India-France Partnership a Force for Global Stability: PM Modi

Mumbai (TSIT): Prime Minister Narendra Modi, in his statement following the bilateral meeting with President Emmanuel Macron in Mumbai on Tuesday, described the India-France relationship as a "force for global stability" in an increasingly uncertain world.

HIGHLIGHT POINT:

Prime Minister Narendra Modi hailed India-France ties as a "force for global stability," unveiling the 2026 Year of Innovation and deepening strategic, defence and AI collaboration with President Emmanuel Macron.

With the meeting coinciding with the AI Impact Summit 2026, PM Modi highlighted a shared commitment to developing "sovereign AI" that is safe, secure, and beneficial to the Global South.

Stating the partnership moving from Marseille to Mumbai, he recalled their previous discussions in France, noting that the partnership is now translating those AI visions into tangible industrial outcomes.

India-France share vision for multipolar world: Prez Macron

French President Emmanuel Macron on Tuesday underscored that the India-France relationship has reached a level of mutual trust that is "unique in the world today."

After a morning jog at Marine Drive and a tribute to the 2008 Mumbai terror attack victims, the President joined PM Modi to chart the next decade of the Horizon 2047 roadmap.

The bilateral meeting, Macron, in his statement, said, "From the deep oceans to the highest mountains, the India-France partnership knows no boundaries. We are not just partners; we are two nations that share a vision for a sovereign, independent, and multipolar world."

President Macron reaffirmed France's commitment to India's "Aatmanirbhar Bharat" (Self-Reliant India) initiative. Macron welcomed the recent Indian approval for 114 Rafale fighter jets, noting that the majority of these will be "Made in India."

TARIQUE RAHMAN SWORN IN AS NEW PM OF BANGLADESH

DHAKA (TSIT) : Tarique Rahman was sworn in as the new Prime Minister of Bangladesh on Tuesday, marking the end of the 18-month rule of the interim government which took charge after the collapse of the Sheikh Hasina regime in August 2024.

President Mohammed Shahabuddin administered the oath of office to 60-year-old Rahman at the South Plaza of the Jatiya Sangsad instead of Bangabhaban, in a departure from a long-standing tradition. Rahman, the son of former premier Khaleda Zia and late President Ziaur Rahman, returned home two months ago after living in London in self-exile for 17 years.

He will serve as the prime minister for the next five years. Earlier in the day, Rahman was elected as leader of the parliamentary party by the Bangladesh Nationalist Party lawmakers.

display systems. Discussions included installing integrated smart poles at major junctions to support electric cables, telecom lines, CCTV cameras, and advertisements.

Expressing concern over unrealized revenue despite numerous advertisement boards, the CM directed a comparative study of revenue models followed in Mumbai, Ahmedabad, and Bengaluru. He ordered strict action against violators and mandated that 10 percent of advertisement boards be reserved for government programmes and welfare schemes.

CENTRE PUSHES AI INTEGRATION IN EDUCATION AT INDIA AI IMPACT SUMMIT 2026

New Delhi (TSIT): The Ministry of Education organised a special session titled 'Ministry of Education - Pushing the Frontier of AI in India' on Tuesday at New Delhi's Bharat Mandapam as part of the India AI Impact Summit 2026, underscoring the government's push to integrate artificial intelligence across the country's education ecosystem.

Kharge alleges 'chaos & mismanagement' at AI Summit, targets Centre

New Delhi (TSIT) Congress President Mallikarjun Kharge on Tuesday launched a sharp attack on the Centre over the conduct of a recent AI Summit, alleging "utter chaos and rank mismanagement" and accusing the government of turning a global showcase event into an embarrassment for the country.

ment as "PR hungry." The Congress chief listed a series of alleged lapses at the event, claiming that exhibitors were left without basic amenities.

"Exhibitors are left without food and water, their products are stolen, Digi Yatra miserably fails, laptops, personal electronic devices and even bags are prohibited, only cash instead of digital/UPI payment is accepted, and founders are made to pay huge sums without basic facilities, among many other reasons of distress," Kharge said.

1,179 MoUs translate into Rs.12.37 lakh crore investment, says Tamil Nadu Interim budget

CHENNAI (TSIT): The Tamil Nadu government on Monday announced that 1,179 Memorandum of Understanding (MoUs) signed since it assumed office have translated into a committed investment worth Rs.12.37 lakh crore, with the projects expected to generate about 36 lakh jobs.

support upcoming projects and future expansion, land acquisition is under way for an additional 28,392 acres.

According to the government, Tamil Nadu continues to lead the country in electronics exports, accounting for 41.23% of India's total exports in the sector. The State recorded an economic growth rate of 11.19% in 2024-25, the document noted.

New TIDEL Parks are being established at Tiruchirappalli, Madurai and Hosur at an estimated cost of Rs.1,070 crore.

In addition, TIDEL Neo Mini IT Parks have been inaugurated in several cities, while Mini IT Parks are under development across multiple districts at a total estimated cost of Rs.388 crore. These initiatives are expected to generate about 25,500 jobs, according to the budget.

The government also referenced the Tamil Nadu Semiconductor Mission-2030, a 5 year roadmap with an estimated outlay of Rs. 500 crore, under which advanced semiconductor design and technology infrastructure is being developed in collaboration with academic and industry partners.

India intensifying engagement with global partners from position of strength: EAM Jaishankar

MUMBAI (TSIT) India is engaging with international partners more intensively and from a "position of strength," External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar said on Tuesday, citing a string of recent trade agreements as evidence of the country's growing economic clout.

India is strengthening its global engagement from a position of economic strength, sealing major trade deals amid a rapidly shifting and turbulent world order, says External Affairs Minister

--S. Jaishankar.

The Global Economic Cooperation is an event organised by the Future Economic Cooperation Council in partnership with the Ministry of External Affairs and the Government of Maharashtra. Describing the current international landscape as perhaps the most turbulent in living memory, the minister warned that the world is witnessing the "weaponisation" of production and finance, alongside tightening export controls and volatile market shifts.

"The established global order is clearly changing. Replacements are hard to create, and we appear to be headed to a long twilight zone. This will be messy, risky, unpredictable, perhaps even dangerous," he said. Long-standing assumptions and expectations have now become questionable, the minister pointed out.

Key dimensions are transforming simultaneously, be it strategic, political, economic or technological. Solutions lie in derisking and diversifying across multiple domains. This approach is increasingly visible in the policy of nations, the EAM said. Jaishankar stressed that the "reform express" will continue to roll on.

"From a position of strength, India is engaging international partners more intensively. This is demonstrated in the recently concluded trade deals," he said. Economic security is best served through stronger self-reliance and more trusted partners, the minister added. Following a phone conversation between Prime Minister Narendra Modi and US President Donald Trump, both sides recently announced a reduction of US tariffs on Indian goods to 18 per cent from 50 per cent.

Congress Sweeps Chairperson Elections in Thorrur, Dornakal Municipalities After Tight Security

Mahabubabad, February 17: The ruling Congress party emerged victorious in the high-stakes elections for chairperson and vice-chairperson of Thorrur and Dornakal municipalities, which were held on Tuesday under heavy security after being postponed due to clashes a day earlier.

The elections, originally scheduled for Monday, were deferred following fierce clashes between Congress and opposition BRS workers and large-scale protests that raised law and order concerns. On Tuesday, authorities deployed over 1,000 police personnel under the leadership of the District SP to ensure peaceful conduct of the polls. A curfew was imposed in Thorrur town, with a police parade held in the morning. At around 11:30 AM, BRS councillors reached the municipality offices amidst tight security for the election process. With both ruling Congress and opposition

BRS having received equal votes in the two municipalities, the elections were decided through a draw of lots.

Results: Thorrur Municipality: Tunam Shraavan Kumar (Congress) elected as Chairperson, with Somarajini (Congress) as Vice-Chairperson. Dornakal Municipality: Kondeti Rajakumari (Congress) elected as Chairperson, with Madha Lavanya (Congress) as Vice-Chairperson. Officials handed over appointment papers to the winning candidates following the conclusion of the election process.

Mudiraj Community Celebrates First Mayor Appointment, Thanks CM Revanth Reddy and MLA Yennam

Mahabubnagar Representative February 17: The Mudiraj leaders specially thanked the state Chief Minister Yennam Srinivas Reddy for allocating Gummal Mamatha Srinivasulu, a member of the Mudiraj community, as the first mayor of the Mahabubnagar Municipal Corporation.

On Tuesday, these elders participated in a large-scale anointment ceremony at Telangana Chaurasta under the leadership of BC JAC leader and Congress leader Maitri Yadayya. Speaking on the occasion, BC JAC leader Maitri Yadayya said the 10-year BRS rule after the creation of Telangana state.

He said that since coming to power in the state in 2023, the Congress government has identified and allocated appropriate positions to the upper castes, who constitute the largest social group. He also said that BCs have been given a big seat in the state. He said that before coming to power in the state, the government had made a decision to provide 42 percent reservation as per the BC Declaration made before the elections and put it in the manifesto.

to the Governor. However, the central government had obstructed it by saying that the total reservation should not exceed 50. However, during the tenure of the Congress government, it had demanded that the central government include it in the Ninth Schedule and allocate 42 percent reservation to BCs. He said that although the issue of reservations is pending with the central government as per the promise given by the Congress party, the Congress government has kept its promise by allocating more seats to upper castes in the local body elections. Similarly, in the corporation posts and nominated posts, social justice was observed by allocating BCs to Mudirajus. He said that he gave MLA ticket to Srihari Mudiraju from the district and made him win and secured the post of state minister.

He reminded that in the case of Mahabubnagar district, Mudiraj was given an opportunity as the district Congress president. He said that Pedda Vijay Kumar Mudiraj was allocated as the vice chairman of the market committee. He said that justice was done by allocating the chairman of the Muda to Laxman Yadav, who is a BC. Moreover, when the Mahabubnagar municipality was upgraded and the corporation elections were held, Mudiraj was allocated as the first mayor to the community, showing their respect for the Mudirajus. However, he said that the Congress party has a glorious history of allocating Korivi Krishna Swami Mudiraj as the first corporation mayor of Hyderabad during the Congress regime. Later, Market Committee Vice Chairman Pedda Vijay Kumar said that the Congress party is the party that has increased the self-respect of the Mudirajus.

He said that we will have our Mudiraj social group with the Congress party, which is supporting the Mudirajus politically today. Similarly, he demanded that the Mudirajus be included in the BC-D to BC-A as stated in the election manifesto. He said that if this wish is fulfilled, employment opportunities for our youth will increase and our Mudirajus will immediately remain with the Congress party for the rest of their lives.

Mahabubnagar expressed special gratitude to the state Chief Minister and local MLA Yennam Srinivas Reddy on a large scale. Mudiraj's relatives and BC leaders participated in this program in a large scale and performed the abhisheka.

Rigorous Mapping Process Essential for Special Comprehensive Amendment: State CEO Sudarshan Reddy

Mahabubnagar, February 17: State Chief Electoral Officer Sudarshan Reddy has directed election officials to carry out the mapping process rigorously in view of the upcoming special comprehensive amendment.

Chairing a video conference review meeting from Hyderabad with election officers, EROs, and AEROs from all districts, the CEO emphasized the need for booth-level officers to complete the mapping exercise by visiting every household. He instructed that village administration officers and other officials be appointed as assistants to booth-level officers to expedite the process.

Sudarshan Reddy stressed the importance of creating awareness by engaging with representatives of recognized political parties and appointing booth-level agents from their parties. He directed that booth-level officers conduct field-level visits, with supervisors and AEROs providing necessary assistance to ensure systematic and error-free mapping.

The CEO also called for a campaign to make booth-level officers' details publicly known and urged officials to promptly resolve pending applications under Forms 6, 7, and 8. District Collector Vijayendra Boi, Revenue Additional Collector Madhusudhan Nayak, and other officials participated in the meeting.

Honor to Councilor Aruna

Mahabubabad Reporter (Balne Nanthan Kumar) On the occasion of Chidirla Aruna Gyaneshwar's victory and oath-taking as the 19th ward councillor of Mahabubabad Urban Municipality, the local people of the 19th ward organized a meeting at Maheshwari Bhavan and felicitated the winning candidate. Aruna Gyaneshwar said that if everyone in the 19th ward has any problems and if they raise their problems in person or over the phone, we will complete the work as soon as possible with our best efforts.

resolved. Some speakers in the ward said that if each person is selected from the market in the ward, the people of that market will tell them their problems and the members of all these will meet once in three months and find a solution. Congress senior leader Chodavarapu Mohan Rao said that in order to solve the problems, everyone's problem should be written down in detail and each problem should be completed. Also, if there are problems that they cannot do but are brought to our attention, Chief Minister's advisor Vem Narender Reddy will talk to the MLA and discuss the problems and complete them.

Jawans' Role Crucial in City Sanitation: Mayor Gundu Sudharani

Warangal, February 17: City Mayor Gundu Sudharani has emphasized that sanitation workers (jawans) play a vital role in maintaining cleanliness across the city. Speaking at a meeting with sanitation jawans of the Hanmakonda range held at the Council Hall on Tuesday, the Mayor, along with Municipal Commissioner Chahat Bajpai, outlined several suggestions for effective implementation of sanitation programmes. The Mayor stressed that jawans must work with sincerity to maintain city cleanliness. She highlighted their responsibility in creating awareness among residents about segregating wet and dry garbage at source. She also suggested encouraging people to clean septic tanks every three years and ensuring faecal waste reaches the Faecal Sludge Treatment Plant (FSTP). To strengthen waste segregation, three volunteers have been deployed in each division, and jawans were asked to extend full cooperation to them. Special volunteers appointed in collaboration with Aski will focus on awareness campaigns regarding septic tank cleaning. The Mayor instructed that daily cleaning of drains, door-to-door garbage collection, tractor transportation of waste, collection of trade and user charges, and midday sanitation gang work be organized regularly. She also emphasized focusing on IEC (Information, Education, Communication) activities to achieve a better rank in Swachh Survekshan. Commissioner Chahat Bajpai urged jawans to be proactive in addressing sanitation-related grievances and play a vital role in special cleaning programmes during festivals.

Prez Murmu Arrives in Visakhapatnam to Attend International Fleet Review 2026

Visakhapatnam (TSIT) : President Droupadi Murmu, Supreme Commander of the Indian Armed Forces, arrived here on Tuesday evening for a two-day visit to participate in the prestigious International Fleet Review - 2026, organized by the Indian Navy. The President was accorded a grand welcome upon her arrival at the INS Dega Naval Air Station. Andhra Pradesh Governor

S. Abdul Nazeer, Deputy Chief Minister Pawan Kalyan, City Mayor Pila Srinivasa Rao, and District In-charge Minister Dola Bala Veeranjanya Swamy received her. Other dignitaries present included MP M. Sribharat, District Collector M.N. Harendhira Prasad, City Police Commissioner Shankha Brata Bagchi, and Vice Admiral Sanjay Bhalla, Flag Officer Commanding-in-Chief of the Eastern Naval Command.

President Murmu proceeded to INS Chola, where she will stay during her visit. Later tonight, she is scheduled to attend a special banquet hosted by the Navy in her honor.

The highlight of the visit will take place on Wednesday, when the President will participate in the main International Fleet Review at sea. From aboard the warship INS Sumedha, she will review an impressive fleet comprising over 70 warships from approximately 50 countries. To ensure the safety of the event and visiting dignitaries, the city has been placed under heavy security cover with nearly 8,000 police personnel deployed for strict surveillance.

Group-1 Trainee Officers Begin Two-Day Field Visit in Mahabubnagar

M a h a b u b n a g a r , February 17: A batch of 60 Group-1 Trainee Officers arrived here on Tuesday for a two-day field training tour, aimed at exposing them to development programs and ground-level realities in rural areas.

The trainees, including probationary deputy collectors, deputy superintendents of police, commercial tax officers, municipal commissioners, and others, first met District Collector Vijayendra Boi at the Collector's office. The Collector welcomed the officers and briefed them on the district's social, economic, geographical, and demographic profile. He highlighted Mahabubnagar's transformation from a region known for migrant labor to one achieving significant progress in irrigation, agriculture, education, healthcare, and industry. He noted rapid development in education and medical sectors, with Palamuru University now offering engineering and law courses, an existing IIIT, and a foundation laid for another IIIT by Chief Minister Revanth Reddy. Government schools, junior colleges, and degree colleges are providing quality education, reflected in rising student enrollment. On healthcare, the Collector mentioned the government medical college and general hospital, with a 1000-bed super specialty hospital soon to offer advanced medical services. He also assured that law and order remains stable with religious harmony.

