US retains top spot as India's largest LPG supplier in June

New Delhi, July 3 : The United States retained its position as India's largest supplier of liquefied petroleum gas (LPG) in June, extending its lead over traditional Gulf exporters as the country continued to diversify energy imports in response to geopolitical uncertainties in West Asia. According to data from commodity analytics firm Kpler, India imported 773.78 thousand metric tonnes (TMT) of LPG from the US in June, marking a 19.4 per cent increase from May. Overall, India's LPG imports rose 3 per cent during the month to 1,191 TMT, compared with 1,155 TMT in May. The UAE emerged as the second-largest supplier, with shipments increasing 16.6 per cent to 157 TMT from 134.7 TMT in the previous month. Saudi Arabia and Kuwait each supplied 64 TMT of LPG during June.India's growing reliance on US LPG comes as part of a broader effort to diversify supplies following disruptions caused by the recent West Asia conflict. State-run refiners have already signed a long-term agreement to import 2.2 million tonnes of LPG from the US beginning in 2026, strengthening bilateral energy ties and reducing dependence on Gulf producers.Industry sources said India has secured adequate supplies of both crude oil and LPG through August, easing concerns over domestic availability after the reopening of the Strait of Hormuz restored the movement of Gulf energy cargoes.

"We all, representing like-minded political parties, firmly opposed to the BJP (Bharatiya Janata Party), believe that the electoral process is being manipulated and outcomes in multiple instances do not reflect the will of the people," the opposition leaders stated in the letter. The primary grievance centres on the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) launched by the Election Commission of India (ECI) to sanitise voter rolls.

The Opposition termed the exercise an "inherently exclusionary and politically motivated" move that has disenfranchised lakhs of genuine voters, particularly among the poor, uneducated, Dalits, Adivasis, and minorities who lack complex documentation.

The letter, which was written on June 28, has been signed by leaders including, Trinamool Congress supremo and former West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, Samajwadi Party chief Akhilesh Yadav, Dravida Munnetra Kazhagam's Tiruchi Siva, Rashtriya Janata Dal leader Tejashwi Yadav, Nationalist Congress Party (Sharadchandra Pawar) MP Supriya Sule, National Conference president Farooq Abdullah, Communist Party of India general secretary D. Telangana DGP reviews policing, issues key directives

Hyderabad (TSIT):

Telangana Director General of Police C.V. Anand on Friday directed police officers across the state to strengthen people-centric policing by enhancing field presence, effectively using technology, and ensuring faster public service delivery.

During a statewide review meeting with Commissioners, SPs, Unit Officers and SHOs, the DGP reviewed visible policing, cybercrime investigations, CCTNS implementation, narcotics control, road safety and criminal investigations. He instructed officers to remain accessible to the public, conduct regular police station inspections and avoid unnecessary interference in civil disputes.

Emphasising the use of technology, Anand directed officials to fully utilise CCTNS, e-Sakshya and the Lathi App for efficient investigations. He also called for intensified action against cybercrime and drug trafficking, noting that 825 students have received counselling and rehabilitation under anti-drug initiatives.

Reviewing the Arrive Alive road safety programme, the DGP said road accident fatalities have declined across Telangana and announced that the 112 Emergency Response Service would soon be integrated with drone technology.

KTR demands notification to fill 20,000 police constable posts

Hyderabad (TSIT):

Bharat Rashtra Samithi (BRS) working president K T Rama Rao on Friday, July 3, urged Telangana Chief Minister A Revanth Reddy to issue a notification immediately to fill 20,000 police constable posts. Rama Rao wrote an open letter to the Chief Minister Revanth on behalf of police constable aspirants.

The BRS leader brought to the CM's attention the demands and hardships of police constable and sub-inspector (SI) aspirants.

Stating that the unemployed youth of Telangana have been let down, KTR mentioned that the majority of the youth competing for police constable and SI examinations hail from poor and middle-class families in rural areas. Living away from their parents, they stay in PGs and hostels in Hyderabad for years, working day and night to prepare for these competitive exams.

The state government bears the responsibility of ensuring justice for these underprivileged youths rather than dashing their hopes, he said.Recalling that "water, funds, and jobs" was the rallying cry of the Telangana movement, KTR said it was entirely inappropriate to turn a deaf ear to the demands of unemployed police aspirants who have been fighting for an increase in the number of posts over the past few days. "Simply issuing a notification for 5,000 police jobs and washing one's hands of the matter is not the right approach.

'Fear-mongering claims': Govt trashes social media claims on harmful effects of E20 petrol

New Delhi (TSIT):

The Ministry of Petroleum & Natural Gas on Thursday dismissed as false and misleading information being spread on social media platforms that ethanol blended petrol (E20) is harmful for vehicles, causes higher pollution, and leads to water wastage in the production of crops for ethanol.

The Ministry said that it "categorically assures all vehicle owners that these fear-mongering claims are false, baseless, scientifically unfounded and inconsistent with extensive technical studies conducted by leading automotive research institutions". As far as pollution is concerned, ethanol-blended petrol causes significantly reduced carbon tail-pipe emissions from vehicles, it said. Also, emissions owing to carbon molecules in ethanol are biogenic, i.e do not cause any net increment in carbon emissions in the environment at the vehicle's tail-pipe level.

It said that claims of ants or bees getting attracted towards the fuel tanks of the vehicles because of E20 fuel circulating on social media have been examined by BPCL, noting that fuel-grade ethanol used for petrol blending is produced through fermentation and distillation processes that eliminate residual sugars from the final product. Further, fuel ethanol contains denaturants, which are repellent to insects.

