delivery

New Delhi, Jan 15 (IANS) NITI Aayog on Thursday released a detailed blueprint to improve outcomes for the micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) by streamlining scheme implementation, strengthening inter-ministerial coordination, and enhancing the delivery of financial, skill, marketing, and innovation support.

The report, titled 'Achieving Efficiencies in MSME Sector through Convergence of Schemes', outlines a strategic roadmap to strengthen the effectiveness of government support for MSMEs in the country.

Among other suggestions, the report proposes an AI-powered centralised digital platform integrating MSME schemes, compliance, finance, and market intelligence.

"Drawing on global best practices, the portal would feature information, process, compliance, and market research modules, supported by AI chatbots, dashboards, and mobile access for real-time support to MSMEs," NITI Aayog said in a statement. Further, the report evaluates existing government schemes and programmes for the MSME sector, assesses the current level of convergence among them, and identifies best practices from central, state, and international experiences, offering actionable recommendations to unlock convergence opportunities and undertake corrective measures to improve efficiency, outreach, and impact of MSME schemes. There are 18 schemes spanning critical support areas such as credit assistance, skill development, marketing support, innovation and R&D, technology and quality upgradation, and infrastructure development. The report recommends a two-pronged approach to convergence, comprising information convergence and process convergence. "Information convergence focuses on integrating government-generated data at the central and state levels to improve coordination, enable informed decision-making, and strengthen governance outcomes," it highlighted.

Two, process convergence aims at aligning and unifying schemes to reduce redundancies, streamline operations, and improve service delivery.

This includes merging similar schemes, combining common components, and fostering collaboration across ministries and states to create a cohesive MSME support ecosystem.

His outstanding all-round performance earned him the Player of the Series award.

Men's U19 World Cup: Henil Patel's fifer helps India beat USA by six wickets

Bulawayo (Zimbabwe), Jan 15 (IANS) Henil Patel bagged the first five-wicket haul of the tournament and helped multiple-time champion India make a winning start to their campaign in the ICC Under-19 Men's Cricket World Cup with a six-wicket victory (via DLS Method) over the USA at the Queens Sports Club in Bulawayo on Thursday.

Five-time winners India inserted in the USA after winning the toss, and Henil Patel instantly validated that decision by delivering a fiery opening spell that broke the resistance of the USA top order. The right-arm pacer picked up three wickets inside the first 12 overs as the USA were reduced to 35/4.

The Indians then tightened the screws on the USA middle-order to pick up wickets at regular intervals as DeepeshDevendran, Ambarish RS, Khilan Patel, and VaibhavSooryavanshi all picked up a wicket each. Patel then returned to clean up the tail and bag the first fifer of the tournament to bowl USA out for just 107 inside 36 overs.

SOORYAVANSHI SETS RECORD

The USA made a good start to proceedings with the ball, dismissing early Vaibhav

Sooryavanshi, who set a world record by making his debut in the U19 World Cup at the age of 14 years and 294 days, breaking the 18-year-old record held by Indian-origin player Nitish Kumar, who made his debut for Canada at the age of 15 years and 245 days.

Just when skipper Ayush Mhatre and Vedant Trivedi appeared to steady the innings, the game was halted because of the lightning protocols. Rain followed and ensured the game was suspended for long enough for it to be reduced to 37 overs when it resumed after a long break. Chasing a revised target of 96, India were rocked by two quick wickets as skipper Mhatre (19) and Trivedi (2) were dismissed, leaving India struggling at 25/3. But Abhigyan Kundu and Vihaan Malhotra weathered the storm and slowly turned the tables on the USA bowlers, stitching together a counter-attacking 45-run partnership that got India closer to the target. Malhotra's dismissal didn't prevent the five-time winners from cruising home and putting their first points on the board.

India will be back in action against Bangladesh for their second game in Group A on Saturday. The USA will take on New Zealand on Sunday, with both matches set to take place at the Queens Sports Club in Bulawayo.

Brief scores: USA U19 107 all out in 35.2 overs (NitishSudini 36; Henil Patel 5-16) lost to India U19 (revised target 96 - AbhigyanKundu 42 not out; RitvikAppidi 2-24) by 6 wickets (DLS method).

India Open 2026: Lakshya Sen beats Kenta Nishimoto to reach QFs; Srikanth, Prannoy crash out

New Delhi, Jan 15

(IANS) Former champion Lakshya Sen relied on his strong defence and injection of pace to defeat Japan's Kenta Nishimoto, while Kidambi Srikanth and HS Prannoy's inspired performances were not enough in the second round of the India Open 2026 at the Indira Gandhi Indoor Stadium in New Delhi on Thursday. Sen packed off Nishimoto 21-19, 21-11 to advance into the quarterfinals after Srikanth had gone down 21-14, 17-21, 21-17 against BWF World Tour Finals winner Christo Popov of France, and Prannoy lost to eighth seed Loh Kean Yew of Singapore 18-21, 21-19, 21-14.