Addressing the trainees, the Collector advised them to consider themselves "servants of the people, not officials" and focus on the development of poor and weaker sections. He encouraged them to learn from the field visit and enhance their understanding of society.

BRS Vows to Fight Until Rs.8 Crore Per Ward is Sanctioned at KCR Birthday Celebrations in Sangareddy

Sangareddy, February 17: Grand celebrations marked the birthday of Telangana's first Chief Minister and BRS supremo K. Chandrashekar Rao here on Tuesday, with party cadres cutting a cake at the MLA Camp Office following directions from Sangareddy MLA Chinta Prabhakar.

Addressing the gathering, BRS state leader Chinta Sai Nath asserted that people across Telangana are once again expressing the sentiment that "the car must return and KCR must lead." He claimed that recent municipal election results clearly reflect public opinion, and that the party has won the hearts of people in both the panchayat and municipal polls.

ed that ten BRS councillors in the municipalities, with the MLA's cooperation, remain committed to resolving public issues.

Alleging that municipal chairperson posts were secured with police backing and monetary influence, Sai Nath said BRS respects the public verdict that emerged despite these factors. He stat-

Sai Nath vowed that the party would continue its struggle until the Congress government fulfills its promise of sanctioning 8 crore for each ward. Expressing confidence in KCR's leadership, he said the former Chief Minister remains in the thoughts of the people and that his return to power is inevitable.

Several senior party leaders, including Hakim, Dr. Srihari, Town President R. Venkateshwarulu, and councillors Kothapalli Srikanth, Jalandhar, and others, participated in the programme.

Visakhapatnam: The East Coast Railway Ball Badminton Team has clinched the 1st place at the All India Invitation Ball Badminton Tournament, held at Gudlavalleru in Krishna District from February 13 to 15, 2026. The tournament witnessed participation from 20 teams across the country. In a thrilling final, East Coast Railway defeated Integral Coach Factory, Chennai, to lift the championship title. Divisional Railway Manager Shri Lalit Bohra appreciated the ECORSA team for their fantastic achievement. DV Ganesh (Tech. I / S&T) and Ch. Vengal Rao (Senior Clerk / Personal) were adjudged the Best Players of the Tournament for their consistent and match-winning contributions. Coach K. Yellarao's strategic planning and training played a crucial role in the team's success. N. Usha, General Secretary, ECORSA, extended encouragement to the players throughout the tournament.

CM's Cup 2025-26 Gets AI-Powered NILAMANI App and Agentic Call Centre

Hyderabad: Deputy Chief Minister Mallu Bhatti Vikramarka on Tuesday launched advanced technological features for the 2nd Edition of CM's Cup 2025-26, including the "NILAMANI" mobile application and an Agentic AI-enabled call centre initiative called GAMES (Grievance and Monitoring for Excellence in Sports).

The launch ceremony was held at the State Secretariat in the presence of Sports Minister Vakapalli Srihari, Sports Authority of Telangana Chairman Shivasena Reddy, MD Dr. Soni Bala Devi, and other senior officials. The NILAMANI app will provide real-time information to participants on accommodation, transport, match fixtures, and other competition-related updates. The AI-powered 24/7 call centre will offer instant grievance support and monitoring services throughout the tournament. Speaking on the occasion, the Deputy Chief Minister emphasized the government's commitment to strengthening rural sports and identifying hidden talent at the grassroots level. He noted that encouraging youth participation in sports helps build discipline and steers them away from anti-social activities.

QCIL to Develop 350+ Bed CARE Hospitals in Nagpur with Rs.600 Crore Investment

Hyderabad, 17th February 2026: Quality Care India Ltd. (QCIL), one of India's leading healthcare platforms, has received the Letter of Acceptance (LoA) for the development of a 350+ bed state-of-the-art multi-specialty CARE Hospitals in Nagpur, marking a significant milestone in strengthening healthcare infrastructure in Maharashtra and Central India. The LoA was exchanged between MAHA-METRO and Quality Care India Ltd. in the presence of Shri Devendra Fadnavis, Hon'ble Chief Minister of Maharashtra, Shri Nitin Gadkari, Hon'ble Union Minister, and Dr. Pawan Kumar, Chief Executive Officer, CARE Hospitals.

and transit hub in Nagpur. As part of the project, Quality Care India Limited will invest approximately 600 crore towards hospital development, creating a future-ready healthcare facility designed to serve both Nagpur and surrounding regions. Designed as a comprehensive multi-specialty facility, the hospital will offer advanced tertiary and quaternary care services and is expected to significantly enhance access to quality healthcare for patients across Nagpur and the larger Vidarbha region. The hospital will feature specialised centres of excellence across cardiac science, oncology, Gastroenterology, trauma care and neurosciences, bringing advanced medical care closer to patients in Central India.

The hospital is expected to become operational in a phased manner and is anticipated to create over 1500+ direct and indirect employment opportunities, while strengthening Vidarbha as a regional healthcare destination. Commenting on the development, Mr. Varun Khanna, Group Managing Director, Quality Care India Ltd., said, "This project reflects the growing importance of structured public-private partnerships in building healthcare systems that are accessible, integrated, and sustainable. By aligning healthcare infrastructure with urban development, we can create scalable models that deliver high-quality care beyond metros. For cities like Nagpur, such collaborations are critical to strengthening regional healthcare capacity and addressing the long-term needs of Tier 2 and Tier 3 markets."

DRDO Chief Calls for Stronger Academia-Defence Collaboration at SRM University-AP

Amaravati: DRDO Chairman Dr. Samir V. Kamat on Tuesday emphasized the need for India to rapidly build a collaborative defence research ecosystem where academia handles preliminary development, while industry takes products to deployment. Interacting with faculty and leadership at SRM University-AP, Dr. Kamat stressed that new technologies must be developed within 3 to 5 years rather than waiting for long cycles. He highlighted the critical role of universities and private institutions in strengthening defence innovation and achieving national self-reliance.

Intelligence, Quantum Technologies, Green Hydrogen, and Health Engineering, while contributing to the nation's defence research ecosystem. Faculty members presented their ongoing research to Dr. Kamat, who appreciated several initiatives: Accelerated Materials Development using Integrated Computational Materials Engineering

(ICME), led by Dean-Research Prof. Ranji Thapa, aligning with DRDO's requirement for high-energy missile materials. Development of Quantum Navigation System (QNS) without GPS and fabrication of Quantum Sensors, led by Dr. Jatis Kumar Dash, a strategic area of global interest. Research on Sodium-Ion Batteries for Extreme Temperatures by Dr. Surjit

Sahoo and Indentation-calibrated smart fibre sensors by Prof. Kiran Mangalampalli, which could develop sensors and batteries suitable for high-altitude modern artillery.

Dr. Kamat advised the university to collaborate closely with scientists from specialized DRDO laboratories to advance these research initiatives. Prof. D. Narayana Rao, Executive Director - Research, SRM Group, welcomed the DRDO Chairman and presented an overview of the university's multidisciplinary programmes and research-intensive curriculum. The interaction underscores the growing engagement of academic institutions in India's defence technology landscape, seen as critical to achieving national technology leadership.

GITAM Student Bags Two Bronze Medals at International Kickboxing Cup

Hyderabad: S. Veerandra, a final-year B.Tech. (CSE) student at GITAM Deemed to be University's Hyderabad campus, has brought laurels to the institution by winning two bronze medals at the 5th India Open International Kickboxing Cup-2026. The tournament was held from February 4 to 8 at the Indira Gandhi Arena in New Delhi, featuring athletes from nearly ten countries. Competing in the Senior Category, Veerandra delivered a commendable performance, contributing to the Telangana contingent's strong overall showing. Other team members also secured gold and silver medals across categories including Kick Light, Light Contact, and Junior divisions.

GITAM Hyderabad Pro Vice-Chancellor Prof. D. S. Rao, along with Director - Hospitality & Campus Life Ambika Philip and Deputy Director - Sports Dr. M. Narayana Rao Chowdary, congratulated Veerandra on his achievement. They praised his dedication and encouraged him to continue striving for excellence in future national and international competitions.

India, EU Conclude Free Trade Agreement Covering Nearly 25% of Global GDP

NEW DELHI: Prime Minister Narendra Modi and European Commission President Ursula von der Leyen jointly announced the conclusion of the India-European Union Free Trade Agreement (FTA) at the 16th India-EU Summit, marking a historic milestone in bilateral economic relations. The agreement brings together the world's 4th and 2nd largest economies, which collectively account for nearly 25% of global GDP and one-third of global trade. It reflects both partners' commitment to open, rules-based, and inclusive trade.

Key Benefits for India:
Over 99% of Indian exports by value will receive preferential access to the EU market. Nearly USD 75 billion worth of Indian exports stand to benefit, including USD 33 billion from labour-intensive sectors like textiles, leather, marine products, and gems and jewellery. Expanded services access across 144 EU subsectors for Indian IT, professional services, education, and financial services providers. Safeguards and Cooperation: Enhanced market access for tea, coffee, spices, fruits, and processed foods, while protecting sensitive sectors like dairy. A structured mobility framework for professionals and contractual service suppliers. Calibrated, quota-based auto liberalisation supporting Make in India. Forward-looking cooperation on carbon measures, clean technologies, AI, and digital trade. The FTA is expected to generate employment and strengthen opportunities for women, youth, artisans, and professionals. Designed as a balanced and future-ready agreement, it includes review and consultation mechanisms to address evolving trade challenges. The India-EU FTA reinforces India's commitment to trusted global partnerships and aligns with the vision of "Viksit Bharat 2047" for inclusive, resilient, and sustainable growth.

Union Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw Interacts with 3,000 Students at YuVAI Hackathon, Announces $217 Billion AI Investment Commitments

New Delhi: Union Minister for Railways, Information & Broadcasting, and Electronics & IT, Ashwini Vaishnaw, on Tuesday interacted with over 3,000 students participating in the YuVAI hackathon at the AI Impact Summit 2026, held at Bharat Mandapam. Students from across India presented domain-based, vernacular AI solutions, demonstrating strong grassroots innovation and youth engagement in emerging technologies. The Minister emphasized that Artificial Intelligence is a powerful tool accessible to all for solving day-to-day challenges and creating solutions tailored to individual and community needs. During the interaction, Vaishnaw revealed that the Summit has attracted significant global interest, with commitments of approximately $17 billion in venture capital funding and up to $200 billion in infrastructure investments. "This reflects the high level of interest the world has in India's AI ecosystem," he stated.

The Minister attributed this momentum to the visionary framework laid down by Prime Minister Narendra Modi, positioning India as a global leader in emerging technologies. He noted that hosting the world's largest AI summit in India demonstrates the country's growing stature at the forefront of the global AI movement. The YuVAI hackathon provided a platform for young innovators to showcase their AI solutions, reinforcing the government's commitment to fostering technological talent and innovation at the grassroots level.

Nine-judge SC bench to hear pleas on religious discrimination against women

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Monday said a nine-judge bench will on April 7 commence the final hearing on petitions relating to discrimination against women at religious places, including Sabarimala Temple, and on the ambit and scope of religious freedom practised by multiple faiths. In September 2018, a five-judge Constitution bench, by a 4:1 majority verdict, had lifted the ban that prevented females between the ages of 10 and 50 from entering the Ayyappa shrine at Sabarimala in Kerala and held that the centuries-old Hindu religious practice was illegal and unconstitutional. Later on November 14, 2019, another five-judge bench headed by then CJI Ranjan Gogoi, by a majority of 3:2, referred the issue of discrimination against women at various places of worship to a larger bench. The bench had then framed broad issues on freedoms across religions, saying they cannot be decided without any facts of the particular case. Besides the Sabarimala case, the verdict also referred issues of entry of Muslim women into mosques and dargahs and of Par-si women, married to non-Parsi men, to the holy fire place of an Agiary, to the larger bench. On May 11, 2020, another bench held that its 5-judge bench had the power to refer the questions of law to a larger bench for adjudication while exercising its limited power under review jurisdiction in the Sabarimala temple entry case. After that, the matters could not be taken up for almost five years because of the COVID pandemic, and later, they were not taken up by other chief justices. On Monday, a bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justices Joymalya Bagchi and Vipul M Pancholi said a nine-judge bench will begin hearing the petitions on April 7 and will conclude them on April 22. The CJI asked the parties to file their written submissions on or before March 14. Solicitor General Tushar Mehta for the Centre said he supported the pleas for review of the Sabarimala verdict that allowed entry of women of all age groups to the hill-top shrine in Kerala. The bench-appointed lawyer Krishna Kumar Singh is the nodal counsel for parties supporting the review of the Sabarimala verdict.

It also appointed Shashwati Pari as the nodal counsel for those opposing the review of the verdict. "We also deem it appropriate that senior advocate K Parameshwar, along with Shivam Singh, are appointed as the amicus. Singh shall submit the stand taken by all parties before this court," the CJI said. "The nine-judge bench will begin hearing the Sabarimala review case on April 7, 2026, at 10:30 am. The review petitioners or the party supporting them shall be heard from April 7 to April 9. The ones opposing the review shall be heard on April 14 to April 16. The rejoinder submissions, if any, will be heard on April 21, 2026, followed by the final and concluding submissions by the learned amicus... which is expected to be over by April 22," the order said. The bench asked the lawyers to adhere to the schedule. Earlier, the bench read out seven questions it had framed on the scope of religious freedom. Asserting that it was open to addition and deletion of issues framed, the bench said it would consider: "What is the scope and ambit of right to freedom of religion under Article 25 of the Constitution of India?"

Mandatory to appear in first board exam for class 10 students: CBSE on two board exams policy

NEW DELHI: The Central Board of Secondary Education (CBSE) has said that it is mandatory for class 10 students to appear in the first board exam, and those who do not attempt at least three subjects in the first edition will be placed in the "essential repeat" category, officials said. CBSE is starting with two board exams for class 10 from 2026. The clarification by the board comes after it received a few requests stating that class 10 students who are not able to appear in the first board exam should be allowed to appear in the second board exam. "It is mandatory for all the students to appear in the first board examination. All passed and eligible students will be allowed to improve their performance in any of the three subjects out of Science, Mathematics, Social Science and languages," CBSE Examination Controller Sanyam Bhardwaj said. "If a student has not appeared in three or more subjects in the first examination, then he or she will not be allowed to appear in the second examination. Such students will be placed in the 'Essential Repeat' category and can take the examination only next year in the main examinations in the month of February next year," he added. Students with compartment in the first exam will be allowed to appear in the second exam under the compartment category, he said. "Additional Subject will not be permitted after passing class 10, students will not be allowed in stand-alone subjects. Because of any reason if a student is not able to appear in 3 or more subjects in main examination, he or she cannot be permitted to appear in second board exams as per policy. Any request received by CBSE about this not be responded to," Bhardwaj said. Board exams for class 10 and class 12 will begin on Tuesday, with over 46 lakh students set to appear from India and abroad. Under the new National Education Policy (NEP), several recommendations have been made with regard to Board exams, including conducting them twice a year. NEP 2020 said that the existing system of Board and entrance exams shall be reformed to eliminate the need for undertaking coaching classes. "To reverse these harmful effects of the current assessment system, Board exams will be redesigned to encourage holistic development; students will be able to choose many of the subjects in which they take Board exams, depending on their individualised interests," the policy stated.

PM Modi 'surrendered' before Trump; farmers' interests, energy security sacrificed: Cong

NEW DELHI: The Congress on Monday alleged that Prime Minister Narendra Modi has "surrendered" before US President Donald Trump in agreeing to the India-US interim trade deal, which, it claimed, will "devastate" the livelihoods of crores of farmers across states and sacrifice India's energy security, digital sovereignty and economic self-reliance. Slamming the Centre, Congress general secretary Randeep Surjewala said trade agreements should not become a path to slavery by "sacrificing a country's sovereignty", and asserted that national interest cannot be mortgaged under the guise of a trade pact. He also demanded answers from the prime minister on this. Terming the Indo-US interim trade deal a "one-sided and unequal agreement", Surjewala said such deals must be based on parity and mutual public interest, and not become instruments that compromise the sovereignty or livelihoods of millions. He also claimed that 1.44 billion Indians would not accept any arrangement that weakens the country's self-reliance. "Trade agreements are the path to economic progress. The very foundation of trade agreements is mutual public interest on equal terms. Trade agreements should not be a path to slavery by sacrificing a country's sovereignty. National and public interests cannot be sacrificed under the guise of trade deals," Surjewala said at a press conference. Tagging Surjewala's statement, Congress general secretary in-charge communications, Jairam Ramesh, said the former explained how this trade deal will "devastate" the livelihoods of millions of farmers across states. "The prime minister has completely surrendered before President Trump - just as he did on May 10, 2025, when he abruptly and unexpectedly halted Operation Sindoor," Ramesh said on X. Surjewala alleged at the presser that through the US-India trade agreement, the Modi government has sacrificed the interests of India's farmers and farms. "India's energy security was openly compromised. Serious questions have been raised about India's digital autonomy and data privacy. Instead of standing firmly in defence of India's interests, a helpless government compromised India's sovereignty and self-reliance," he claimed. People are asking whether it is a "mazboot sarkaar" (strong government) or "majboor sarkaar" (compelled government), an "Aatmanirbhar Bharat" or "America-nirbhar Bharat", he claimed. Surjewala also said that importing American agricultural and food products into India's agricultural market is a "direct attack" on farmers' livelihoods. "In the very first point of the February 6 Framework Agreement of the US-India trade deal, India agreed that it would open its market to US agricultural and food products without any import duty," he said. The proposed import of products such as Dried Distillers' Grain (DDG) or processed maize, sorghum, soybean oil and cotton would adversely impact the domestic producers and have a direct effect on the country's biodiversity and seed purity, the Congress leader said. Noting that India produces about 43 million metric tonnes of maize annually, compared to the United States' 425 million metric tonnes, he asked how Indian farmers would compete if duty-free imports were allowed.