The factsheet also rejects as false claims such as a drastic drop in mileage of the vehicles because of the use of E20 fuel, engine parts getting damaged or corroded due to the use of E20 fuel, insurance companies or car manufacturers denying insurance or warranty claims if E20 fuel is used.It points out that a study undertaken by Indian Oil, ARAI, IIP-Dehradun and SIAM shows that the carbon monoxide emission decreased by about 50 per cent in two-wheelers and 30 per cent in four-wheelers. Unburnt hydrocarbon emissions reduced by about 20 per cent with E20 as compared to normal gasoline in both two-wheelers and passenger cars.

No issues were reported in most parameters, including drivability, startability, metal compatibility, and plastic compatibility.

The factsheet states that scientific evidence shows that the use of E-20 fuel gives better acceleration, better ride quality and lowered carbon emissions by approximately 30 per cent as compared to E10 fuel. RON 95 with blending of Ethanol 20 results in better anti-knocking properties and performance. Vehicles tuned for E20 fuel deliver better acceleration, which is a very important factor in city driving conditions. Additionally, ethanol's higher heat of vaporisation reduces intake manifold temperatures, increasing air-fuel mixture density and boosting volumetric efficiency, and claims that E20 causes a "drastic" reduction in fuel efficiency are misplaced.It highlights that, speaking on behalf of the Indian automobile industry, SIAM has also categorically stated that the applicable warranty coverage for gasoline vehicles, as per warranty terms & conditions specified by the respective vehicle manufacturer (OEMs), will continue to be honoured for vehicles operating with E20 fuel meeting the required specifications.

"It is Day 6 of Sonam Wangchuk's hunger strike. Today, he looks far weaker and more exhausted than he did a few days ago. "Today is Day 6 of Sonam Wangchuk's fast, and our team is fasting with him in solidarity. We appeal to everyone to observe a one-day fast from their homes to support this movement and share a video on social media," he said.

Six students associated with the All India Students' Association (AISA) also continued their indefinite hunger strike from a separate stage at the protest site.

On Thursday, AISA said the health condition of the fasting students has worsened, with Jawaharlal Nehru University Students' Union joint secretary Danish's blood sugar level dropping to 50 mg/dL, while that of another student, Deepak Kumar Verma, fell to 59 mg/dL.

Among the other fasting students, Manish and Aameen recorded blood sugar levels of 63 mg/dL each, while those of Neha and Hrishikesh were at 68 mg/dL, AISA said, alleging that most of the students were at risk of losing consciousness but would continue their fast until Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan resigned.

The protest entered its 14th day on Friday after receiving support over the past week from several political leaders and civil society members, including CPI(M) General Secretary M A Baby, senior CPI(M) leader Brinda Karat, CPI General Secretary D Raja, CPI(ML) Liberation General Secretary Dipankar Bhattacharya, social activist Yogendra Yadav, Supreme Court lawyer Prashant Bhushan, CPI leader Annie Raja, transparency activist Anjali Bhardwaj, RTI activist Nikhil Dey and TMC MP Sagarika Ghose.

The CJP protest began on June 20 over alleged irregularities in the examination system, including NEET.

Dipke has said the agitation would also raise other accountability-related issues, including electoral matters such as the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls.

As part of his three-day visit from July 3 to 5, Naidu participated in the signing of investment agreements, foundation stone-laying ceremonies and Bhoomi Pujas under the Swarna Kuppam Investments initiative at Pogurupalli village in Gudipalli Mandal. Chittoor MP Daggumalla Prasad, District Collector Sumit Kumar, APIIC Director Prem Kumar, industrialists and senior officials attended the programme.

Addressing the gathering, the Chief Minister said Kuppam has witnessed rapid transformation over the past two years and expressed gratitude to the people for electing him as MLA for the eighth time and giving him the opportunity to serve as Chief Minister for a fourth term. He said the government's vision is to build a healthy, prosperous and happy society based on the pillars of welfare, development and good governance.

Naidu announced that 27 industries with a proposed investment of Rs.9,322 crore would be established in Kuppam, generating direct employment for nearly 39,000 people. Among the major projects is the ABIS Proteins Chicken Processing Unit, being set up with an investment of Rs.200 crore, which is expected to create employment opportunities for farmers, allied sectors and local youth. He also highlighted the establishment of an MSME Park on 44 acres to encourage small industries, startups and entrepreneurship. The Chief Minister launched the "One Family – One Entrepreneur" initiative from Kuppam, urging young people to become entrepreneurs instead of waiting for government jobs. He said the government would facilitate industrial growth while ensuring quality employment opportunities. Special initiatives are also being taken to promote women entrepreneurship by supporting DWACRA women's groups and strengthening micro-enterprises across the state.

Highlighting future infrastructure plans, Naidu said Swarna Kuppam Vision–2029 includes construction of concrete village roads, BT roads in urban areas, improved connectivity to national highways, railway expansion and airport access. He announced plans to develop Kuppam as an industrial hub by leveraging the Bengaluru–Chennai Economic Corridor, including a direct road connecting Pogurupalli to Bengaluru.

Iran begins public mourning for Ayatollah killed in February

Iran has begun several days of public mourning and funeral processions for its former Supreme Leader, Ayatollah Ali Khamenei, more than four months after he was killed in strikes launched by the US and Israel. The former Ayatollah's body will lie in state in Tehran's Grand Mosalla from Friday, ahead of his burial in his hometown of Mashhad next Thursday.