India's challenge in the women's section of the BWF World Tour Super 750 event being organised by the Badminton Association of India also came to an end after the fifth-seeded Chinese Han Yue accounted for Malvika Bansod 21-18, 21-15. The going was tough even for Sen in the initial stages of the first game against Nishimoto, as the Indian was struggling to find his rhythm and the length of his strokes. The Indian Oil employee trailed the Japanese 11-16 in the opening game and then 14-18, but kept on engaging his opponent in long rallies and came up with some brilliant defensive strokes to parry Nishimoto's smashes to claw back. He won five straight points to take the lead and then wrapped up the opening game on the very first opportunity. Sen was much more clinical in the second game, varying his pace and going for the kill whenever he found an opportunity. As he grew in confidence, the 24-year-old mixed his half smashes with clever reserve drops to keep his opponent guessing and sealed his quarterfinal spot in 50 minutes.

Important results: Men's singles: Lakshya Sen bt Kenta

Najmul sacked as players' revolt puts BPL in limbo

Dhaka, Jan 15: The crisis-ridden Bangladesh Cricket Board stared at the prospect of its flagship T20 league coming to a halt after senior national players revolted against it for not sacking director Najmul Islam for his disparaging comments against them even though the BCB removed him as head of its finance committee.

Despite the removal of Najmul from the key BCB post, two matches of the ongoing Bangladesh Premier League (BPL) scheduled on the day were postponed and the tournament itself looked in disarray due to the players' firm stance.

The cricketers taking part in the BPL were unified in their demand for immediate removal of Najmul as BCB director. BCB removed Najmul as chairman of the board's finance committee but he remains a Board director, a position that can be taken from him on disciplinary grounds. "...Following a review of recent developments and in the best interest of the organisation, the BCB President has decided to release Mr. Najmul Islam from his responsibilities as Chairman of the Finance Committee with immediate effect," said the BCB in a statement. "Until further notice, the BCB President will assume the role of Acting Chairman of the Finance Committee. The BCB reiterates that the interests of the cricketers remain its highest priority."

Keys loses to Mboko in Adelaide International QF

Adelaide, Jan 15

(IANS) Defending champion Madison Keys suffered a shock exit from the Adelaide International on Thursday, crashing out in the quarter-finals after a three-set defeat to Canada's rising star Victoria Mboko. World No. 17 Mboko, 19, defeated ninth-ranked Keys 6-4, 4-6, 6-2 in one hour and 53 minutes for her second career victory against a top-10 opponent. Eighth seed Mboko struck first by breaking Keys early to take the opening set but struggled to match the American's powerful serving in the second. In the deciding set, Mboko was clinical on serve, winning 75 percent of points on her first delivery and capitalising on the only break opportunity she earned. "I know she won this tournament last year and, of course, the Australian Open. I knew coming into this match it had to be a big fight, so I'm glad I got it done," Mboko said on court after the match, as reported by Xinhua. Keys had won the Adelaide International title in 2025 before going on to claim her first career Grand Slam title at the Australian Open weeks later. She will be in action in Melbourne on January 18 to defend her title. Mboko will play Australia's Kimberly Birrell in Friday's semifinal, after the world No. 107 came back from a set down to beat Romania's JaquelineCristian 5-7, 6-1, 7-5 in a three-hour epic. Birrell led 5-2 in the first set and had five set points but could not make the most of the opportunities as Cristian won five games in a row to seal the set. Birrell flipped the momentum in a dominant second set where she won the opening five games.