EC suspends 7 WB electoral officials over SIR-linked 'misconduct'

NEW DELHI: Using its powers under the electoral law, the Election Commission has suspended seven officials, deployed as assistant electoral registration officers (AEROs) in West Bengal, with immediate effect for serious misconduct, dereliction of duty and misuse of statutory powers in connection with the ongoing special intensive revision (SIR) process in the state. These suspended officers were state government employees who were working on deputation for the EC to update the voters' list and help hold elections. Quoting orders, EC officials said the poll authority has directed state Chief Secretary Nandini Chakravarty that disciplinary proceedings be initiated against these officials by their respective cadre controlling authorities immediately, without any delay and the Commission be apprised in this regard. The EC and the Trinamool Congress government in West Bengal have been at loggerheads over the ongoing special intensive revision of the voters' list. The poll authority used powers under section 13CC of the Representation of the People Act 1950 to take action against the seven. As per the Terms of Settlement arrived at between the Commission and the Union government following a Supreme Court Order of September 2000, the disciplinary functions of the Election Commission over officers, staff and police deputed to perform election duties will extend to "Suspending any officer/official/police personnel for insubordination or dereliction of duty."

Don't vote for BJP, SAD, Cong else Punjab will drown in drugs again: Kejriwal

MOGA: AAP national convener Arvind Kejriwal on Monday lashed out at previous governments of the Congress, SAD and BJP, accusing them of "pushing Punjab into drugs" and urging the public not to vote for these parties, warning that Punjab could drown in drugs once again. Kejriwal commended the Bhagwant Mann government for its strict actions against drug smugglers and highlighted the ongoing anti-drug initiative called 'Yudh Nashian Virudh'. The AAP government hosted a state-level event in Killi Chahlan village here to promote this campaign. Present at the rally, besides Kejriwal, were Chief Minister Bhagwant Mann, party leader Manish Sisodia, Punjab Cabinet ministers, MLAs, and other party officials. Mann arrived at the venue after being discharged from Fortis Hospital in Mohali, where he had been admitted due to exhaustion on Sunday. During his address, Kejriwal acknowledged the contribution of village defence committees in the government's fight against drugs.

He emphasised the importance of informing each family in villages about the parties that contributed to the drug problem in Punjab. "You must go to every family in every village and tell them who pushed Punjab into drugs -- Akali Dal, BJP and Congress. When these parties were in power, every family in Punjab was affected by drugs. They destroyed the youth, the families, and the future of Punjab," Kejriwal alleged. He urged people to avoid voting for these parties, warning that doing so could lead to Punjab "drowning in drugs once again. You must go to every household and tell them not to vote for these parties even by mistake, otherwise Punjab will again sink into drugs, he said. Kejriwal highlighted that for the first time, a government is taking serious steps against drug smugglers, including imprisoning them, demolishing their homes, and seizing their properties. "By God's grace, such a government has come. Under no circumstances should you vote for the other parties. This is the responsibility of the Village Defence Committees. We must go door-to-door and tell people. Very soon, our Punjab will become 'Rangla' Punjab and 'Nasha Mukta' Punjab," he said. The Punjab assembly elections are scheduled for 2027. Kejriwal noted that the anti-drug campaign 'Yudh Nashian Virudh' began on March 1, 2025. He recalled that initially, people were hesitant to share information about drug smugglers out of fear for their families' safety. "Last year, the Punjab police seized 2,000 kg of drugs, destroyed the properties of drug dealers, and arrested significant smugglers, which led to the people starting to believe that the AAP government is not scared of anything," Kejriwal said. Kejriwal said village defence committees (VDCs) composed of retired teachers, ex-servicemen, youth, and sarpanchs (village heads) are being formed. The VDCs will gather information on local drug activity while keeping the identities of informants confidential. The Punjab government has created a mobile app for this purpose. A VDC member can submit information through this app, and his identity will be kept confidential, he said. "One of the tasks is to provide information about those selling drugs so that the police can arrest them and send them to jail. The second is to ensure that those in the village, who are victims of drug addiction, are taken to the nearest centre for treatment," Kejriwal said regarding the VDCs. He encouraged the VDCs to take charge of making their villages drug-free, assuring them of the government's full support. Additionally, Kejriwal mentioned that the Mann government is constructing sports stadiums in every village for the youth. Addressing the gathering, Director General of Police Gaurav Yadav shared details about the anti-drug efforts initiated in March of last year, noting that over 34,000 FIRs had been filed and more than 45,000 individuals arrested. He said that over 2,000 kg of heroin was confiscated in 2025, accounting for 66 per cent of the total heroin seizures across the country that year.

The Great AI Race: India Must Decide Whether It Writes The Code, Or Lives By It

As India hosts the AI Impact Summit this week, artificial intelligence has ceased to be a mere technological frontier; it is now a theatre of geopolitical contestation. Much like nuclear technology during the Cold War, AI has moved to the heart of strategic competition. States are not merely investing in algorithms - they are investing in power. Economic primacy, military superiority, and societal control increasingly hinge on who shapes, trains, and governs intelligent systems. The transition from narrow AI applications to generative and autonomous systems has only intensified this urgency.

Unlike oil or territory, AI's strategic value lies in intangibles: data, computing power, talent, and algorithmic innovation. These are the new currencies of influence. Control over AI ecosystems - cloud infrastructure, semiconductor supply chains, regulatory standards - has become synonymous with digital sovereignty. The geopolitical map, therefore, is being redrawn not through shifting borders but through control of code and compute. In this emerging order, resilience is defined less by geography and more by technological depth.

Building On The Paris Summit

Building on the momentum of the 2025 AI Action Summit in Paris, the AI Impact Summit 2026 represents an expanded partnership between Paris and Delhi to shape the future of AI through inclusive, responsible, and impact-oriented collaboration. French President Emmanuel Macron's visit to India this week will be an important milestone in this partnership as the two nations inaugurate the India-France Year of Innovation 2026. The summit aims to transition from high-level principles to practical outcomes and partnerships, reinforcing India and France as co-leaders in global AI governance and innovation. The India-France AI partnership reflects a shared vision of leveraging technology for sustainable development, democratic values, and global digital governance, positioning both nations as influential actors in shaping the future of artificial intelligence. By aligning their approaches to responsible and inclusive AI, India and France are seeking to craft a middle path - one that safeguards democratic values while remaining globally competitive. In that sense, their collaboration is as much about shaping global governance debates as it is about fostering domestic innovation.

At the core of AI geopolitics lies great-power rivalry, most visibly between the United States and China. For Washington, technological leadership underpins its global pre-eminence; for Beijing, AI mastery is central to national rejuvenation. This is not merely an economic competition, even if the economic stakes are enormous. Estimates suggest AI could add trillions to global GDP, but the distribution of gains will be uneven, privileging those with advanced digital ecosystems. Technological leadership is, thus, inseparable from strategic leadership.

AI Is Everywhere

Security anxieties further sharpen this contest. AI enhances intelligence gathering, cyber capabilities, and autonomous weapons systems. The militarisation of machine learning is no longer speculative - it is underway. Export controls on advanced chips, restrictions on semiconductor supply chains, and tightening investment regimes are symptomatic of a broader technological decoupling. What is emerging resembles a digital Cold War, with competing blocs seeking self-sufficiency in critical technologies. Resources add another combustible layer. The hardware that powers AI depends on critical minerals - lithium, cobalt, rare earths - linking AI competition to the geopolitics of supply chains and energy transitions. At the same time, data itself is fragmenting along national lines, creating politically siloed digital ecosystems. The promise of a globally integrated internet is giving way to sovereign data regimes. Ideology cannot be divorced from this technological contest. Democratic systems emphasise transparency, privacy, and human rights in AI governance, while authoritarian regimes view AI as an instrument of state control and social management. Competing regulatory models are thus exporting competing political values.

What ChatGPT Is Now Doing With Your Darkest 'Secrets'

A friend in Delhi is involved in a fiery relationship with her self-declared "maverick" partner. She resorted to what modern urban Indians do when love turns, well, let's say, complicated, though it was more than complicated. She consulted relationship counsellors, life coaches, even a "mind game strategist". Never heard of that, but she explained they are available online and charge enormous sums by the hour. But nothing worked for her. Defeated, she decided to divert her attention and jumped onto the ChatGPT bandwagon. She signed up for it casually. At first, it was curiosity. Then it became routine. Slowly, she began sharing her relationship angst almost every day. She spilt everything. Her fears, her doubts, her insecurities, her jealousy, her hope that maybe she was overthinking it all. She did it, secure in the knowledge that she was safe, she won't be judged, and the conversations will remain confidential. A friend in Delhi is involved in a fiery relationship with her self-declared "maverick" partner. She resorted to what modern urban Indians do when love turns, well, let's say, complicated, though it was more than complicated. She consulted relationship counsellors, life coaches, even a "mind game strategist". Never heard of that, but she explained they are available online and charge enormous sums by the hour. But nothing worked for her. Defeated, she decided to divert her attention and jumped onto the ChatGPT bandwagon. She signed up for it casually. At first, it was curiosity. Then it became routine. Slowly, she began sharing her relationship angst almost every day. She spilt everything. Her fears, her doubts, her insecurities, her jealousy, her hope that maybe she was overthinking it all. A few days ago, she called me to say that she is really, really worried about ChatGPT introducing ads. What if one day, the same system that heard her cry about her failing relationship starts showing her ads for divorce lawyers? Or for couples therapy packages? Or medication for anxiety? She has now limited the use of ChatGPT only to research. As for her partner? That's another topic. The issue at hand right now is that her intimate relationship with ChatGPT is not unusual. For over three years now, millions across the world have been speaking to it, pouring their hearts out, almost as if they are speaking to their own subconscious. They have treated ChatGPT like a confidante. And one company - OpenAI - holds the keys to this vast digital locker. Inside it are not just data points, but patterns of fear, longing, ambition and despair. Mountains of human candour. That intimacy is now at the centre of a growing global debate.

AI Is Getting A Bit Too Personal

Before we move any further, let me say why I will mostly talk about ChatGPT in this column. In India's fast-expanding AI chatbot market, ChatGPT has become the default, everyday AI for students, job-seekers, creators and general users. It accounts for roughly 70-75% of total usage, with Google's Gemini a distant second and tools like Perplexity and Microsoft Copilot occupying much smaller places. Claude is niche, and its consumer share is estimated at just around 1%. My friend's worry is actually everyone's concern, as OpenAI has emailed millions of its users a privacy-policy update to say that it will start placing adverts in ChatGPT free and Go versions. OpenAI has informed users that personalisation will rely on signals, such as user interactions and chat context that remain within the system, and that new features, including contact syncing and age-prediction safeguards for younger users, are being introduced alongside clearer disclosures on how long data is stored and how it is processed. OpenAI claims conversations are not shared with advertisers, that ads will be clearly separated from responses and that marketers will see only aggregated performance data. Users, it adds, will retain control through settings. It appears to be an attempt to build a revenue model without repeating the mistakes of social media.

However, user anxiety is not misplaced. We have already seen in recent times how personal data collected for one purpose can later be used for political influence. Investigations, including by the UK Parliament, and multiple academic studies have shown that data harvested from Facebook was used to build detailed voter profiles and deliver highly personalised political messages during the 2016 US presidential election and the Brexit referendum. It indeed triggered worldwide concern about the influence of digital platforms on democracy.

The worry now is similar. If AI platforms hold the most intimate conversations of millions of people, what stops a future deal between a government, a political party or a large corporation and a technology company to use that behavioural insight to send customised political messaging or influence voters one individual at a time? This is not about what is happening today. It is about what could become possible once the data exists at that scale. In the end, trust will depend not on company assurances but on clear laws that make such use illegal and technically impossible.

High-Profile Resignations

In the past few days, two high-profile resignations from major artificial intelligence companies have highlighted concerns about where this technology is headed. Mrinank Sharma, who led the Safeguards Research Team at Anthropic - an American AI company based in San Francisco - resigned publicly, warning that the "world is in peril". Anthropic is best known for its chatbot called Claude, which competes directly with ChatGPT. The Wall Street Journal reported over the weekend that the US military used Claude during the operation in which Nicolás Maduro was captured in Venezuela. This is a high-profile example of how artificial intelligence is now being built into real military missions. Sharma's job was to ensure that these systems behaved safely and ethically.

Pak 'Impostors' To Jamaat Trolls: What's Going On With Bangladesh Social Media?

There's a lot of talk nowadays on 'cognitive warfare' in future wars and how hostile countries are likely to use it. In Bangladesh, it is happening in real time. Its elections witnessed unprecedented social media influence operations across platforms, dangerous in a country with 99% mobile penetration and an educated youth. The good part is that a watchful Bangladesh media called out those involved, naming and shaming many. The bad part is that the manipulation has already led to trouble after elections, with more to come. Who's Spending The Most It's not that social media use is unusual in political campaigning. It's just that this time, it was used across the board, with major parties spending an estimated Taka 2.5 crore on social media, primarily Facebook campaigns. A reputed tracking site, Who Targets Me, analysed Facebook and Instagram, among other platforms, and noted that the Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) had 234 pages, accounting for 54% of spending. It was closely followed by the Jamaat, which used 199 linked pages accounting for 38% of the total. Others were pretty much flat-lined. But examination of data shows that the largest single spends were from DailyNews24, which masquerades as a news organisation but is, in reality, a Jamaat organ. The second and fourth spenders are also Jamaat sites. Again, all this is generally acceptable, except that it points to a lot of money in Jamaat's hands. What is concerning, however, is data computed by The Daily Star on deepfakes, text, videos, photocards and a variety of tools used to spread 'news' bypassing traditional media. The BBC also noted highly sophisticated AI content showing 'news anchors' and uniformed 'officers' delivering highly slanted messages. One such clip was viewed 8 million times. Disinformation was rampant the whole day of the voting. Unsurprisingly, 65% was by entities that appear aligned with the Jamaat, according to The Daily Star's findings. As for the Awami League, it trailed at 21.2%, pro-BNP groups at 7%, and the National Citizen Party (NCP) at just

3%. That's surprising for a youthful segment, which would presumably have been the most competent to use social media. But then, the NCP seems to have been manipulated extensively. Its cadres won just five seats even as the Jamaat's student wing took university after university in elections. So, at least one factor that explains Jamaat's rise from some 11-odd seats to its record high of 68 is its huge social media 'outreach'. Even so, all this is in the past. What is worrying is the spate of disinformation that has continued post-elections. The Mayhem Continues Even as media on the ground warn of dangerous levels of street anger, a reputed fact-checking site has reported a surge in public opinion that the Jamaat was cheated out of elections. The basis for this were the alleged narrow margins between the BNP and Jamaat candidates; some said that at one place it was as low as 53 votes and that some 57 seats were 'stolen' from the party. Reliable fact-checks show no such narrow margins; even those seats where the vote gap was just around 5,000 were fewer than 22 in number. Ironically, even then, it was the BNP that suffered, not the Jamaat. The result of all this is that the Jamaat chief is being castigated for accepting an election purportedly manipulated by the 'deep state'. Unsurprisingly, Shafiqur Rehman noted hurt among his cadres and declared that the election was riddled with "inconsistencies" and that there was a lack of transparency from the Election Commission. In short, such 'cognitive' wars may end up throwing a political head into a dangerous situation, especially since the recipients of such content are mainly in the age group of 25-34 years, urban, and, in many cases, seething with anger. The Add-on: Hate Against India Add to all this a layer of anti-India networks. An analysis observes how outlets like Bangla Vision (506K subscribers) spread false rumours about India, even downgrading Op Sindoor in their content. The recently reopened Amar Des, run by publisher and editor Mahmudur Rehman - eulogised, oddly, in a Ghana news source - is also backing the 'Indian domination' narrative. Rehman, who returned recently from exile in Turkey after the Awami League had allegedly framed cases against him, was closely aligned with the July 24 uprising. His Facebook page, now seemingly rebranded as Political Lens (658K followers), recently put out reports about how Jamaat leaders' houses were torched by BNP workers. Overall, the anti-India sentiment in Bangladesh has, unsurprisingly, skyrocketed after the recent, entirely unnecessary, hysteria against Shah Rukh Khan and Mustafizur Rehman, wherein Jamaat handles effectively milked the incident to whip up anti-India anger.