Iranian authorities said 12 to 20 million people were expected to attend, which they are calling the "funeral of the century". It comes as Iran and the United States observe a fragile ceasefire after signing a preliminary deal to halt their conflict in June. Six days of ceremonies will start at 06:00 (03:30 BST) on Saturday, at Tehran's Imam Khomeini Mosalla, which visitors can visit to pay their respects until Sunday afternoon. There will be an official funeral ceremony in Tehran on Saturday, which the Tehran-based Mohammad Rasulullah Corps is leading. The group's commander Hassan Hassanzadeh said Khamenei's coffin would be displayed on an elevated platform, with crowd flows designed to allow visitors to enter and leave within 15 to 20 minutes. Khamenei's body will lie in the Grand Mosalla for three days, alongside the remains of family members who were also killed in the US and Israeli strikes in February. Authorities have ordered public and private offices in Tehran to close from Saturday through Monday, while traffic restrictions will shut down most of the city centre to private vehicles, AFP reported.

The airspace over Tehran will be partially closed from Friday and fully closed on Monday. On Tuesday, events will move to Qom, just south of Tehran, where a senior Shia cleric will lead funeral prayers at Jamkaran - one of Iran's most prominent and symbolic religious sites. Khamenei's body will then travel to Najaf in Iraq on Wednesday. Following a procession at the shrine of Imam Ali, Shia Islam's first imam, ceremonies will continue in Karbala before the body returns to Iran.

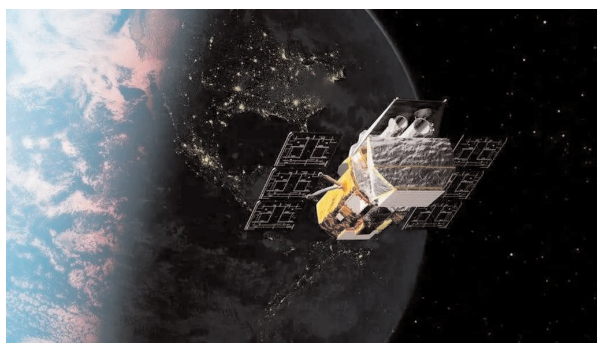
NASA LAUNCHES MISSION TO SAVE FALLING SPACE TELESCOPE



A Nasa-funded spacecraft has been sent into space to catch a falling telescope. The Swift observatory detects some of the most powerful explosions in the Universe - but is at risk of crashing back to Earth in the coming months. The small space telescope will be intercepted by the LINK craft, which will attempt to grab it with three robotic arms, and try and lift it back to a safe orbit. The rescue mission, launched on Friday, has never been attempted before, and Dr Simeon Barber, a space scientist, has said it is "high risk". "But Nasa obviously thinks it's worth a go. And the science community is hopeful about this because it's an important telescope that enables us to study super high-energy phenomena that we have no other means to study," said Barber, a senior research fellow at the Open University. The Swift observatory is falling because increased solar activity has pushed out the Earth's atmosphere such that it touches Swift. This drags on the observatory and slows it down as it orbits the Earth, lowering its altitude. When it was first launched it sat in an orbit at 373 miles (600 km) and has now lowered to around 220 miles (360 km), with most of that descent in the past two years. Satellites, fall to Earth and burn up on re-entry all the time. But Swift is scientifically special, beloved by the researchers who use it to peer into the very dawn of the cosmos. The observatory, which is the size of a large car, was launched in 2004, with three telescopes aboard, to study the most powerful explosions in the Universe. These are caused by the final, violent deaths of giant stars and by the collisions of the embers they leave behind. They release in just a few seconds the same energy as the Sun will give out over its entire 10-billion-year lifetime. And because these precious cataclysmic moments are so brief the spacecraft has to be quick and nimble – hence its name. In short, there is nothing like Swift, and Nasa deemed that it was a spacecraft worth saving. The engineers of a young company, Katalyst Space Technologies, from Flagstaff, Arizona, were given the task of saving the observatory.

A mayor in Japan announced her maternity leave - and got the whole country talking

When the mayor of a small town in western Japan announced she was taking maternity leave, she expected some raised eyebrows. But the reaction was far stronger - and more divided - than Shoko Kawata had ever anticipated. The 35-year-old has been plunged into a national debate about whether elected officials should take time off for childbirth, in a country that's struggling to lift birth rates. "I was so surprised because the reaction was so big," Kawata tells the BBC. Sitting on a blocky, cushioned armchair, she's flanked by two older men - her deputies - in a fifth-floor meeting room at City Hall in Yawata, a town south of Kyoto known for its shrines and cherry trees. As there is currently no legal framework for local elected officials to take time off when they have babies, Kawata won't be taking maternity leave officially. Instead, she is assigning the man on her left, Shigeto Nose, to temporarily carry out her role. She laid out her plans at a news conference in May, where she said she'd be off two months before and two months after her mid-September due date. She will be making history as Japan's first ever mayor to take maternity leave. Everyone at work, where the average age is 39, was supportive, she says. But that wasn't the case among members of the public, who've expressed varying views in thousands of X posts and several YouTube videos. Some say having a baby is tough and Kawata is doing her best. Japanese society has failed to design systems with pregnancy in mind, one claims. Another says Kawata is setting a wonderful example by putting her family first and making it easier for other women to enter politics. But critics argue that stepping away from public duties is "irresponsible", and if she wanted to get pregnant "she should have done so before taking office". One says top officials wanting to take extended leave "should resign". Others insist salaries should be cut during maternity leave. Kawata has brushed off the criticisms, proudly declaring she enjoys her job and believes now is the time for her to have a child and start a family. "If we were to criticise politicians taking maternity leave, it means we are effectively excluding all women in their 20s through 40s - women who are capable of becoming pregnant - from public office." Shinji Ishimaru, the former mayor of Akitakata city in the Hiroshima prefecture, believes the real issue is figuring out how to make sure duties are carried out during maternity leave. People agree maternity leave is good, he suggests on his YouTube channel, but he wants this case to spark a constructive discussion on finding a solution that doesn't disrupt municipal work.