“This is the first Sankranthi in six years that truly gave me satisfaction” – Producer Suryadevara Naga Vamsi Arriving as a Sankranthi gift and showering theatres with nonstop laughter, Anaganaga Oka Raju is racing ahead toward a sensational blockbuster status. Starring star entertainer Naveen Polishetty in the lead, the film is produced by Suryadevara Naga Vamsi and Sai Soujanya under the banners of Sithara Entertainments and Fortune Four Cinemas, and presented by Srikara Studios. The film is directed by debutant Mari, with Meenakshi Chaudhary as the female lead. Released on January 14 amid huge expectations, Anaganaga Oka Raju received an extraordinary response from the very first show. Along with rib-tickling comedy, the film touched hearts with its emotional moments, earning praise as a true festive entertainer. In just two days, the film created a sensation by collecting a massive ₹41.2 crores worldwide. With collections pouring in at the box office backed by overwhelming audience support, the team organized a Thank You Meet to express their gratitude. Speaking at the event, Naveen Polishetty said, “First of all, Sankranthi greetings to everyone. My heartfelt thanks to each and every audience member who gave us such a big success, and to our media friends who stood by us with immense support. Sithara Entertainments is a blockbuster production house that has delivered many milestone films. Recently, one or two films from the banner did not perform as expected. At such a time, audiences giving a blockbuster in the form of Anaganaga Oka Raju has brought great happiness to all of us. Seeing a smile on Naga Vamsi garu's face especially made me very happy. I wish he always stays smiling like this. I must specially talk about our gurus Trivikram garu and Chinna Babu garu. They trusted us and encouraged us greatly for this film. The episodes they believed in and allowed us to retain are now receiving tremendous appreciation from audiences. From the very first scene to the interval, audiences are laughing continuously in the first half. The political entertainment in the second half is also getting an excellent response. I always prioritize entertainment in my films, but this time we also wanted to deliver strong emotions along with it. I admire Rajkumar Hirani's films, and with that inspiration, we attempted something similar in Telugu. We watched the film in a mass theatre like Sriramulu, and the way audiences enjoyed the entertainment and showered applause during the emotional scenes made us feel that our story connected with all sections of viewers. As a hero, this is my fourth film and my first Sankranthi release. Despite competition from big films, audiences made our film a blockbuster. A dialogue from a Trivikram film says there's some power behind you. The power behind me is the audience. They are the ones carrying my films forward. From someone who once went around asking for just one chance, to receiving four consecutive hits, I sincerely thank every Telugu family for this love. I'll continue to work harder than ever to entertain you. Director Maari's contribution is unforgettable. He also played a key role in the writing. When I was feeling low while writing the story after an accident, our co-writer Chinmayi filled me with motivation. Meenakshi Chaudhary and Rao Ramesh garu delivered outstanding performances. Thanks to Mickey J. Meyer garu for the wonderful music. When writers, artists, and directors are trusted and given creative freedom, this is the kind of output that comes. My heartfelt thanks to Naga Vamsi garu for trusting us and giving us complete freedom. Thanks to everyone who was part of this film. Many film personalities congratulated us saying we delivered a great Sankranthi film. Those who haven't watched Anaganaga Oka Raju yet, please book your tickets immediately. You will definitely enjoy it.” Producer Suryadevara Naga Vamsi said, “This is the Sankranthi that gave me true satisfaction after six years. After Ala Vaikuntha Perumal in 2020, this is the first Sankranthi to give me that level of fulfillment. My heartfelt thanks to audiences for delivering such a big success this Sankranthi. Thanks to the media for the tremendous support. Many producers wished for this film to succeed, and with everyone's blessings, we achieved this level of success. Fans are also showing massive support on social media, and a big announcement that will make them happy is coming soon. Even though two big films released this Sankranthi, our distributors stood strongly by us and allotted sufficient theatres, which helped us achieve a ₹41 crore gross in just two days. My thanks to all distributors who trusted me and Naveen and stood by us. Releasing a film during Sankranthi and delivering a hit is very special to me. Special thanks to Naveen for being a key part of this success. Meenakshi Chaudhary dedicated an entire year exclusively to this film, and I sincerely thank her. For any script-related doubts, I constantly discussed with creative director Chinmayi, and I promised her that if this film succeeds, I'll introduce her as a director under our banner. Trivikram

Kartik Aaryan walks away from his Rs 15 crore paycheck: Reports

Mumbai: In an industry where success is celebrated loudly and failures are quickly forgotten, Kartik Aaryan has chosen a different path. The actor is winning hearts not for a blockbuster, but for a bold and generous decision after his latest film struggled at the box office. Kartik's romantic comedy Tu Meri Main Tera Main Tera Tu Meri, co-starring Ananya Panday, released during the festive Christmas season with high expectations. The promotions were energetic, the songs trended online, and fans expected another crowd-pleaser. However, once the film hit theatres, the response turned lukewarm. Ticket sales dropped quickly, and the movie failed to recover its big budget. Kartik Aaryan refuses to take remuneration While most stars walk away from underperforming projects without looking back, Kartik reportedly chose to forego Rs.15 crore from his acting fees to ease the financial burden on the producers. In Bollywood, where star salaries are often fixed regardless of box office results, such a gesture is rare. His decision reflects not just professionalism, but empathy for the team that believed in the project. Industry insiders say the move has earned Kartik

Backed by producers Kishore Annapureddy and Nishitha Nagireddy, Nagabandham is gearing up for a grand multi-language release in Telugu, Hindi, Tamil, Kannada, and Malayalam, this summer.