'Team Rahul' And 'Team Priyanka': Inside Congress' Plans For Kerala And Assam

Disclaimer First: There is no such thing as Team Rahul or Team Priyanka within the Indian National Congress. What exists in reality is a blurred, imaginary line-up of Team Rahul and Team Priyanka Gandhi. They don't function at cross-purposes or differ on key ideological issues. However, in practice, they are often seen following slightly different 'chaal, chalan, chehra', as they say, from each other. The upcoming assembly polls this year in West Bengal, Assam, Tamil Nadu, Kerala and Puducherry are set to have a crucial bearing not only on the country's politics but also on the grand old party and its internal dynamics. To a discerning observer, the Congress line-up for Assam and Kerala is most interesting. The party's prospects of winning in Kerala are high, while in Assam, it is merely fancying its chances. Team Priyanka In Assam It may be a pure coincidence, but the Congress team for Assam is, in effect, Team Priyanka. She is the chairperson of the screening committee that will select 126 party candidates. The list of observers consists of DK Shivakumar and Bhupesh Baghel, both seen to be favourably inclined towards her. There were efforts to draft poll strategist Naresh Arora, too, in the Congress campaign, but the DesignBoxed head is said to be staying away from it for now. The All India Congress Committee (AICC) General Secretary in charge is Bhunwar Jitendra Singh, whose loyalty towards the Gandhi siblings is absolute. As a former Alwar maharaja, he is a wildlife enthusiast, which also brings him closer to Priyanka. Rahul Takes Kerala In Kerala, all key players, except for perhaps Sachin Pilot and Shashi Tharoor, can be classified as Team Rahul. To be sure, Sachin's stature within the Congress is tall, which prevents him from being projected into any team or camp. Tharoor had been focusing on his own brand of politics all this while, but of late, he has again aligned with the rest of the Kerala Congress to shore up the party's prospects. Karnataka Minister KJ George, Rajya Sabha MP Imran Pratapgarhi and party leader Kanhaiya Kumar are other observers for the Kerala assembly polls. Team Rahul is fully and solely represented by KC Venugopal, who himself loves being Rahul's eyes and ears. While Ramesh Chennithala is a strong contender for the Chief Minister's post, Venugopal is hoping to upstage him with the help of Rahul. Regardless of whether Venugopal becomes Chief Minister of Kerala or not, old-timers within the grand old party wonder why the Assam and Kerala polls are being seen through the lens of Priyanka and Rahul camps. Is there a design that the Gandhi siblings failed to see? The Assam Muddle As many survey agencies indicate, Congress is expected to come back to power in Kerala, while there is a big, big question mark over it being able to dislodge the Himanta Biswa Sarma-led Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) government in Assam. In any case, the party has been caught in an awkward muddle in Assam in the wake of an avalanche of 'resignations' and 'revolts' in the state unit. The former state party chief, Bhupen Borah, has threatened to join the BJP in spite of Priyanka Gandhi's efforts to retain him. Borah had been in touch with Assam Chief Minister Himanta Biswa Sarma even when he was heading the Assam Pradesh Congress Committee (APCC). The buzz is that he has been offered a ministerial berth by Sarma in the next government. On the other hand, a number of Muslim MLAs and leaders who are being denied assembly tickets are queuing up outside the Rajjor Dol office. Party insiders attribute this to AICC General Secretary Bhunwar Jitendra Singh's over-reliance on party MP Rakibul Hasan, who is increasingly turning unpopular among Muslim leaders. The failure to set up a subcommittee to look into alliances is also proving costly. It seems Jitendra Singh is more focused on bagging a Rajya Sabha berth from his home state, Rajasthan, rather than committing his body and spirit to the Assam contest. Who Gains, Who Loses If the Congress wins in Kerala, Rahul's close lieutenants - everyone from Venugopal and KJ George to Kanhaiya Kumar - stand to gain from it.

Karnataka to Produce 500 Airbus Helicopters in 20 Years

Vemagal (Kolara): As many as 500 H125 light helicopters will be manufactured over the next 20 years at the country's first private-sector helicopter assembly facility, jointly developed by France-based Airbus and India's Tata Advanced Systems Limited (TASL). The commencement of operations marks a historic milestone for the State, said Large and Medium Industries Minister M B Patil. He was speaking on Tuesday at the inauguration of the new facility.

Ramamohan Naidu, France's Minister for the Armed Forces Catherine Vautrin, and Member of Parliament Malleesh Babu were present at the Vemagal facility.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and French President Emmanuel Macron virtually inaugurated the unit from Lok Bhavan in Maharashtra.

On the occasion, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, Civil Aviation Minister K.

Addressing the gathering, Patil said that 17 acres of land had been allotted for the project soon after he assumed office as Industries Minister. It is heartening that the facility has been completed and inaugurated within a record time of one-and-a-half years, he noted.

Swift approvals, effective inter-departmental coordination, infrastructure readiness and active engagement with industry partners ensured the timely implementation of this landmark initiative, he added.

After France, the United States and Brazil, Karnataka has now become home to the world's fourth H125 helicopter manufacturing and Final Assembly Line (FAL) facility, a development that will further strengthen the aerospace ecosystem in the State. The establishment of a Maintenance, Repair and Overhaul (MRO) facility alongside it reflects Karnataka's industry-friendly environment, he said.

Initially, the unit will manufacture 10 helicopters per year, with plans to scale up production to 500 light helicopters over the next two decades. The facility will undertake several critical activities, including the integration of avionics, hydraulic circuits, components, fuel systems and engines. The Minister described it as a matter of pride that Karnataka secured the prestigious project despite stiff competition from Andhra Pradesh, Uttar Pradesh and Gujarat. Airbus commands nearly 80 per cent of the global market share in the single-engine helicopter segment, with around 4,300 helicopters currently in operation worldwide.

These aircraft have collectively logged over 38 million flying hours. Patil said the State possesses the required reliability and engineering expertise for manufacturing H125 helicopters and reaffirmed the Government's commitment to working closely with the Centre to further develop the sector.

ALLEN Bengaluru students achieves 99.99+ Percentile in JEE Main January 2026

Bengaluru. National Testing Agency (NTA) has released the result of JEE Main 2026 January session. In the results, three students of ALLEN Bengaluru have scored 99.99+ percentile in JEE Main 2026 January Session results.

Allen Career Institute, Zonal Head, South Zone, Mahesh Yadav, informed that Allen Career Institute Bengaluru has scripted a landmark triumph in JEE Main 2026 January session results. He announced that Nathan Jais, Sidharth Ramanath and Shiv Mehra from ALLEN Bengaluru have scored impressive score of 99.9954725 percentile, 99.9952667 and 99.9923275 percentile respectively. Nathan has also scored 100 percentile in Physics and Mathematics.

In a remarkable display of academic brilliance and strategic mentoring, 37 students from ALLEN Bengaluru centre have achieved 99.90+ percentile in JEE Main 2026 January session results. "This achievement is a testament to the relentless pursuit of excellence demonstrated by our students, the steadfast encouragement of parents, and the tireless commitment of our faculty", said Mahesh Yadav. ALLEN Bengaluru celebrated the achievement with students, parents and faculty members, marking a proud moment for the city.

On his feat in JEE Main 2026 January Session, Nathan Jais said that "Qualifying JEE Main 2026 with a top percentile feels like a dream come true. My journey became structured and focused after joining ALLEN Bengaluru. The disciplined study plan, regular tests, and detailed performance analysis sharpened my concepts. This success is not just mine—it's a reflection of the right mentorship, strategy, and support system I received."

In National results, Nitin Kukreja, CEO of ALLEN Career Institute, stated that ALLEN has once again demonstrated its academic excellence in the results of JEE Main 2026. A total of 12 students across the country have been declared overall 100 percentile scorers, out of which 8 students are from ALLEN's classroom programs. ALLEN Kota classroom student Kabeer Chhillar secured a perfect score of 300 out of 300 along with 100 percentile. Meanwhile, classroom course students Arnav Gautam, Shubham Kumar, Bhavesh Patra, Anay Jain, Nimy Purohit, and Chiranjib Kar have also achieved 100 percentile scores. Shreyas Mishra from Allen Online recorded & Test series course also achieved 100 percentile score.

Mahadevappa is a big leader, party will decide: Shivakumar

Bengaluru: Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar on Tuesday described Minister H.C. Mahadevappa as a "big leader" and stated that the party high command will take a call on him, amid speculations over the latter's recent remarks on power sharing. Speaking to reporters, Shivakumar declined to comment directly on Mahadevappa's statements, saying the Chief Minister and the high command would address them. "Mahadevappa is a big man and now he is also part of the high command. I don't want to talk about it, the party will decide," he said.

On the leadership question, Shivakumar reiterated that the high command, along with Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and himself, would decide. "This is not a secretive deal. Siddaramaiah himself will give the message to the people when the time comes," he added.

Responding to BJP's criticism over allotment of government land for Congress party offices, Shivakumar accused the previous BJP government of granting hundreds of acres to trusts, including Chanakya University and the RSS office, at concessional rates.

Prove Kogilu Are Bangla Residents or Clarify: Ashok to Govt

Bengaluru: Opposition Leader R. Ashok has demanded that the Congress government provide clarity on the status of residents at Kogilu Cross, claiming they have been "proven" to be from Bangladesh.

Speaking to reporters, Ashok alleged that during his previous visit to Kogilu Cross, it was established that the residents were Bangladeshi nationals. He accused the Congress government of bowing to pressure from its leadership and announcing housing for them to gain Muslim votes ahead of the Kerala elections.

"The Housing Minister had said houses would be provided immediately. Now it has come to light that they are all frauds," Ashok said, referring to previous statements by Minister B.Z. Zameer Ahmed Khan that most evicted families were local residents.

Ashok asserted that the BJP's protests prevented land worth 300 crore from being allotted to "Bangla residents." He also alleged that an officer who assisted Congress in the MUDA scam investigation had been rewarded with a key posting to cover up the case. The opposition leader urged the government to conduct inspections across areas suspected of harboring illegal migrants. Earlier, the BJP had submitted a fact-finding report to the Governor expressing suspicion that many Kogilu families were from Bangladesh, though it provided no conclusive documents. The government has maintained that multi-department verification is ongoing and no houses will be allotted until eligibility is confirmed.

Minister Zameer Ahmed Khan inaugurated the new Arafat Mosque in Padarayanapura, Chamrajpet. The mosque head, KMCD President Altaf Khan, and leaders Afzal were present.

AI-Powered Parking System Nears Completion at K.R. Market

Bengaluru: An advanced AI-enabled parking system is set to transform vehicle management at K.R. Market, with 90 percent of the work already completed, according to Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) Chief Commissioner Tushar Giri Nath (Maheshwar Rao). During an inspection visit to the bustling market on Tuesday, the Chief Commissioner directed officials to expedite the remaining work and make the facility available for public use at the earliest.

The basement parking project, developed by Right Parking Company, will accommodate 400 two-wheelers and 200 cars. It features 67 AI-based cameras to track vehicle entry and exit in real time, alongside 12 alarm systems for enhanced safety. A proper drainage system has been installed to prevent rainwater accumulation, while electrical connections and fire safety measures are already in place. Rao also emphasized the need for continuous cleanliness around the market premises. He instructed officials to repair the first-floor toilet facility, which is currently non-operational, to ensure citizen convenience. Officials from the engineering, police, and revenue departments have been directed to hold weekly coordination meetings to ensure smooth parking management.

Sri Chaitanya Academy Expands in Bengaluru with Two New Test Prep Centres

Bengaluru, February 17: Sri Chaitanya Academy - an Infinity Learn initiative - has launched two new Test Prep Centres in HSR Layout and Yelahanka, expanding its footprint to five centres in the city. The centres were inaugurated by Transport Minister Ramalinga Reddy and MP Tejasvi Surya.

The expansion aims to provide Bengaluru students with access to quality coaching for competitive exams like JEE Main, JEE Advanced, and NEET without requiring them to leave their hometowns. The centres will offer specialized coaching for JEE and NEET aspirants, along with Foundation Courses for students in grades 8, 9, and 10. Ms. Sushma Boppana, CEO and Director of Sri Chaitanya Group, highlighted the organization's 40-year legacy and its historic achievement of securing AIR 1s in JEE Main, JEE Advanced, and NEET in 2023. "This expansion embodies our vision of creating a dynamic learning environment and shaping a progressive future for Bengaluru's educational landscape," she said.

Ujjwal Singh, Founding CEO of Infinity Learn, emphasized the focus on personalized guidance and conceptual clarity, driven by the motto 'Baachha Seekha Ki Nah'. The centres feature AI-driven personalized learning tools, well-equipped libraries, practice labs, and experienced faculty. Sri Chaitanya Academy now operates five Test Prep Centres across Bengaluru, strengthening its position as a leader in JEE and NEET coaching while enabling students to access quality education locally.

Bengaluru's BWSSB Sets Global Benchmark in AI-Powered Water Management

NEW DELHI / BENGALURU: BWSSB has emerged as a global model for integrating Artificial Intelligence (AI) into urban water management, stated Dr. Ram Prasath Manohar V, IAS, Chairman of the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) and Managing Director, KPCTCL.

Addressing a global audience at the prestigious AI Impact Summit 2026 held at Bharat Mandapam in New Delhi, Dr. Manohar participated in a high-level panel discussion titled "From Models to the Masses: Deploying AI for Climate Resilience." He detailed BWSSB's rapid transition from a traditional utility provider to a smart, data-driven organization that uses technology to ensure water security for millions.

"By deploying AI tools across our pumping stations and STPs, we have optimized operations to achieve annual energy savings exceeding 40 Crore. This is not just a financial victory but a significant environmental one, as we have drastically reduced our carbon footprint," Dr. Manohar stated.

Tech-Driven War on Wastage
Addressing the critical challenge of Non-Revenue Water (NRW), the Chairman announced that the Board has moved beyond manual inspection to high-tech solutions. He explained that the deployment of AI-enabled Robotics is a game-changer in the Board's war on wastage. "We are now using advanced robotics to detect leakages and identify illegal connections with precision," Dr. Manohar said. "This shift from reactive to predictive maintenance allows us to save precious water that was previously lost to leakages, ensuring it reaches the citizens who need it most."

Science-Backed Groundwater Security
Dr. Manohar also detailed a strategic collaboration with the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) to bring scientific rigour to the city's water replenishment efforts.

"We have deployed AI-enabled IoT sensors to monitor groundwater levels in real-time," he explained. "This ensures that our massive initiative to fill 40 lakes with treated water is scientifically tracked. We are not just filling lakes; we are measuring the ecological impact and the recovery of the water table with precise data."

Future-Ready Infrastructure and Leadership
Outlining the roadmap for the immediate future, the Chairman mentioned the proposed implementation of AI-enabled smart water meters for bulk consumers to ensure accurate billing and demand management. He also announced a major milestone for the city's water infrastructure: the upcoming commissioning of an Advanced AI-Integrated Comprehensive SCADA Management System, which is scheduled to be inaugurated in the coming weeks by the Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar.

Dr. Manohar attributed these rapid advancements to the state's political will. "This technology-driven transformation is being aggressively pushed under the visionary leadership of our Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Hon'ble Deputy Chief Minister D K Shivkumar. Their unwavering support for leveraging technology to benefit the common man has made Bengaluru a pioneer in urban water security," he affirmed.

The session featured prominent global experts, including representatives from Google DeepMind, IIT Delhi, and the Council on Energy, Environment and Water (CEEW).

Paradise "Jashn-e-Haleem 2026" - Hyderabad's Most Awaited Seasonal Foodfest Back In Bangalore

Bangalore: Paradise's 'Jashn-e-Haleem 2026' is back in town to treat the denizens of Bangalore with the most cherished Hyderabad Haleem from the kitchen of Paradise - the most loved outlet for Hyderabadi cuisine. Following the overwhelmingly positive response of the previous year, Jashn-e-Haleem food fest is now live across all Paradise outlets for dine-in, takeaway, and online ordering on Swiggy and Zomato.