New York braces for star-studded Taylor Swift and Travis Kelce wedding

Travis Kelce tries to shoot his shot with the famous pop star at a concert. On his podcast, he told his brother Jason that he'd made her a friendship bracelet with his number and attempted to present it to her, but failed. In an interview, months later, Swift said: "This all started when Travis very adorably put me on blast on his podcast..." September-November 2023: Going public Swift is spotted attending a Kansas City Chiefs NFL game in September 2023, where Kelce plays as a tight-end. She watched alongside Kelce's mother, Donna. At an Eras Tour concert two months later, she swapped lyrics to one of her songs, giving Travis a shout-out. When the concert wrapped, she ran into his arms for a kiss. Early 2024: Temperature rising The pair is seen supporting each other at multiple major events. Swift attended the Super Bowl, and celebrated the Chief's win with Travis and his family. Soon after, the football player attended the singer's Eras Tour concert in Sydney. He wore multiple friendship bracelets on both arms. June 2024: 'Tayvis' hits London Travis join Taylor on stage for one of her concerts. After the show, Swift and Kelce pose with Prince William, Prince George and Princess Charlotte in a behind-the-scenes selfie from the singer's London concert. It's their first social media post together as a couple. August 2025: Engagement announced The pair officially announce their engagement in a joint Instagram post. Kelce got down on one knee in a lush garden surrounded by flowers. "Your English teacher and your gym teacher are getting married," they captioned the post. Prince William and Catherine won't be there in the US for the wedding of Taylor Swift and Travis Kelce. So royalty won't be joining pop royalty for their big day. But even if not a guest at the wedding, Prince William is going to be a guest on Travis Kelce's podcast. Which is another kind of closeness. Travis's brother Jason, trailing the podcast, gave listeners a slight clue in saying their special guest would be "six-foot-three prince from London, England", which narrows it down somewhat. The podcast is due to appear at about 17.00 UK time, so we'll keep you updated later on what's said.

Ukrainian woman named by Interpol as main suspect in Monaco bomb attack

A Ukrainian woman has been identified as the main suspect for a parcel bombing in Monaco that seriously wounded a sanctioned Ukrainian multi-millionaire and two others. Monaco's deputy public prosecutor told reporters that Anastasiia Berezovska, 39, is suspected to have been "disguised as a man" and may not have acted alone. An Interpol Red Notice has been issued for Berezovska, who speaks German and is wanted for attempted murder, placing an explosive device on a public road with criminal intent, and criminal conspiracy. Just before 21:00 (19:00 GMT) on Monday, an individual left a package in the entrance hall of a small apartment building, followed by an explosion shortly afterwards. Police are looking into identifying any possible accomplices as they continue to search for the named suspect. Officials in Monaco believe Berezovska had spent some days casing out the residence. The explosion happened just as three residents were entering the building on Monday evening, a couple and a 13-year-old. Deputy public prosecutor Morgan Raymond said the suspect, pictured on CCTV cameras wearing a dark bucket hat, left the scene on foot but then is believed to have picked up a hire car and driven to Italy and on to Germany. Interpol's photo of Berezovska shows a woman with dark shoulder-length hair. The notice adds that she has a tattoo on her right arm which is "possibly" depicting a snake. Monaco's prosecutor thanked police from Monaco and France for their co-operation which made it possible "to identify, in a particularly short time.

BOMB BLAST AT DAMASCUS CAFE KILLS NINE, SYRIAN STATE MEDIA SAY

Highlights

- A bomb blast at a crowded cafe in central Damascus has killed at least nine people and injured 22 others, Syrian state media say.

A bomb blast at a crowded cafe in central Damascus has killed at least nine people and injured 22 others, Syrian state media say. The interior ministry said an explosive device was planted inside the cafe, which is located only 100m (330ft) from the Palace of Justice, a major government building in the capital's Hejaz district. There was no immediate claim from any group for the attack. It was the deadliest bombing in Damascus since a suicide attack on a church in June 2025 killed 25 people. A shadowy jihadist group, Saraya Ansar al-Sunnah, said it was behind that bombing, but authorities blamed the Islamic State (IS) group. Mohammed al-Dahabi, the owner of a glasses shop located next to the cafe, said Thursday's bombing was reminiscent of those seen in Damascus during Syria's civil war. "I felt strong pressure, and the whole place shook," he told the AFP news agency. "I ran to the place and saw people lying on the floor with blood pooled around them everywhere." Graphic video footage posted on social media showed at least two men lying motionless on the floor of the cafe's outdoor terrace. During a visit to the scene, Damascus Governor Maher Marwan Idlibi said those responsible for the bloodshed would be punished. "Each time the country sees a period of stability, malicious parties try to destabilise it," he added. There have been several attacks in Damascus since Islamist-led rebel forces overthrew Bashar al-Assad in December 2024, ending 13 years of devastating civil war. Interim President Ahmed al-Sharaa has struggled to consolidate control over the whole country and restore security since he came to power.