For decades, Paradise Haleem has been more than a dish - it has been a ritual that signals the start of the festive season in the city. Crafted using 29 carefully selected ingredients, premium ghee, and slow-cooked mutton, the Haleem continues to be prepared using time-honoured methods that deliver the unmistakable depth, richness, and consistency that customers associate with the brand. Behind every serving lies a meticulous, end-to-end commitment to quality and uncompromising food standards. From sourcing and preparation to final service, each batch undergoes stringent checks to ensure that every bowl meets Paradise's benchmark for taste, hygiene, and authentic flavour.

Besides Mutton Haleem, Paradise's latest highlight is their specially prepared Chicken Haleem, offering guests another way to enjoy the same iconic Paradise flavour. Mr. Abhik Mitra, MD & CEO, Paradise Food Court Pvt. Ltd., said "At Paradise, Jashn-e-Haleem is not just a seasonal launch - it is an emotion that brings people together year after year. Every bowl represents our commitment to authenticity, consistency, and the culinary legacy we have built over decades"

Mr. Robinder Singh, COO, Paradise, added "People of Bangalore loved the Paradise Haleem Festival last year and just as Hyderabadi look forward to it, so are Bangaloreans counting the days to the fest because they bond over good food and spend quality time together. They can now relish the most delicious Hyderabad haleem with their loved ones right in Bangalore from today" Mr. Swatantra Gautam, Vice President - Culinary, Paradise, said "Our Haleem is the result of meticulous preparation, premium ingredients, and culinary precision. Maintaining the same signature taste across batches and outlets is a responsibility we take very seriously, and that consistency is what keeps customers coming back every year." The food chain has acquired its place in the Limca Book of Records for 'Most Biryani Served In A Year'. Paradise has 11 stores currently and plans to scale up to 20 to 22 stores in Bangalore by end of 2026. In 2017, Paradise catered over 70 lakh servings of biryani, and in 2018, the numbers crossed over 90 lakh. Paradise won Biryani Restaurant of the year 2025 and Best Restaurant chain of the year 2025 at Hospitality Excellence Awards, Restaurant serving the best Hyderabadi Biryani-South India and Best Restaurant chain of the year at Food Connoisseurs Convention 2026.

Union policies push additional burden of nearly Rs. 50,000 Crore on TN: Interim Budget

The State government said GST rate rationalisation was approved by the GST Council without adequately addressing the concerns of States, resulting in an estimated revenue shortfall of around Rs. 9,600 crore for Tamil Nadu this year

CHENNAI: The Tamil Nadu government, in its Interim Budget for 2026-27, has outlined nine major fiscal challenges arising from policies of the BJP-led Union government, stating that the State has been compelled to shoulder an additional burden of Rs. 49,881 crore.

A significant portion of this burden relates to the Tamil Nadu Power Distribution Corporation Limited (TNPDDL). Invoking Article 293 of the Constitution, the Union government has mandated the State to provide Rs. 16,290 crore towards loss funding for TNPDDL. However, the actual loss of the power utility stands at Rs. 413 crore, leaving the State to bear an additional burden of Rs. 15,877 crore in the current financial year. Another major strain stems from GST-related issues and the Chennai Metro Rail Phase-II project. The State government said GST rate rationalisation tion was approved by the GST Council without adequately addressing the concerns of States, resulting in an estimated revenue shortfall of around Rs. 9,600 crore for Tamil Nadu this year. In addition, the State has incurred nearly Rs. 9,500 crore towards what it termed the Union government's share in the Metro Rail project.

The budget also highlighted pending Union dues of Rs. 8,906 crore under schemes such as Samagra Shiksha, the Jal Jeevan Mission and Finance Commission grants. Further, deductions and reductions in IGST settlements and the State's share of Central taxes have resulted in additional burdens of Rs. 1,790 crore and Rs. 1,202 crore respectively.

The Union government has also mandated that 5 per cent of outstanding guarantees be maintained in the Guarantee Redemption Fund (GRF), leading to an unbudgeted expenditure of Rs. 3,087 crore in the current year.

Reflecting these presures, the State's Own Tax Revenue (SOTR) has been revised downward to Rs. 2,06,540 crore from the original estimate of Rs. 2,20,895 crore for 2025-26. Meanwhile, revenue expenditure has risen to Rs. 3,78,917 crore from the budget estimate of Rs. 3,73,204 crore, partly due to Pongal disbursements and the advance release of Kalaigal Magalir Urimai Thogai (KMUT) benefits amounting to Rs. 10,849 crore. As a result, the revenue deficit is now estimated at Rs. 69,219 crore in the revised estimates, compared to Rs. 41,635 crore in the Budget estimates. Total revenue receipts have also been revised to Rs. 3,09,698 crore from the earlier estimate of Rs. 3,31,569 crore. The State government maintained in the budget document that, but for the fiscal challenges created by the Union government, the revenue deficit could have been contained in line with the original estimates.

Rs 374 crore allocated for major riverfront development projects across five Tamil Nadu cities

CHENNAI: In a significant push towards urban rejuvenation and environmental protection, the Tamil Nadu government has allocated Rs 374 crore for riverfront development projects in five major municipal corporations, aiming to transform riverbanks with modern amenities while preventing sewage discharge into water bodies.

Presenting the Interim Budget, Tamil Nadu Finance Minister Thangam Thennarasu announced that riverfront development works will be undertaken in Tiruchirappalli, Madurai, Erode, Coimbatore, and Tirunelveli at a total cost of Rs 374 crore. The projects will cover key rivers including the Cauvery, Vaigai, Noyyal, and Thamirabarani.

The initiative focuses on improving urban infrastructure along riverbanks by establishing sewage treatment plants to prevent the direct discharge of wastewater into rivers. The plan also includes the development of commercial spaces, installation of modern street lighting, and creation of aesthetically designed parks to enhance public spaces.

The announcement was part of a broader water resource and infrastructure push outlined in the Interim Budget.

The minister highlighted that over the past five years, 87 Combined Drinking Water Supply Schemes have been completed at a cost of Rs 15,591 crore, benefiting 1.65 crore people. Additionally, the government is implementing the Rs 3,109 crore Ring Main Pipeline Project to ensure equitable water distribution across Chennai. The 150 MLD Nemmeli Desalination Plant has been inaugurated, while works for the 400 MLD Perur Desalination Project are progressing rapidly. The riverfront projects are expected to boost tourism, improve environmental sustainability, and enhance the quality of life in urban areas.

BJP flays Tamil Nadu Interim Budget as empty document, accuses DMK of fiscal mismanagement

CHENNAI: The BJP state unit on Tuesday flayed the State's Interim Budget, terming it an empty document and accusing the ruling DMK of financial mismanagement, broken promises and administrative indifference. State BJP president Nainar Nagenthran dismissed the Budget outright. "What was presented today is not the DMK government's interim budget, but a document of hollow pride. For people who have grown used to disappointment over the past five years, this too is nothing new. Change is not far away," he said. Senior BJP leader Tamilisai Soundararajan took a swipe at the timing of the presentation. "Claiming to be rationalists, they chose an auspicious hour on Amavasya to present the Interim Budget. The people who feel betrayed are calling this the DMK's final Budget. After making false promises, raising all taxes and burdening people with debt, DMK ministers are unable to account for the money collected and are hiding behind the law," she alleged.

Lemon fetches Rs 13,000 at auction in Erode temple

ERODE: A lemon fetched Rs 13,000 at an auction held as part of the Maha Shivaratri celebrations at the Pazhamthinni Karuppa Eswaran temple in this district, authorities said. The temple, located at Pudu Annamalai Palayam near Vilakkethi village, conducted special pujas between 6 pm and 8.30 pm on Monday, drawing thousands of devotees.

33,000, while the silver coin was auctioned to Durai of Athappampalayam village for Rs 43,000.

Temple organisers said the proceeds from the auction would be utilised for the temple's development and for conducting special pujas. They added that the annual auction consistently attracts enthusiastic participation from devotees.

Following the rituals, a silver ring, a silver coin and a lemon that had adorned the presiding deity were put up for an auction. Viswanathan of Vadugapatti village secured the lemon with a bid of Rs 13,000. A resident, Paramasivam, purchased the silver ring for Rs

TN allocates Rs. 1996 crore for labour welfare and skill development

CHENNAI: The State government has allocated Rs. 1996 crore to the Labour Welfare and Skill Development department in the 2026-27 interim budget. The announcements largely continue existing welfare and skill development programmes, with no major new structural initiatives outlined in the labour sector.

The budget said 41 Industrial Training Institutes (ITIs) have been established with an allocation of Rs.298 crore. Further, 71 ITIs have been upgraded into Industry 4.0 Technology Centres at a cost of Rs. 2877 crore to support training in advanced and technology-driven sectors.

On labour welfare, the government said Rs. 3397 crore has been disbursed over the past five years to 38.62 lakh unorganised workers.

The measures include health check-ups and issuance of health cards to construction workers above 40 years registered with the Construction workers welfare board. In the fire-works sector, families of workers who die in workplace accidents are being provided monthly maintenance assistance and educational support for children up to the age of 18, the budget noted. The government also highlighted welfare measures for gig workers. Under the Tamil Nadu Platform-Based Gig Workers Welfare Board, a subsidy of Rs. 20000 is being provided to 2,000 workers to purchase electric two-wheelers.

60-foot temple chariot topples at Vellore Mayana Kollai Festival; 7 injured

CHENNAI: Vellore witnessed a major accident at the Mayana Kollai festival on Monday when a 60-foot-high temple chariot toppled during the festivities, injuring at least seven people. The injured were rushed to a nearby private hospital and are receiving treatment. According to a Maalaimalar report, the festival, held in Katpadi and surrounding areas, involved a procession where the decorated chariot carrying the deity was brought from the evening onwards to the Palar River near Vellore New Bus Stand. After ceremonial rituals, the chariots began returning to their respec-

At around 11:40 pm, the chariot from Kazhinjur, about 60 feet tall, was moving from the river area toward the overpass road after the evening rituals when it suddenly tilted and collapsed. More than 10 people riding on the chariot got trapped underneath and raised cries for help. Police, firefighters, and local residents immediately intervened to rescue them. Following the incident, Vellore District Collector Subbulakshmi and Police Superintendent Sivaraman visited the site to assess the situation and conduct an investigation. The accident caused panic in the area and disrupted the festival proceedings.

Intermittent fasting no better than traditional diets for weight loss: Review

London, Feb 16: Intermittent fasting is no more effective for weight loss than conventional calorie-controlled diets and offers only modest benefits compared to doing nothing at all, according to a major global review of scientific studies. Researchers analysed data from 22 randomised clinical trials involving 1,995 adults across Europe, North America, China, Australia and South America. The review, conducted by the Cochrane collaboration, found that people who are overweight or living with obesity lost similar amounts of weight whether they followed intermittent fasting plans or traditional dietary advice.

Hospital of Buenos Aires in Argentina. "It likely yields results similar to traditional dietary approaches. It doesn't appear clearly better, but it's not worse either."

Beyond modest weight loss, researchers found no strong evidence that intermittent fasting improved quality of life more than other diets. Many of the studies were short-term and varied in quality, making it difficult to draw firm conclusions about long-term health benefits. Intermittent fasting — which involves restricting food intake to certain hours of the day or fasting on specific days — has grown in popularity amid claims it can improve physical and cognitive health, enhance metabolism and even slow ageing.

Dr Zhila Semnani-Azad of the National University of Singapore said the impact of fasting may depend on timing, given the close link between circadian rhythms and metabolism. Animal studies suggest fasting may improve insulin sensitivity, reduce inflammation and oxidative stress, and trigger autophagy — the body's internal recycling process linked to ageing and longevity. However, she noted that the lack of a universal definition of intermittent fasting complicates efforts to evaluate its true effects.

Maik Pietzner, professor of health data modelling at the Berlin Institute of Health at Charité, said he was surprised the weight loss difference compared to no diet was so small, though the findings align with evidence that people may reduce physical activity while fasting. He added that significant biological changes may require longer fasting periods, citing research showing measurable protein changes in blood only after several days of complete fasting.

"If people feel better on such diet regimens, I wouldn't stop them," Pietzner said. "But there is no robust evidence for positive effects beyond a possible moderate weight loss. Our bodies can cope well with food scarcity, but that doesn't necessarily mean we perform better because of it." The authors stressed that while intermittent fasting can be a viable option for some individuals, it should not be viewed as superior to balanced, sustainable dietary approaches for long-term weight management.

Personalised healthcare key to tackling rising lifestyle diseases in India: Wellness expert

New Delhi, Feb 17: Amid a sharp rise in lifestyle-related ailments across the country, a leading wellness expert has called for a shift from generic health advice to personalised, science-backed interventions, warning that outdated beliefs continue to undermine long-term wellbeing. Dr Sajeev Nair, founder of Vieroots Wellness Solutions, said India's traditional understanding of "healthy living" — a mix of ancestral practices and modern fitness trends — has failed to curb the growing burden of chronic diseases.

"We are still following a one-size-fits-all approach at a time when science offers clear tools for personalisation. Many common health myths are silently sabotaging our collective longevity," he stated.

He outlined five widely held misconceptions that need urgent correction:

Metabolism is the same for everyone

According to Dr Nair, metabolic rates differ from person to person. Comparing fitness outcomes with others can be misleading, as a diet or exercise routine that benefits one individual may trigger blood sugar spikes or inflammation in another. Ignoring such differences can lead to metabolic stress, chronic fatigue and unexpected weight gain.

Wearables and health apps are mere fads

Dismissing wearable devices as tech gimmicks is another misconception, he said. These tools provide real-time biofeedback, tracking indicators such as heart rate variability, sleep patterns and stress responses. Such data enables individuals to understand how daily habits impact their internal biology.

Precision nutrition is not practical

While some view precision nutrition as futuristic, Dr Nair emphasised that personalised dietary planning based on scientific data is already a reality. He criticised "diet-of-the-month" trends, noting that nutritional needs vary according to biochemical individuality. Tailored nutrition, he said, is essential for sustainable health.

Weight loss depends only on calorie control

The belief that weight loss is purely about "eating less and moving more" oversimplifies a complex process. Genetic factors influence fat storage, hunger signals and metabolic efficiency. DNA-based weight management programmes, he explained, help individuals align strategies with their biological predispositions.

Lifestyle diseases are inevitable with age

The most dangerous myth, he warned, is the assumption that conditions such as diabetes and hypertension are unavoidable or can only be treated after symptoms appear. In reality, these diseases develop gradually over years. Early identification of epigenetic triggers — lifestyle factors that activate harmful genes — allows for timely preventive action. With India facing an escalating health crisis linked to sedentary lifestyles and poor dietary habits, experts stress that personalised, data-driven healthcare may be crucial in reversing the trend and improving long-term public health outcomes.

World's largest AI summit opens to packed halls in Delhi

New Delhi: The world's largest artificial intelligence (AI) summit opened to packed halls and long queues on Monday, February 16, as tech moguls, industry leaders, policymakers, founders, and technologists thronged the venue for the conference, where India is set to push for widening access to AI and seek international agreement on global AI commons. With huge billboards around the city welcoming delegates, speakers and guests at the AI Impact Summit, Bharat Mandapam saw long queues much before the conference opened at 9:30 am, signalling the interest in the subject and the conference. The enthusiasm was high despite the fact that the high-profile speakers – from Sundar Pichai of Alphabet to Sam Altman of OpenAI and Dario Amodei of Anthropic – haven't even arrived in the country. Their sessions start not before Wednesday, February 18. Final two days of the Summit – February 19 and 20 – will see more than 20 heads of state and government, including France's Emmanuel Macron and Brazil's Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva, along with Indian Prime Minister Narendra

Modi, talking about the future of AI alongside business leaders and investors. A team of PTI reporters on the ground saw long queues outside the halls that are hosting different sessions. There were some logistics issues, but the conference was orderly and well organised. Registrations exceeded expectations. Multiple parallel sessions are happening at the same time, and all of them are packed to capacity. From February 16 to 20, the summit will feature over 3,250 speakers and more than 500 sessions. "Sessions are packed. There are long queues, and once the halls fill up, doors are closed, which creates some hassle for those still waiting outside," an enthusiastic participant said. "You have to be there for a session well in advance. One cannot float around from session to session like in other conferences." Another person said an interesting line-up of speakers is drawing huge crowds. "There is a lot of buzz around AI." Organisers said registrations exceeded expectations, reflecting accelerating interest in AI infrastructure, enterprise adoption and sovereign compute capabilities.

Panel discussions on the future of employability in the age of AI, skilling, safe and trusted AI at scale, AI governance and infrastructure, generative AI deployment, and public sector use cases drew standing-room-only audiences, with participants crowding corridors between sessions to network and exchange ideas. Google, OpenAI, Amazon, among others at the expo An expo where the who's who of the tech industry – from Google to Nvidia, Amazon, Meta, OpenAI and Microsoft, besides homegrown giants – put on display innovations on AI is held alongside. Focused on AI's transformative impact, it includes 300+ exhibitions, 13 country pavilions, and addresses themes of People, Planet, and Progress. The summit offers India not just a chance to showcase its vast tech-savvy population and engineering talent but also to push for democratizing AI access to the global south. Besides wider access to AI, New Delhi may also seek international agreement on 'global AI commons' or a repository of use cases for AI in key sectors that can be shared. Summit focused on expanding AI technologies, digital infrastructure, and more. The United Kingdom hosted the first AI Summit in 2023 that focused on AI safety and extreme risks. The next edition in France in 2025 saw trumpeting big investments in the tech sector. For Prime Minister Modi, it offers an opportunity to showcase the impressive digital infrastructure and tech prowess that has attracted the likes of OpenAI and Anthropic to set up operations in the country, as well as an array of data centre commitments by giants such as Amazon, Google and Microsoft.

Hyatt Hotels chairman steps down over Jeffrey Epstein ties

Billionaire Thomas Pritzker says he has retired as the Hyatt Hotels chairman, after his ties with Jeffrey Epstein surfaced in the latest files released by the US Department of Justice. He said in a statement on Monday that he had exercised "terrible judgement" in maintaining contact with the convicted sex offender. Recently released files showed that Pritzker was in regular contact with Epstein in the years after the financier's 2008 plea deal on sex crime charges. Pritzker is the latest business figure to face scrutiny after the release of files showing the extent of Epstein's network of high-profile elites. Pritzker, who has held the role of executive chairman at the global hotel chain since 2004, said he decided to step down after discussions with fellow board members and would not stand for re-election. "My job and responsibility is to provide good stewardship... Good stewardship includes ensuring a proper transition at Hyatt", said Pritzker, the billionaire heir to the hotel chain's fortune. He said: "Good stewardship also means protecting Hyatt, particularly in the context of my association with Jeffrey Epstein and Ghislaine Maxwell which I deeply regret." Maxwell was convicted in 2021 for her role in luring underage girls for Epstein. He was convicted in 2008 for soliciting prostitution from a child and died while in custody facing sex trafficking charges in 2019. Pritzker said he condemned the actions of the pair, adding: "There is no excuse for failing to distance myself sooner." His statement was paired with a letter to the board, in which Pritzker points out that he will be 76 this year and that the company is in a "strong and sustainable position" with the strength to thrive. He does not mention his links to Epstein or Maxwell in his letter to the board. The board named Mark Hoptamzian, Hyatt's president and chief executive, to take over from Pritzker as chairman. Hoptamzian said Pritzker's decision "reflects his stewardship and strong commitment" to Hyatt over decades of service. The release of the Epstein files has revealed the financier's ties to numerous prominent figures in politics, business and academia, many of whom are facing scrutiny. There is no suggestion that appearing in the documents suggests any wrongdoing. Earlier this month, Goldman Sachs' top lawyer, Kathy Rummeler, announced she would leave the company after emails in the latest tranche of Epstein documents showed she had a close relationship with the financier.

INFOSYS STOCK RISES OVER 3 PC AFTER STRATEGIC TIE-UP WITH ANTHROPIC

New Delhi: Shares of IT major Infosys rose more than 3 per cent on Tuesday, February 17, after the company said it has entered into a strategic collaboration with Anthropic to develop and deliver advanced enterprise artificial intelligence (AI) solutions. On the BSE, the scrip of company increased 3.27 per cent to Rs 1,410.95 per piece. Markets are trading in the positive territory, with the 30-share BSE Sensex rising 126.19 points, or 0.15 per cent, to 83,403.34. BSE-focused IT index gained 1.45 per cent, with Infosys emerging as the top performer. Markets are trading in the positive territory, with the 30-share BSE Sensex rising 126.19 points, or 0.15 per cent, to 83,403.34. Infosys on Tuesday announced a strategic collaboration with Anthropic, an AI safety and research company, to develop and deliver advanced enterprise AI solutions to companies across telecommunications, financial services, manufacturing, and software development. The Bengaluru-based Infosys said the collaboration with Anthropic will focus initially on the telecommunications sector through a dedicated Anthropic Center of Excellence to build and deploy AI agents tailored to industry-specific operations. The partnership will further expanded across industries, including financial services, manufacturing, and software development, the company said in a regulatory filing. At its core, the strategic alliance integrates Anthropic's Claude models, including Claude Code, with Infosys Topaz AI offerings to help enterprises automate workflows, accelerate software delivery, and adopt AI with governance and transparency for regulated industries. The collaboration will also help organisations modernise legacy systems, combining Infosys Topaz and Claude to accelerate migration and reduce the cost of updating aging infrastructure, it added. "Our collaboration with Anthropic marks a strategic leap toward advancing enterprise AI, enabling organisations to unlock value and become more intelligent, resilient, and responsible,"

Saili Parekh, Chief Executive Officer, Infosys said. Anthropic Co-Founder and CEO Dario Amodei said, "Infosys has exactly that kind of expertise across important industries: telecom, financial services, and manufacturing. Their developers are already using Claude Code to accelerate their work and to create AI agents for industries that demand precision, compliance, and deep domain knowledge." Markets are trading in the positive territory, with the 30-share BSE Sensex rising 126.19 points, or 0.15 per cent, to 83,403.34.

Aakash Institute Telangana Excels in JEE Main 2026: Jayanth Shekhar Emerges as Topper with 99.99 Percentile; 24 Students Score Above 99.5 Percentile and 43 Above 99 Percentile

Hyderabad, Telangana, 17 Feb, 2026: Aakash Educational Services Limited (AESL) four students from Telangana have again demonstrated exemplary performance during the JEE Main 2026 (Session 1) and given testimony to the continued success of their academic program throughout their region. According to the results released by the National Testing Agency (NTA) on February 16, students from Aakash Institute, Telangana Branches, delivered an excellent performance in JEE Main 2026. According to the results released by the National Testing Agency (NTA) on February 16, students from Aakash centres in Telangana delivered outstanding results with 2 students scored above 99.99 percentile, 6 students scored above 99.9 percentile, 24 students scored above 99.5 percentile, and a total of 43 students secured above 99 percentile, reflecting an exceptional overall performance across the state. Jayanth

Shekhar emerged as the topper with an impressive 99.996 percentile other high achievers include Hanzalah Abdeden (99.992 percentile), Alamuri Chaitanya (99.97 percentile), Harish Adithya M G (99.92 percentile), B Abhijeet Reddy (99.91 percentile) and Lokesh Vudumula (99.91 percentile). Altogether, six students scored above 99.9 percentile, reflecting the strong academic foundation and rigorous preparation provided at Aakash. Commenting on the students' accomplishments, Mr. Dheeraj Kumar Misra, Chief Academic and Business Head, Aakash Educational Services Limited said: "The exceptional results of our students Telangana from is a testament to their commitment to academics, as well as the strength of the Aakash educational ecosystem. We are so proud of their hard work and congratulate them on their accomplishments. We wish them continued success in their future endeavours."

Many of the students also commented that by self-discipline, consistent practice, rigorous training, timely mentoring and regular assessment helped many of these students achieve success. Through their structured curriculum, the guidance from a qualified instructor and the regular opportunity to take a simulated test, they maintained focus on their studies, identified weaknesses sooner, and increased their performance steadily.

The Dutch love four-day working weeks, but are they sustainable?

The Dutch have quietly adopted working just a four-day week. But what has been its impact, and can it last? "Your kids are only young once," says Gavin Arm, co-founder of Amsterdam-based small business Positivity Branding. "Most people, if they're running a company, they throw themselves into it and work, work, work to try and make it. And they're probably doing it for their kids. "But then they look back when they're older and go 'I missed that part of their lives', and that's awful. We don't want to be like that." Arm is speaking to me at the firm's cosy office in the Dutch capital's lively De Pijp neighbourhood. South of the city centre, it is known for its bustling markets, bohemian history and heavy gentrification. His business, which he co-founded with colleague Bert de Wit, advises companies on their brand identity and packaging. Arm and de Wit switched themselves and their staff to a four-day week seven years ago. Employees did not have to take a cut in salary, and nor did they have to work longer hours on the four days. Instead, their hours remain at 32-per-week, or eight-per-day. "The work-life balance was at the heart of it," adds de Wit, who disagrees with the suggestion that their staff are now doing less work for the same amount of money. Instead he puts it down to "working smarter not harder". "In other countries they might spend a lot of time at work, but that doesn't mean they work a lot. Changing the culture and the mindset is the biggest challenge." Working a four-day week has now been common across the Netherlands for a number of years, with even the largest companies getting on board. Meanwhile, the country's biggest union, FNV, is continuing to lobby the Dutch government to make it the official recommendation. And, anyway, Dutch employees already have a legal right to request reduced hours. "We like time to free up our mind. I get the best ideas when I walk my dog," says Marieke Peppers, chief people officer at the Dutch software firm Nmbms. She takes Friday off every week. "No one is expecting me, I get my inspiration, I'm in a better place, and the company is too." Peppers adds that since the company switched to a four-day week "staff sickness is down, and retention is up". But she says that the idea was initially a hard sell. "We had to convince investors. Our own people were sceptical at first, I'm already not capable of finishing my work in five days' [was one reaction]. "Some people were feeling pressure.

New Holland Unveils Workmaster 105 with HVAC Cabin for Power-Packed, All-Weather Farming in Telangana

Hyderabad, February 2026 New Holland, a brand of CNH, today launched the Workmaster 105 with HVAC Cabin in Telangana, marking the latest addition to its high horsepower tractor portfolio. This new variant brings all-weather operator comfort along with advanced performance features to New Holland's 106 HP tractor range, setting new benchmarks for convenience, durability, and productivity in demanding field conditions. The Workmaster 105, powered by a 106 HP, 3.4-litre FPT (Fiat Powertrain Technologies) TREM-IV engine, delivers exceptional performance and fuel efficiency with lower revolutions per minute (RPM). The new variant with the HVAC cabin offers all season comfort with heating and air conditioning system featuring six roof vents. It also provides a noise-free environment and an air-suspended seat for fatigue-free operation, while the pneumatic reversible fan allows uninterrupted work even in dusty post-harvest conditions, particularly useful after paddy harvesting during baling operations. Commenting on the launch, Narinder Mittal, President & Managing Director –

India, CNH, said, "Telangana has rapidly emerged as one of the most dynamic and fast-evolving agricultural markets in India, with increasing adoption of advanced mechanization across diverse crops and applications. It is also a focus market for our India growth strategy. The Workmaster 105 with HVAC Cabin is designed to combine high power output with an enclosed, climate-controlled workspace that enables longer and more productive operating hours. For farmers across Telangana's varied and heat-intensive farming conditions, this launch underlines our commitment to delivering technology that supports productivity while making operations more comfortable and reliable." The Workmaster 105, introduced to the Indian market last year after proving its success as a Made-in-India model for global markets, is now available with an HVAC Cabin. The new variant builds on the strong performance and wide acceptance of the Workmaster series, which has already surpassed 15,000 units of sales in India and worldwide. It comes equipped with a 20 forward + 20 reverse Power Shuttle transmission and a robust 3,500 kg lift capacity, enabling smooth handling of heavy implements. The all-weather cabin offers protection from extreme temperatures, while the complete wet clutch for the main drive and Power Take-Off (PTO) ensures durability and reliability under continuous load, particularly in demanding applications such as baling, potato planting, and trenching. Workmaster 105 is also suitable for advanced applications like baling, forage harvesting and rig applications etc. Having established a strong presence in the United States and other international markets, the Workmaster 105 is now poised to see rising demand in India with the introduction of the HVAC Cabin. With this launch, New Holland continues to strengthen its leadership in the premium tractor segment, delivering power, performance, and all-season comfort that redefines the high-HP tractor experience for Indian farmers.

Jesse Jackson dies aged 84 as Trump pays tribute to 'force of nature' civil rights leader

Jesse Jackson was a key voice of the US civil rights movement of the 1960s, and went on to be a prominent US political figure. In the clip below, we've pulled together some of the key moments in his life and work. In Jesse Jackson's 1988 speech at the Democratic National Convention, he used his platform to shed light on his early years and his relatability. "I wasn't always on television, writers weren't always outside my door," he told delegates. "When I was born late one afternoon October 8 in Greenville, South Carolina, no writers asked my mother her name - nobody chose to write down our address." He said he was born to a teenage mother who herself was born to a teenage mother - Helen Burns was 16 at the time she had Jesse and, unmarried, was expelled from her local Baptist church after she became pregnant. "I understand - I know abandonment and people being mean to you," he continued. "I'm a working person's person [...] I was not born with a silver spoon in my mouth." His speech ended with the refrain "keep hope alive" and would be echoed decades later in the "hope and change" slogan of Obama's successful 2008 presidential campaign. Former vice-president Kamala Harris has paid tribute to Jackson, calling him "one of America's greatest patriots". Harris, who ran on the Democrat ticket for the White House in 2024 says in a post on X that Jackson's own campaigns for the nomination "electrified millions of Americans and showed them what could be possible". She says that he "gave a voice to people who were removed from power and politics." "He let us know our voices mattered. He instilled in us that we were somebody. And he widened the path for generations to follow in his footsteps and lead," she adds. Harris recalls driving with a bumper sticker which read "Jesse Jackson for President" as a student, and says "you would not believe how people from every walk of life would give me a thumbs up or honk of support." "Reverend Jackson was a selfless leader, mentor, and friend to me and so many others," Harris adds. Deputy Prime Minister David Lammy has recalled how Jesse Jackson was "one of the first people to call" him following the 2011 riots that started in Lammy's constituency of Tottenham. He says Jackson was a "pillar of the civil rights movement" and a "dear friend" of his predecessor, the former Tottenham MP Bernie Grant. "It was a privilege to share such precious time with him in Chicago and London over the years," Lammy writes on X. "May his legacy live on."

US President Donald Trump has described Jesse Jackson as a "force of nature like few others before him" in a tribute following the civil rights leader's death. In a statement posted on Truth Social, Trump described Jackson as a good man with "lots of personality, grit and street smarts". He says it was his pleasure to "help Jesse along the way", and says this is despite - he claims - that he is consistently called a racist by the "scoundrels and lunatics" on the "radical left". "He loved his family greatly, and to them I send my deepest sympathies and condolences. Jesse will be missed!" he adds. Leader of the House Democrats Hakeem Jeffries says Jackson "was a legendary voice for the voiceless," in a tribute to the late civil rights leader posted on X. "For decades, while laboring in the vineyards of the community, he inspired us to keep hope alive in the struggle for liberty and justice for all," Jeffries writes. "We are thankful for the incredible service of Rev. Jesse Jackson to the nation and his profound sacrifice as the people's champion." Jackson bore witness to several decisive moments in US history - including Barack Obama's election as the country's first black president. He was seen in tears on the night Obama won the contest in Grant Park, Chicago, in November 2008. "I thought about the moment. The movement," he told Vanity Fair, external in 2020. "I wish they could have been there. Dr. King and Medgar Evers and Fannie Lou Hamer. People who'd paid the supreme price. If God had let them live just 15 seconds more to see the fruits of their labor. I was blessed to be there to represent them as best I tried to." If you're just joining us, US civil rights leader Jesse Jackson died "peacefully" on Tuesday morning aged 84, his family has confirmed.

Nuclear talks between US and Iran end in Geneva

A second round of talks between Iran and the United States, aimed at resolving their dispute over Tehran's nuclear programme, have ended in the Swiss city of Geneva. Iran's Foreign Minister Abbas Araqchi said the two countries had reached an understanding on the main "guiding principles", but work still needs to be done. The US has not yet commented. The indirect discussions followed repeated military threats by Washington against Iran over the country's deadly crackdown on anti-government protests, as well as its nuclear activities. Speaking to reporters aboard Air Force One ahead of the latest talks, US President Donald Trump said he believed Iran wanted to make a deal. The foreign ministry in Tehran, meanwhile, said it believed that the US position on the nuclear issue had moved towards "a more realistic one". Before Tuesday's meeting, mediated by Oman, Iran said it would focus on its nuclear programme and the potential lifting of economic sanctions imposed by the US. Washington has previously indicated it wanted to discuss other issues as well, such as Iran's missile development. Framing the talks as "very important", Trump said he would be "indirectly" involved and suggested Tehran was motivated this time to negotiate.