There have been several bouts of deadly sectarian fighting between government forces and members of Syria's Alawite and Druze religious minorities.

FIFA WORLD CUP 2026:

FIFA Clarifies Why Croatia's 2nd Goal Against Portugal Was Disallowed By VAR

After Croatia thought they had equalised against Portugal in a Round of 32 clash, but VAR intervened and ruled it out for offside, FIFA clarified that an IMU sensor inside the official match ball detected a faint touch from Croatian forward Igor Matanovic. Ivan Perisic had given Croatia the lead shortly after the break, but Cristiano Ronaldo's third goal of these finals drew Portugal level. Goncalo Ramos then rose highest to send a Rafael Leao cross home in the fourth minute of stoppage time. A Hail Mary pass into the Portugal box fell to Mario Pasalic to square for Josko Gvardiol to tap home in 103 minute. After a VAR review, however, Pasalic was deemed to have been in an offside position. The ball was crossed in by Ivan Perisic, and it appeared that Mario Pasalic had gotten in behind before chesting it down for Gvardiol to finish with a sliding effort. It looked as if Croatia had rescued itself right at the end, just like it has done so many times before. But VAR intervened. Initially, it looked like Pasalic had chested the ball off a deflection from Portugal's Renato Veiga, which would have kept him onside. But after the VAR review, it showed that Croatia's Igor Matanovic got a slight flick on the ball before it reached Veiga. At the point the ball made contact with Matanovic's head, Pašalic was in an offside position, which negated the goal in heartbreaking fashion for this Croatian side. FIFA later confirmed through a social media post that Matanovic's contact was determined using the data provided by Connected Ball Technology placed in the official match ball. "According to the data provided by Connected Ball Technology housed within the @adidasfootball Trionda, the official match ball of the @FIFAWorldCup, it was proven that contact was made by Croatia's #20 Igor Matanovic in the build up to the goal against Portugal, allowing the referee to correctly determine offside and disallow the goal. "IMU sensors housed within the Trionda ball are capable of determining any slight contact, displayed to viewers in the broadcast as a 'heartbeat graphic', and allowing officials an unprecedented level of data to make fast, accurate decisions," FIFA Media shared on X. Ronaldo's second-half goal and a late winner from Ramos as Portugal came from behind to sneak this tug-of-war Toronto tussle at the FIFA World Cup 2026.

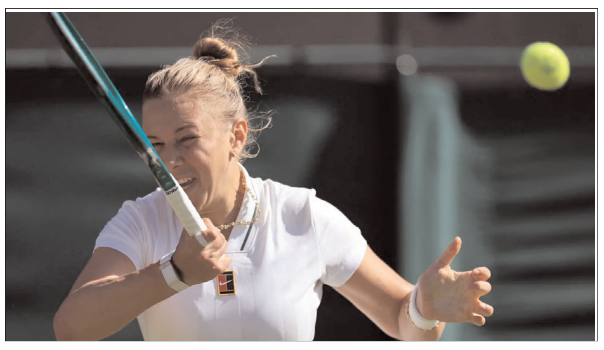
FIFA World Cup 2026 Stat Shows Cristiano Ronaldo's True Reality At Age Of 41

For the first time since the start of the FIFA World Cup 2026, Cristiano Ronaldo was subbed off during a match as Portugal manager Roberto Martinez looked for fresh legs in the middle of a stalemate with Croatia. Ronaldo opened the scoring for Portugal after defender Renato Veiga earned a penalty in the second half. Ronaldo, who hadn't had a single touch in Croatia's penalty box all game, finally had the opportunity to make his inclusion in the starting XI count. As expected, Ronaldo didn't miss from the spot, scoring his first-ever goal in the FIFA World Cup knockouts. However, Ronaldo's lacklustre performance in the game remained a major talking point. The 41-year-old, playing in his sixth World Cup, scored a brace for Portugal against Uzbekistan in a match that Portugal won 5-0. Yet, barring that game, Ronaldo's performances on the pitch have been poor. He was blamed for Portugal's twin draws in the group stage of the tournament against DR Congo and Colombia. Before being subbed off against Croatia in the 81st minute, Ronaldo had registered only one touch in the opposition team's penalty box-which was the 68th-minute strike he converted from the spot. For a team like Portugal, who arguably possess one of the finest midfields in the World Cup, having a striker who is not on the same wavelength as his teammates and not operating on the same frequency is a huge concern. It was this worry that prompted Martinez to sub him off in the 81st minute for Ruben Neves. The tactical change shifted Goncalo Ramos into Ronaldo's central role, while Neves took a spot in the centre of the midfield. What happened moments later was Ramos rising above the Croatian defenders to head home the winner for his team in stoppage time. The Paris Saint-Germain striker, who is set to join AC Milan in the summer, did exactly what Ronaldo was unable to do, and needed only minutes to pull it off.