US surveillance jets tracked from Alaska to UK air base as Iran tensions continue

Yesterday we identified the US aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln in satellite imagery off the coast of Oman. Now we are working to track another carrier, USS Gerald R Ford, which has been reportedly ordered to sail from the Caribbean to the Gulf as part of a broader military build-up in the region. On 13 February, we identified a vessel approximately 340km (210 miles) off the island of Guadeloupe heading east. The vessel appears consistent with an Arleigh Burke-class destroyer, a common accompanying ship for US aircraft carriers such as USS Gerald R Ford. While this sighting does not confirm the Ford's location it is the closest indicator so far of its possible movements. As we continue to monitor the buildup of US military forces which could be used to carry out strikes on Iran, two key airborne warning and command aircraft used for battlefield management have arrived in the UK. The E-3 Sentry Airborne Warning and Control System (AWACS) aircraft landed this morning at RAF Mildenhall in Suffolk and were photographed by an aviation enthusiast. The pictures allowed us to visually match the E-3s' serial numbers with flight tracking data, which indicates the two aircraft took off from Anchorage, Alaska. The next movement of these key assets will be keenly watched, given many analysts regarded their arrival as being one of the final "puzzle pieces" needed for any US attack on Iran. Steffan Watkins, a researcher who tracks ships and aircraft using open source information, previously told BBC Verify: "If things play out the same way as Midnight Hammer [the codename for US attacks on Iran's nuclear facilities in June 2025] it will show the strike is imminent". As various models have become readily available to people around the world, we've tracked all kinds of ways that creators try to mislead audiences into believing that their fake videos are real. Here's a quick guide on how to spot disguised AI watermarks. Commenting on Labour's U-turn over postponing some local elections in England, the leader of the Liberal Democrats Ed Davey.

US Senator Mark Kelly tells he will 'seriously consider' White House run

US Democratic Senator Mark Kelly has said he will "seriously consider" running for president in 2028 as he battles the Trump administration over a video in which he urged military personnel to refuse illegal orders. The Arizona senator, who was accused of "seditious behaviour" by Donald Trump over the November clip, said he and his wife, Gabrielle Giffords, received "many" death threats after the president's comments. "We get them on a weekly basis now," he told BBC Newsnight. "We had to get security to protect us 24 hours a day." Asked if he was considering a White House run, the retired Navy captain said he was considering it "because we're in some seriously challenging times". senators. "I'm one of the very few engineers, I'm the only person with a graduate degree in engineering the United States Senate. I've got combat experience, that's kind of rare. I spent 25 years in the military," he said. He added: "It's a serious decision. I just haven't made it yet." Kelly, 61, and five other lawmakers, who had all either served in the military or had roles in intelligence, have been targeted by the government after they published a 90-second video encouraging troops to disobey orders they deemed illegal. It was released at the time of rising questions of the legality regarding American strikes on alleged narco-trafficking boats off the coast of South America.

HILLARY CLINTON ACCUSES TRUMP ADMINISTRATION OF EPSTEIN FILES 'COVER-UP'

Hillary Clinton has accused US President Donald Trump's administration of a "cover-up" over its handling of files related to the late sex offender Jeffrey Epstein. "Get the files out. They are slow-walking it," the former US secretary of state told the BBC in Berlin, where she attended the annual World Forum. The White House insisted that by releasing the files they had done "more for the victims than Democrats ever have". Millions of new files relating to the late sex offender Epstein were released by the US Department of Justice (DoJ) earlier this month. At the time, the deputy attorney general said three million pages were not released - due to the existence of personal medical files, graphic depictions of child abuse or other material that would jeopardise investigations. When asked whether Andrew Mountbatten Windsor should go before a congressional committee, Hillary Clinton said: "I think everybody should testify who is asked to testify." Appearing in the files is not an indication of wrongdoing. Andrew has always denied any wrongdoing. The committee does not have the power to compel him to appear in front of so in 1983. Hillary Clinton reiterated the couple's call for their congressional committee hearing to be in public rather than a closed-door deposition. "We will show up but we think it would be better to have it in public," Hillary Clinton told the BBC. Republican committee chair James Comer had accused the Clintons of "delay", saying the pair "caved" as a contempt vote loomed. "I just want it to be fair," said Hillary Clinton. "I want everybody treated the same way." "We have nothing to hide. We have called for the full release of these files repeatedly. We think sunlight is the best disinfectant." The former presidential candidate argued that she and her husband were being used to divert attention away from Trump.

FRANCE RELEASES SUSPECTED RUSSIAN 'SHADOW FLEET' TANKER AFTER FINE PAID

France says it has released an oil tanker suspected of being part of Russia's sanctions-busting "shadow fleet" after its owner paid a fine. French Foreign Minister Jean-Noël Barrot said the vessel, named Grinch, was "leaving French waters" on Tuesday having paid a penalty of "several million euros". The tanker was seized by French forces in the Mediterranean in January and then diverted to the port city of Marseille. It had set sail from Murmansk in northern Russia and was flying under a Comoros flag, officials said. Moscow's so-called shadow fleet is a clandestine network of tankers used to evade Western sanctions on Russian oil exports by using aged tankers with obscure ownership or insurance. Many Western countries imposed sanctions on Russian oil after it launched a full-scale invasion of Ukraine in 2022. "Circumventing European sanctions comes at a price. Russia will no longer be able to finance its war with impunity through a ghost fleet off our coasts," Barrot said in a post on X. He added: "The tanker Grinch will leave French waters after shelling out several million euros and three weeks of costly immobilisation at Fos-Mer. Let's keep it up." "As part of a guilty plea procedure the company that owns the vessel was sentenced by the Marseille judicial court to a financial penalty of confiscation," the public prosecutor's office and regional maritime authorities said in a statement. The exact amount the vessel's owner was fined was unclear. Shadow fleets are becoming increasingly common. A growing number of tankers transporting Russian, Iranian and Venezuelan oil are using a variety of methods to conceal their identities and contravene Western sanctions.

Nancy Guthrie's family cleared as possible suspects, with search in its third week

Police in Arizona say family members of Nancy Guthrie have been cleared as possible suspects, as speculation grows on social media about the whereabouts of the missing 84-year-old mother of NBC anchor Savannah Guthrie. "The family has been nothing but co-operative and gracious and are victims in this case," said the Pima County Sheriff's Office, which has been leading the investigation. "To suggest otherwise is not only wrong, it is cruel," the office said in a statement. The Pima County Sheriff Chris Nanos told NBC News that his office sent out the statement because people had been "attacking the innocent". Nanos told NBC in a text message that "kindness matters" and that it was "every cop's duty to stand up and be that voice for our victims". The search for Guthrie, who police say went missing on the early hours of 1 February, is now in its third week - and no suspects have been named. Police have said Guthrie was taken from her home, and that blood was found on the floor of her porch. A video taken from a doorbell camera at Guthrie's residence has shown the man believed to have seized her. He wore a mask, gloves and backpack. After conducting a forensic analysis of the video, the US Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) announced last week that it believed the man was between 5ft 9in and 5ft 10in (175-177cm) tall, with an average build. They have also said they believe the suspect bought the mask and backpack at a Walmart and are contacting stores to find a list of people who made the purchases. Officials have been reviewing surveillance footage from nearby Walmart locations, Nanos has said. Investigators have also been testing a glove they found that seems to match the ones worn by the suspect. They have created a DNA profile of an unknown male to put into a national FBI database, according to the BBC's US partner CBS News. That database could show a match if the suspect had a previous arrest and gave law enforcement a DNA sample in the past. On Sunday, Savannah Guthrie, the Today show co-host, issued another video appeal to "whoever has her, or knows where she is". She added that Nancy Guthrie's loved ones "still have hope".

THIRD ROUND OF RUSSIA-UKRAINE TALKS STARTS IN GENEVA AS STRIKES CONTINUE

Russian and Ukrainian delegations are meeting in Geneva for the latest round of US-brokered talks, a week before the fourth anniversary of Moscow's full-scale invasion of Ukraine. Expectations for a breakthrough remain low, as Moscow has not wavered from its maximalist demands for Ukrainian territory. Russia's strikes on Ukraine are continuing on a nightly basis, further damaging the country's already battered power grid as subzero temperatures continue. Hours before the delegations met in Switzerland, Moscow carried out a large combined aerial attack on Ukraine, hitting 12 regions with 400 drones and almost 30 missiles. At least three people were killed. The latest attacks showed the "extent to which Russia disregards peace efforts", Ukrainian Foreign Minister Andrii Sybiha said. Russia said its air defences had repelled more than 150 drones, while an oil refinery caught on fire after a Ukrainian drone strike. Tuesday's talks are mediated by Steve Witkoff, Donald Trump's special envoy, and Jared Kushner, the US president's son-in-law. Ukraine is represented by National Security Council Secretary Rustem Umerov and President Volodymyr Zelenskyy's chief of staff, Kyrylo Budanov. The Russian delegation includes President Vladimir Putin's aide Vladimir Medinsky and members of the military intelligence figures. "I don't think we should expect any news today," said Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov, adding the talks would continue on Wednesday. Speaking to reporters aboard Air Force One, Trump on Tuesday said Ukraine had "better come to the table fast." Trump has previously signalled his impatience with the lack of swift progress in solving the four-year conflict. Russia occupies roughly 20% of Ukraine, including large parts of the eastern Donbas region. The Kremlin wants Ukraine to hand over the rest of the region, which Ukraine has ruled out. For Kyiv, robust security guarantees from the West - including the US - must come before any settlement with Russia can be agreed. At least three energy workers were killed near the frontline city of Sloviansk in Monday's overnight attacks, Ukraine's deputy Energy Minister Artem Nekrasov said. A further nine people - including children - were injured across the country, President Zelenskyy said. More than 10 residential buildings and railway infrastructure damaged. "Russia must be held to account for its aggression," he wrote on X, adding: "For peace to be real and just, action must target the sole source of this aggression". Kyiv said 12 regions were hit, damaging infrastructure and leaving thousands without power in the southern port city of Odesa. DTEK, the country's largest private energy firm, said power infrastructure in the city had suffered "incredibly serious" damage, adding it would take a long time to return to a working condition. Ukraine is facing an acute energy crisis after months of relentless Russian attacks on its infrastructure and as it struggles through a freezing winter. It launched its own volley of attacks on Russia overnight. Officials said a fire broke out at the Ilsky oil refinery in the southern Krasnodar region after a drone strike.

India's T20 World Cup Super 8 Opponents, Dates And Venues Confirmed

India's Super 8 opponents are now confirmed. With Zimbabwe becoming the latest team to advance to the Super 8 stage of the ongoing T20 World Cup 2026 after their match against Ireland in Pallekele was washed out on Tuesday, the dates for India's Super 8 clashes are now finalised. The defending champions have been placed alongside Zimbabwe, the West Indies, and last season's runners-up, South Africa. India will take on South Africa on February 22 in Ahmedabad, then move to Chennai, where they will play Zimbabwe on February 26, before concluding their Super 8 campaign in Kolkata on March 1, where they will face the West Indies. India advanced to the Super 8 stage after beating arch-rivals Pakistan by 61 runs in Colombo on Sunday. They currently top Group A with three wins from three matches. India will play their final group-stage match against the Netherlands at the Narendra Modi Stadium in Ahmedabad on Wednesday. The two countries have met only once before in T20 Internationals, with India winning their 2022 T20 World Cup clash in Sydney. The Suryakumar Yadav-led Indian team will be eyeing a fourth consecutive win after victories over the USA, Namibia, and Pakistan.

The Netherlands' losses to Pakistan and a heavy defeat to the USA have effectively ended their hopes of qualifying for the Super 8. Scott Edwards' side have only a win over Namibia to show for their efforts. India Squad: Suryakumar Yadav (c), Abhishek Sharma, Tilak Varma, Sanju Samson, Shivam Dube, Ishan Kishan, Hardik Pandya, Arshdeep Singh, Jasprit Bumrah, Harshit Rana, Varun Chakaravathy, Kuldeep Yadav, Axar Patel, Washington Sundar, Rinku Singh. Netherlands Squad: Scott Edwards (c), Michael Levitt, Max O'Dowd, Bas de Leede, Colin Ackermann, Zach Lion-Cachet, Logan van Beek, Aryan Dutt, Roelof van der Merwe, Kyle Klein, Fred Klaassen, Noah Croes, Saqib Zulfiqar, Paul van Meekeren, Timm van der Gugten. The toss for the Group B match between Zimbabwe and Ireland at the Pallekele International Cricket Stadium was delayed due to rain on Tuesday. It was drizzling for quite some time in Pallekele and the ground was completely under covers. If the match is washed out, both teams will receive one point each and it will be enough for Zimbabwe to book their spot in the Super 8 stage. However, it will be bad news for Australia who will be eliminated from the competition in that case. Australia suffered their second loss of T20 World Cup 2026 as they were completely outplayed by Sri Lanka on Monday. Australia have just one win from their three matches and even if they win their remaining game against Oman, they need Zimbabwe to lose both of their matches.

Zimbabwe Enter T20 World Cup Super 8 After Washout Against Ireland

Zimbabwe on Tuesday entered the Super 8 stage of the T20 World Cup after their crucial Group B match against Ireland was washed out due to rain, a result that also eliminated former champions Australia and Ireland from the tournament. Both teams were awarded one point each. The shared points took Zimbabwe to five, enough to secure a Super 8 berth. They will face India in their opening Super 8 match on February 26 in Chennai. Zimbabwe became the seventh team to get a ticket to the Super 8s, completing Group G1, which also comprises India, South Africa and West Indies. Zimbabwe will play their final group match against co-hosts Sri Lanka on February 19. With table-toppers Sri Lanka (6) having already qualified for the Super 8s, the contest held significant importance for Zimbabwe and Ireland, who had come into the game with four and two points respectively. Australia were also on two points following their defeats to Zimbabwe and Sri Lanka. The former champions needed Zimbabwe to lose both their remaining matches to stay in contention, but persistent rain ended their hopes. The toss at the Pallekele International Cricket Stadium was initially delayed due to drizzle, with the ground remaining under covers for a considerable period. However, continuous rain and a wet outfield prevented any play, confirming Zimbabwe's progression to the Super 8 stage.

"Terrible What They Are Doing To Him": Sunil Gavaskar Slams Pakistan Government For Mistreating Imran Khan

Imran Khan, Pakistan's World Cup-winning captain and the country's former Prime Minister, found support from the cricket fraternity after a report claimed he has suffered a devastating loss of eyesight, severe health deterioration, and prolonged solitary confinement inside Adiala Jail. A detailed report prepared by the Supreme Court-appointed amicus curiae (friend of the court), Salman Safdar, accessed by NDTV, reveals that Imran Khan has lost nearly 85 per cent of the vision in his right eye after jail authorities allegedly ignored repeated medical complaints for months.

Following the revelation of the report, former cricketers from around the world who played with Imran came together and appealed to the Pakistan government for better prison treatment for the former captain, amid serious health concerns. Former India captain

Sunil Gavaskar, who was among those who appealed to the Pakistan government, said he was pained by Imran Khan's condition. "It's terrible what they are doing to him. We have been friends since he was trying to qualify as an overseas player for Worcestershire and not just rivals on the field," Gavaskar was quoted as saying by the Sydney Morning Herald. The petition, initiated by former India coach Greg Chappell and delivered to Pakistan's Prime Minister Shehbaz Sharif on Tuesday, has also been endorsed by former Indian captain Kapil Dev, along with Allan Border, Steve Waugh, Ian Chappell, Belinda Clark, and Kim Hughes. England's Mike Atherton, Nasser Hussain, Mike Brearley, and David Gower have also signed, along with Clive Lloyd from the West Indies and John Wright from New Zealand.

BCCI's Plans For Gautam Gambhir As India Head Coach Revealed? Report Makes 'Olympics' Claim

Indian cricket team head coach Gautam Gambhir's tenure could be extended to the 2028 Los Angeles Olympics depending on results, according to a report by Dainik Jagran. Gambhir's current contract runs until the 2027 ODI World Cup, and under his coaching, India are currently looking to defend their T20 World Cup title. While his focus remains firmly on winning these tournaments, the report claimed that positive results could lead to his contract being extended through the 2028 Olympics. Cricket will return to the Olympics after a 128-year gap in 2028, and the decision regarding the role will reportedly rest with

Gambhir. Meanwhile, former Indian Premier League (IPL) champions Rajasthan Royals (RR) are set to approach Gambhir to join them as CEO, mentor, and partner. According to a report in Dainik Jagran, RR is set to undergo a change in ownership, with one of the three potential owners offering Gambhir a minority equity stake - believed to be in the region of 2-3 per cent - in the franchise. Gambhir had a highly successful association with the Kolkata Knight Riders (KKR) in the IPL, helping the franchise lift three titles, two as a player and one as a mentor. He also had a fruitful stint during his two seasons as mentor of the Lucknow Super Giants (LSG), who qualified for the playoffs in both campaigns. However, Gambhir is unlikely to join RR due to his current commitments with the Indian national team. As per the Supreme Court's ruling based on the Lodha Committee recommendations, an individual cannot simultaneously hold a position with the national side and be associated with an IPL franchise. This "one man, one post" rule is strictly enforced to prevent any potential conflict of interest. If Gambhir wishes to accept the offer, he must step down from his role as head coach.