Novak Djokovic Has History In Sights At Wimbledon

Novak Djokovic can move another step closer to history at Wimbledon in the third round on Friday. Defending champion Jannik Sinner is also in action in the last 32, while women's world number one Aryna Sabalenka faces former French Open winner Jelena Ostapenko. AFP Sport looks at three matches to watch on the fifth day of the tournament (x denotes seeding): Novak Djokovic (SRB x7) v Arthur Rinderknech (FRA x25) First meeting Djokovic was in vintage form during his second-round demolition of Stefanos Tsitsipas on Wednesday, underlining his determination to finally win that elusive 25th Grand Slam crown. The 39-year-old Serb delivered a statement of intent to his Wimbledon title rivals with a masterful straight-sets victory on Centre Court. Djokovic was so enamoured with his display that he even found time to prank a ball-girl -- pretending her repair work on his shirt had hurt him -- before jokingly challenging golf star Rory McIlroy, who was watching from the royal box, to a tennis match. The seven-time Wimbledon champion's good mood was understandable. Djokovic, seeded seventh, is now just one match win away from equalling Roger Federer's Wimbledon men's singles record of 105. But Djokovic has greater goals in his sights, aiming to equal Federer's men's record of eight Wimbledon titles -- which would break his tie with Margaret Court for the most Grand Slam crowns by either a man or woman. Winning Wimbledon would also make Djokovic the oldest man to lift a Grand Slam trophy in the Open era. As Djokovic said after beating Tsitsipas; "age is just a number". Next up for the ageless Serb is a first ever meeting with French 25th seed Arthur Rinderknech. Aryna Sabalenka (BLR x1) v Jelena Ostapenko (LAT) Sabalenka leads head to head 3-1 Bidding to win Wimbledon for the first time, Sabalenka faces a tricky test against Ostapenko in one of the ties of the round. The four-time Grand Slam champion, who has reached 14 successive major quarter-finals, has not been at her over-powering best so far in the tournament. The 28-year-old has never won Wimbledon, losing in the semi-finals on each of her past three visits.

Amanda Anisimova Avoids Wimbledon Upset; Iga Swiatek, Alexander Zverev Also Advance



Amanda Anisimova served three of her 20 aces in the deciding tiebreaker to hold off Sofia Kenin 6-2, 4-6, 7-6 (3) and reach the third round at Wimbledon on Thursday as Kate, the Princess of Wales, visited the All England Club. Anisimova, who was consoled by Kate a year ago after being routed by Iga Swiatek in the final, trailed 3-1 in the third set before she broke back in the sixth game against her fellow American, the 2020 Australian Open champion who is now ranked No. 105. "Some moments were really awful. I'm just so happy through to the next round," Anisimova said on No. 2 Court. "I never thought that I'd be saying this - but thank you to my serve today," she added. "I'm not an amazing server. Now, I can finally say I can serve pretty good." The sixth-seeded Anisimova whacked her racket on her leg at one point in the deciding set. "I was down 3-1 and I told myself to just keep fighting and this might be your last moments at Wimbledon ... just try and maybe have fun and enjoy it," said Anisimova, who will next face another American, 26th-seeded Madison Keys. "I try to remind myself, just have fun, you are playing at Wimbledon. I do get hard on myself sometimes." Swiatek, who beat Anisimova 6-0, 6-0 for the 2025 title on Centre Court, needed just 70 minutes to get past 2021 Wimbledon finalist Karolina Pliskova 6-1, 6-3. The defending champion next gets Filipino rising star Alexandra Eala, who rallied to beat Maya Joint 3-6, 6-2, 6-0. On Tuesday, Joint spoiled Serena Williams' singles comeback. Second-seeded Elena Rybakina, the 2022 champion at the All England Club, made quick work of Caty McNally 6-1, 6-2 and will face Belgium's Elise Mertens, seeded 25th, for a spot in the last 16. A well-dressed Taylor Fritz impressed again, beating compatriot Patrick Kypson 6-2, 6-2, 7-5 to reach the third round. Fritz's white blazer and NBA-style warmup pants for his walk-on at No. 2 Court drew attention but his play wasn't bad either - he fired 19 aces and avoided getting pushed into a fourth set.

Harry Kane Tipped To Miss Out On Ballon d'Or By Ex-England Star Despite World Cup Heroics

Former England defender Jamie Carragher has ruled out the possibility of Harry Kane winning the Ballon d'Or despite his heroics at the FIFA World Cup 2026. Kane scored a brace in the second half as England left it late to edge past DR Congo 2-1 in their Round of 32 clash in Atlanta on Wednesday. The England captain took his tournament goal tally to five following a brilliant club season with Bayern Munich, where he recorded 61 goals and 7 assists in just 51 appearances. While Carragher admits that few can match Kane's numbers over the past 12 months, he believes the striker's chances of winning the Ballon d'Or are unrealistic because he doesn't see England winning the World Cup. In his column for the Telegraph, Carragher feels that the Ballon d'Or will most certainly be given to someone from the tournament's winning side. "If the vote for the Ballon d'Or was being held right now, Kane would be the worthy winner, his heroics for England against DR Congo absorbing his 72nd goal of this season. Only Lionel Messi has recently hit those kinds of numbers. Not even Cristiano Ronaldo was so prolific in one campaign. Based on the past 12 months, Kane should win the Ballon d'Or. Unfortunately, he probably won't because in a World Cup year, it is bound to go to the star player of the winning nation. Much as I want to believe England can still win it, there is nothing to support that opinion, especially after recent performances. If Argentina retain the cup, Messi will win the Ballon d'Or.

Jurgen Klopp 'Signals Willingness' To Take Over As Germany Coach Julian Nagelsmann Resigns

Julian Nagelsmann has resigned as Germany coach after his team failed to make the World Cup round of 16 for the third tournament running, and former Liverpool manager Jurgen Klopp is in line to take over. Nagelsmann's departure, announced on Friday by the national soccer federation, comes four days after Paraguay stunned Germany on penalties in the round of 32 and follows talks with his bosses. The federation said it planned to speak to Klopp and "he has already signaled his willingness in general to take on the role." It would be Klopp's first coaching job since leaving Liverpool in 2024. Nagelsmann initially said he'd stay on with Germany on a contract which had another two years to run and reportedly made him among the highest-paid coaches at the World Cup. He faced mounting criticism over his tactics and team selection at the tournament. "In the days since we went out I've done a lot of thinking and spoken with trusted people in my personal life and at the (federation)," Nagelsmann said in a statement. "This decision was anything but easy for me. My main aim has always been the team's success. After such a bitter disappointment, they've earned the chance for a completely fresh start." Germany's defeat by Paraguay followed group-stage losses at the 2018 World Cup in Russia and the 2022 World Cup in Qatar, when it was a 32-team tournament. It has not won a men's World Cup knockout game since beating Argentina in the 2014 final. Nagelsmann originally said after his side's exit that he was "not one to walk away" but he then returned home for crisis talks with the federation on Thursday. His departure drew a tribute from the head of the German government. "The chancellor thanks Julian Nagelsmann for his commitment and service in recent years as national team coach," German Chancellor Friedrich Merz's spokesperson, Stefan Kornelius, told reporters at a government news conference that was taking place as the news arrived.

"I Won't Be Driving": ExtraEmily Breaks Silence On Recent Twitch Ban Due to Distracted Driving Incident

ExtraEmily is back on Twitch after a 24-hour suspension, and unlike the last two times this happened, she came back with something to say. The near-miss clip from her June 28 stream had already spread far enough to pull in Asmongold's reaction and a wave of calls for Twitch to ban streaming while driving entirely. What she said when her account was restored was quieter than any of that, and considerably more personal. What ExtraEmily Said When Her Account Came Back She addressed it directly on her July 2 stream, starting with the ban itself. "I completely understand why I was suspended bc it's very dangerous," she said, "and I want to learn from my mistake and do better in the future. So from now on, I'm going to try to minimize the amount of driving that I'm doing on stream." She went further than a standard apology. "If I do drive on stream, I'm definitely gonna have chat off," she said, "and I just want do better and not make the same mistake again. I do feel really bad for being distracted and not being safe on the road. And I totally understand why ppl are like, what the heck." The most concrete part came at the end. "So I won't be driving on stream for atleast a few weeks," she said. "Even if I do drive, I'm gonna take steps to improve. Things need to change, so I shall." Why This Is the Third Time Having This Conversation Emily Xuechun Zhang, who goes by ExtraEmily on Twitch, has 978,000 followers on the platform and has now been suspended for driving-related incidents three times. The first was in October 2023, when viewers reported her using her phone while driving during an IRL stream. The second was in April 2025, after she ran a red light on camera and appeared distracted while doing it. This latest ban, a 24-hour suspension following the June 28 near-collision with a Mazda SUV while making a left turn, is the third.

Max Verstappen To McLaren? Lando Norris Makes Blunt Admission

Lando Norris says reports that Max Verstappen has considered a move to McLaren are “a cool thing” to hear but “not a serious thing” as speculation swirls in Formula 1 about a switch which could create a lineup of two champions. Reports from media including Sky Sports indicated last week that Verstappen's management had requested, and held, a meeting with McLaren ahead of the Austrian Grand Prix. The content of any discussions wasn't reported and the Dutch driver has yet to comment. “It's a cool thing, it's a good thing that a four-time world champion wants to come on board and wants to potentially join the team," Norris said Thursday as he prepares for his home British Grand Prix. “I don't know how much of it's true, but it's a cool thing and if there's an opportunity for me to drive with other people, it's something I've always looked forward to. But it's not a thing for now. It's not a serious thing.” McLaren chief executive Zak Brown said on the Up To Speed podcast released Wednesday that Norris and teammate Oscar Piastri are “not going anywhere” and he'd only consider Verstappen if McLaren had an opening. Besides Verstappen, “quite a few others” in F1 are interested in a potential McLaren drive too, Norris said. “I'm also just excited for my future with McLaren. I'm still going to be here for many, many more years, so I'm excited for whoever I get partnered with,” he added. "But for the time being, me and Oscar are still working very well together. We're excited to work together for more years too, so that's our focus for now.” Verstappen remains under contract with Red Bull until the end of 2028 but there have been signs the deal includes options to exit earlier under certain conditions.

A planned move to McLaren for his long-time race engineer GianPiero Lambiase increased the speculation of a potential move to McLaren for the Dutchman. Mercedes has been interested in Verstappen in the past but team principal Toto Wolff has said he wants to keep title rivals George Russell and Kimi Antonelli. Verstappen's also previously suggested he'd consider leaving F1. Norris said he believed he could hold his own if Verstappen, a friend and on-track rival for the title last year, is ever his teammate. “I do believe I can beat any driver. I think what makes Max so incredible is how he is over the course of a season, every single weekend, performing to the level that he does is what's impressive,” Norris said. “I believe whether it's him or having a chance to go against Lewis (Hamilton) or Fernando (Alonso), any of the drivers that people know are some of the best, I think it's a cool opportunity for me at the same time. So, excited for whatever may come my way in the future.”