WHY BENFICA TIE IS PIVOTAL FOR ARBELOA AND REAL MADRID

Alvaro Arbeloa's Real Madrid tenure is only five weeks old - but Tuesday's Champions League trip to Benfica already feels like it could be a defining night for the fledgling boss. The 43-year-old replaced Xabi Alonso last month and, despite no official confirmation, sources close to both the club and Arbeloa told BBC Sport he has a contract until the end of next season. Real knew the appointment of a head coach with no top-level managerial experience was risky. And after a slow start for Arbeloa and a less than positive reception from supporters, they quickly started planning for potential replacements - including former Chelsea boss Enzo Maresca - in case another change was needed. But after six wins from their past seven matches, there is a new feeling of calm among the Real hierarchy with the club top of La Liga. However, Arbeloa will know failure in Europe would pile the pressure back on once again. Real's only loss in those seven games came against Benfica, when a sensational 4-2 victory by Jose Mourinho's side left Los Blancos needing a play-off against the same opponents to stay in the competition they have won six times in 12 years. Of course there is a second leg at home to come on Wednesday, 25 February, but failing to reach at least the last 16 - for the first time in more than three decades - is unthinkable for the Real faithful. Since the defeat in Lisbon in January, Arbeloa has made some changes, including tweaking Real's formation. That match was the last time he played with a 4-3-3 formation, where Franco Mastantuono, Kylian Mbappe and Vinicius Jr started as the front three. In Real's subsequent three games, Arbeloa has changed to a 4-4-2 set-up, where Mastantuono drops back into midfield to leave Gonzalo Garcia, Vinicius and Mbappe as rotating striker options. "Defensively, it's a structure that closes down the midfield corridor, where there are more players, and allows us to be more compact," Arbeloa said.

Ex-Pakistan Cricketer Imad Wasim Called "Homewrecker" By Ex-Wife After His Second Marriage With Nyla Raja

Sannia Ashfaq, the ex-wife of former Pakistan all-rounder Imad Wasim, has accused the cricketer of cheating on her. This comes after Imad, 37, confirmed his second marriage, tying the knot with Nyla Raja just months after confirming his separation from Sannia. Imad and Sannia married in 2019 and divorced last December. The Wales-born cricketer and Nyla first caught public attention in July 2025 when they were spotted together in London, sparking allegations of cheating at a time when Sannia was reportedly pregnant with their third child. On Monday, Sannia shared a series of posts on Instagram, calling Imad a "cheater, homewrecker, and a murderer," demanding accountability for the suffering she and her children have faced due to the veteran cricketer's actions.

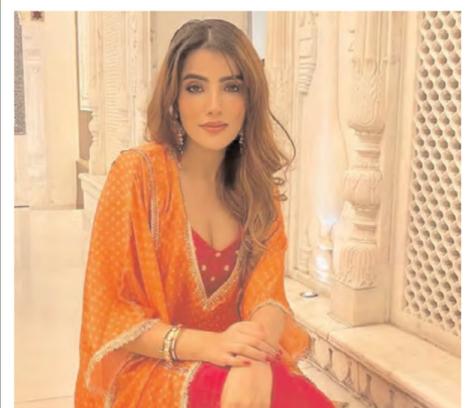

"Now everyone has seen the proof. This homewrecker never once thought about my kids. The cheater has finally been exposed and I want justice for my children and for everything we've been put through," Sannia wrote in a post. She also called Imad a "murderer," accusing him of a forced abortion in 2023. Additionally, she blasted Islamabad United for signing the player for the upcoming PSL season. "In December 2023, he forced an abortion on me in Lahore. He's a murderer, and I have a video that proves it. He cheated on me. @islamabadunitedpsl has given a chance to a murderer and a cheater. #boycottislamabadunited-nocheater or murderer should get an escape," she wrote in another post. Imad, who represented Pakistan in 55 ODIs and 75 T20Is, termed his life after his first marriage with Sannia "one of the hardest chapters." "I went through one of the hardest chapters of my life after a marriage that did not work. Even so, that chapter gave me the greatest blessings of my life, my children. I love them beyond words, and that love will never change," Imad wrote in a detailed statement. "I stayed longer than I should have, holding on to hope and trying to protect what mattered most to me. In doing so, I made decisions I regret." "My delay and silence contributed to a situation where an innocent person was unfairly judged and subjected to criticism she did not deserve. I take full responsibility for that, and I carry that weight with sincerity and remorse." "With the grace of Allah and guidance of my parents, I have now married Nyla."

"Aditi Is His Girlfriend": Ishan Kishan's Grandfather Makes It Official

Star wicketkeeper-batter Ishan Kishan's comeback story has been nothing short of exceptional. After nearly two years away from the national side, and having lost his central contract, the 27-year-old is making headlines once again for all the right cricketing reasons. On Sunday, the elegant south-paw starred in India's record 61-run win over arch-rivals Pakistan in the T20 World Cup, smashing 77 off just 41 balls on a tricky Colombo track. However, Kishan is also dominating headlines off the field as well, with his grandfather confirming his relationship status, putting years of speculation to rest. Speaking to news agency ANI in Bihar's Aurangabad, Kishan's grandfather, Anurag Pandey, confirmed that his grandson is currently dating model Aditi Hundia. "Whoever Ishan chooses to marry, I fully accept his decision," he told ANI. "We are ready to accept whoever Ishan Kishan wants to marry. Aditi is his girlfriend. She is a model. One should accept what makes children happy." Meanwhile, Kishan spoke on his match-winning knock against Pakistan, saying he kept it simple and treated the match as just another game, watching the ball and playing his shots after assessing the wicket and target. In a video posted by the BCCI, Ishan Kishan said, "Not only for me, I feel this is for all the supporters who were supporting us throughout the game, throughout the tournament, when we were preparing very hard. So, credit goes not just to me, but to the whole of India." Regarding his mindset, he added, "I think I was just keeping it simple. Like I said in the press conference earlier that day, it's just another game. You have to watch the ball and play your shots, which you believe in, which are on. You have to assess the wicket, how is it playing, what's a good total for all of our teammates."

“I was waiting for a film like ‘Hey Balwanth’”: Hero Suhas

The successful duo Bunny Vaas and Vamsi Nandipati, who recently delivered blockbuster films like Little Hearts, Raju Weds Rambhai, and Eesha, are now bringing a full-length out-and-out entertainer titled “Hey Balwanth” (title changed from Hey Bhagwan) under the banners of Nandipati Entertainments and Bunny Vaas Works. The film stars Suhas, Shivani Nagaram, senior actor Naresh, and anchor Sravanti in key roles. Directed by Gopi Achhar, the movie is produced by B. Narendra Reddy under the Trishul Visionary Studios banner. The movie is set to release on February 20. On this occasion, hero Suhas interacted with the media on Tuesday. Here are the highlights.

Why was the title changed from “Hey Bhagwan” to “Hey Balwanth”?
Since Bhagwan means God, the censor board suggested changing the title. So we changed it to Hey Balwanth. We also changed Naresh's character name. Along with the title, the censor board also considered the movie's concept.

How is your role in this movie?
I play a youngster who wants to start a business from childhood and wants to take over his father's business. The story revolves around what challenges he faces and what his father's business actually is. The movie is a full entertainer, and my role is also very entertaining.

It is said this movie was completed in very few working days?

Yes. In my career, this is one of the fastest films completed and released after getting finalized. Despite the speed, the movie has very good quality. I wondered if I would ever do a film this fast again.

Can we call this Suhas 2.0? Don't use such big words. But I strongly believe this movie will bring me success.

You put effort into every film. How do you feel if success doesn't come?
I keep waiting for success. It feels bad, but I immediately prepare for the next film.

What are your expectations for “Hey Balwanth”?
Everyone has strong belief in this movie. Vamsi Nandipati garu has given us great confidence. After consecutive failures, everyone advised me to think carefully before choosing films. Even my wife said the same. So I took a short break and chose Hey Balwanth. I have a lot of confidence in this film.

How will your role be in the Tamil movie “Mandadi”?

It's a Tamil film where I play the main villain. Depending on the result, I may get busy in Tamil cinema. It's a look and character I waited for. They approached me after watching Ambajipeta.

Many people want you to succeed. Have you noticed that?
Yes, people feel I am a good actor and want me to get a good film. I consider that my luck.

How is it doing Tamil films?
I'm doing villain roles. It's a very different look, and I'm slightly tense about how the audience will receive it.

Earlier you

mostly did serious roles. For the first time, you are doing comedy in “Hey Balwanth”?

In the beginning of my career, I mostly did comedy roles in short films. After watching my role in this film, my wife also told me to do such films.

NILAVE' STANDS AS A SILENT HIT WITH DECENT COLLECTIONS: DIRECTOR V. SAMUDRA AT SUCCESS CELEBRATIONS

N'Nilave' is the 'Geethanjali' of This Generation: Actor Gemini Suresh

Our Film 'Nilave' is Like 'Baahubali' to Us: Hero Sowmith Poladi
'Nilave', starring Sowmith Poladi in the lead role and co-directed by him along with Sai K. Vennam, features Shreyansi Sen as the heroine. Harsha Chemudu and Supriya Aysola played another pair in the film. The movie is produced by Raj Allada, Giridhar Rao Poladi, and Sai K. Vennam under the POV Arts Productions banner. Released on February 13 as a Valentine's Day special, the film received an excellent response from audiences. It has gained appreciation as a biggest musical love drama. Today, the team held success celebrations at Ramanaidu Studios.

Oscar award-winning lyricist Chandrabose responded through a video byte, congratulating the team and stating that the film has emerged as a biggest musical hit. Director V. Samudra, who attended the success meet as the chief guest, said: "Among the six or seven films released this Valentine's Day, 'Nilave' has gained a successful talk. With decent collections, it has become a silent hit. The hero and heroine of this film will definitely become superstars in the future. My congratulations to director Sai K. Vennam and the entire team." Actor Gemini Suresh, who attended as another guest, said: "After a long time, I felt like I watched a truly good film. 'Nilave' stands like a painting drawn by Babu garu, like a poem by Viswanatha Satyanarayana, and like the 'Geethanjali' of this generation. Thanks to producer Raj Allada for making such a wonderful film. Director Sai's vision, Dileep's visuals, and Kalyan's music have come together beautifully. Our Karimnagar boy Sowmith has scored a hit with this film." Hero Sowmith said: "Thank you to everyone who supported us even though we are newcomers. This film is the result of three years of hard work. Even Rajamouli garu took three years to bring 'Baahubali' to the audience. Our 'Nilave' is like 'Baahubali' to us. ## Once earned Rs 500, she is now among South cinema's highest-paid stars

H Hyderabad: Keerthy Suresh, one of South India's top actresses, started her acting career as a child. Born to film producer G. Suresh Kumar and actress Menaka, Keerthy always had a connection to the film industry. She appeared in several Malayalam movies as a child artist, like Pilots and Achaneyanikkishtam, produced by her father.

Her First Paycheck
Although Keerthy's family was famous in the industry, her first earnings were surprisingly small. In an interview, Keerthy shared that her first salary was just Rs 500. She earned this amount while working as a backstage assistant at a fashion show during her college days. What makes it even more special is that Keerthy didn't keep the money for herself. Instead, she gave it all to her father, considering it her first real paycheck.

Film Career and Breakthrough
Keerthy's first big break in Telugu came in 2016 with Nenu Sailaja, where she impressed the audience with her natural acting. But it was in 2018 that her career truly skyrocketed. She starred in Mahanati, a film based on the life of legendary actress Savitri. Keerthy's performance as Savitri was praised by critics and fans alike, and she even won the prestigious National Award for Best Actress.

Rise to Stardom
Keerthy's hard work and talent paid off.

NATURAL STAR NANI'S BIRTHDAY WILL BE MARKED WITH MAYHEM, THE PARADISE FIRST SINGLE AAYA SHER ON FEBRUARY 24TH

Natural Star Nani is presently busy with the shoot of his much-awaited Pan World spectacle The Paradise, being helmed ambitiously by director Srikanth Odela of Dara fame, with Sudhakar Cherukuri joining the madness as producer, bankrolling the project on a monumental scale and canvas on SLV Cinemas banner. The title glimpse, followed by first look posters have already garnered massive response, and heightened buzz for the movie. Now, the makers came up with a big update. The team is gearing up for a special birthday celebration of Nani on February 24. The makers of The Paradise have locked that date to unveil the film's first single, the goosebumps-inducing and mayhem creating introduction track Aaya Sher, setting the stage for the movie's promotional campaign. The song has already been filmed on a gigantic set filled with hundreds of dancers, designed to present Nani in a fierce, massy avatar.

AYESHA KHAN SLAYS WITH SENSUOUS SAREE

Ayesha Khan is known for maintaining a perfect balance between glamour and traditional style in her looks and social media posts. She often shares pictures that highlight both her modern fashion sense and her graceful ethnic charm. Her latest photos once again show how effortlessly she blends elegance with beauty. In her new clicks, she is seen wearing a pink sleeveless blouse paired with a blue saree and matching bangles. With her hair left open, she enjoyed an outdoor photoshoot while sipping coconut water, perfect for the summer season. In some pictures, she is seen riding in an auto and wandering around the city, while in others she is sitting under a tree in a park reading a book. Flaunting her bright smile, cute bindi, pink lipstick, and silver jhumkas, she looks fresh, simple, and charming. Recently, Ayesha also spoke strongly against the misuse of artificial intelligence after morphed images and AI-generated videos of her started circulating online. She called the trend "very scary" and disturbing, saying it feels unsettling to see fake but realistic images of herself being shared. She criticised how such content is spread without consent and explained the emotional impact it can have when personal images are manipulated and misused.

SATHYA REDDY MADE THE MOVIE 'PRATYUSHA' 24 YEARS AGO ON THE INCIDENT OF 'PRATYUSHA'

It is not a common thing to make a film named Pratyusha directly on the death of budding actress Pratyusha, after 24 years, as a result of the unrelenting struggles of Pratyusha's mother. It needs guts. It needs a lot of courage and determination. Knowing that behind Pratyusha's death are the sons of ministers, sons of police officers, big big babus, children of real estate traders, a young producer named Sathya Reddy, who is nine years old, came forward with Kalamatalli's faith and came forward. The film opened on a grand scale with a huge cast including Shastri, Kallu Chidambaram and Tirupati Prakash. Since Pratyusha's death became a sensational event in the entire Telugu state as well as in India, the print media, electronic media, and Doordarshan of that time were spreading the hype about this movie. Because of this, the budding hero who is playing the hero in this film is afraid that there are many adults behind her death. Along with the hero, writers, lyricists and singers also got scared and returned the advances. Satya Reddy, who entered the film industry under the wrong circumstances, became a hero, became a writer, a lyricist and a singer, completed the film and faced many difficulties with the censors, but the length of 1100 feet was removed by the censor. Besides, some scenes like the sit-in in front of the Governor's bungalow were re-shot and re-censored and the film was successfully released. The great thing about this is that Ashwini Dutt Krishna, the head of today's Vyjayanthi movies, who saw the film, released it through Guntur Districts Vyjayanthi and it can be said that the film was a success. As the story took place in the united Andhra Pradesh, the film was bravely produced and a 50 feet cut-out of the hero Satya Reddy was placed in Vijayawada's Annapurna Theater and his fans gave huge honor to Satya Reddy and gave him the title of "Janamstar". The honor program held in Vijayawada that day was a sensation with the participation of many people's associations and writers in large numbers, mainly under the title of Janam Star. Thus Sathya Reddy, who started making movies with social themes for the people on public issues, who was a star of the people, satya reddy, a revolutionary poet against the privatization of Visakha steel plant, produced a centenary day revolutionary movie called "Ukku Satyagraham" with Praja Uddha Nauka Gaddaranna and now went to the level of directing the international movie "King Buddha" which started in America in Hollywood. Based on this, it can be said that history proves that people appreciate films that reflect social issues. Moreover, his fans say that there is no doubt that King Buddha Hollywood film, which is being shot in 25 countries and produced in more than 100 languages ??under the direction of Sathya Reddy, will create a sensation in world history. Moreover, after 24 years, the accused in the Pratyusha case were punished. Along with the producer Janam Star Sathya Reddy, the members of the film unit of Pawan Money Creations of yesterday are also expressing their joy.