TFI FANS EXPECT NATIONAL AWARD GLORY FOR KALKI VFX

As the 2024 National Film Awards are expected to be announced this evening, Telugu cinema fans are eagerly backing Kalki 2898 AD for major honours. Many believe the Prabhas-starrer deserves either Best Film or Best Visual Effects recognition, calling it one of the most technically accomplished films ever produced in TFI history. Rebel Star Prabhas's Kalki 2898 AD is a 1000 Crore film and the second part of the film is one of the most-hyped sequels in Indian Cinema. Two schedules of the film are completed and the next schedule will begin from August/September. Ahead of the film's release, the team is planning to do 1-hour films with the main characters of the film like Dulquer Salmaan for OTT. These films will release before the movie release and each is being planned with 20 Crore Budget. The challenge in that is the approval of OTT and the remunerations of stars. However, if cracked, these films will explain the backstories of the characters even better because runtime of the film restricts proper explanation. Also, the films will create more excitement and interest about the main film before the release. If Netflix or any platform approves this, it will be a big achievement for the makers and also the brand 'Kalki' because these are the days even stars are struggling to get proper deals for their films. Now that Sing Geetham duties are completed, Nag Ashwin will begin intense pre-production of Prabhas portions. The idea is to shoot non-stop for the film provided Prabhas schedules work out. The buzz around Kalki 2 continues to grow, and the sequel is shaping up to be even bigger and more ambitious than the first installment. Following the massive success of Kalki 2898 AD, fans are eagerly waiting to see what director Nag Ashwin has planned next. One of the biggest talking points is the reported casting changes. According to ongoing industry speculation, Sai Pallavi is expected to replace Deepika Padukone. While there has been no official confirmation yet, the rumor has already sparked discussions among fans across social media. Adding to the excitement, Alia Bhatt is reportedly being considered for a special role in the film. If the reports turn out to be true, her inclusion could bring another layer of star power to the highly anticipated sequel. Disha Patani, who appeared in the first film, is also expected to return and continue her journey in the futuristic universe. On the male front, the lineup remains incredibly strong. Prabhas will once again lead the story, while Kamal Haasan and Amitabh Bachchan are expected to play crucial roles. There is also speculation that Vijay Deverakonda could return, especially if the sequel explores flashback sequences connected to the events of the first film. With such exciting possibilities, Kalki 2 is already generating enormous anticipation among movie lovers. The ongoing debate around Ramayana has unexpectedly brought Kalki 2898 AD back into the spotlight. After the teaser of Ramayana received mixed reactions, particularly criticism over a few VFX shots, film lovers, especially from the South, began drawing comparisons with other big-budget spectacles.

As the 2024 National Film Awards are expected to be announced this evening, Telugu cinema fans are eagerly backing Kalki 2898 AD for major honours. Many believe the Prabhas-starrer deserves either Best Film or Best Visual Effects recognition, calling it one of the most technically accomplished films ever produced in TFI history.

RAMJI DOTT: THE VFX SUPERVISOR REDEFINING CREATIVE VISUALS IN TOLLYWOOD

A new name is quietly earning serious respect among Telugu cinema's technical circles — Ramji Dott, a VFX Supervisor whose recent body of work is turning heads for its creative ambition and cinematic finish.

While many technicians deliver clean, functional visual effects, Ramji Dott belongs to a rarer category: an artist who treats VFX as storytelling, not just problem-solving. Over a remarkably short span, his name has become familiar to industry professionals who value craft over shortcuts.

A Track Record Built on Landmark Films

Ramji Dott has contributed his visual effects expertise to some of Telugu cinema's most talked-about titles, including Mahanati, 118, Masooda, and Mirai. Each project demanded a different visual language — from the period elegance of Mahanati to the tension-driven texture of Masooda — and he adapted his approach to serve the story every time.

His most defining creative achievement came with Rao Bahadur, a project that showcased the full range of his abilities. Of the film's nearly two hours of visual effects work, roughly thirty minutes were pure creative 3D VFX — fully imagined, designed, and executed sequences that went far beyond routine clean-up or enhancement. The results were widely regarded as some of the most striking creative VFX to come out of a Telugu production in recent memory.

Pushing the Frontier: Hybrid Live-Action Technology

What truly sets Ramji Dott apart is his commitment to the future of the medium. He recently developed a teaser titled Mahaveer Karna using hybrid live-action technology — a technique that blends real performance capture with advanced digital craft.

The teaser's visuals are strikingly realistic, achieving a level of believability and scale that is difficult to produce even in far larger productions. It stands as a statement of intent: proof that ambitious, world-class cinematic imagery can be created with vision, technical mastery, and the intelligent use of emerging tools.

A Filmmaker's Sensibility

Ramji Dott's work is memorable not because of technical polish alone, but because of the creative instinct behind it. He approaches every frame with a filmmaker's eye — asking what the shot should make the audience feel, not simply how to render it.

MOST ANTICIPATED ODYSSEY TRAILER: WHY 80% DISLIKES?

One of the most anticipated films in the global cinema is coming up shortly in the form of Odyssey. This film is directed by the legendary Christopher Nolan, and it is preparing for release on July 17. The promotional material of this film has been rather questionable till now. This is due to the fact that people have been finding fault with the casting choices as there are performances that extreme wokism has been identified in filling crucial roles. The desperate effort to diversify the races of the actors and cast multiracial actors is looking artificial.

Now, this film is facing extreme backlash on social media as the newly released trailer has received multiple times more dislikes than likes on YouTube. The fact that the trailer has gained over 100,000 dislikes as opposed to just 47K likes is instating this fact and the shocking thing is that the volume of dislikes is consistently climbing up. Over 100k dislikes and it's still climbing.
