Hyderabad (TSIT): Telangana Director General of Police C.V. Anand on Monday directed police officials across the State to make comprehensive security arrangements for the smooth and peaceful conduct of Ganesh festivities, scheduled from September 14 to 25.

Reviewing the preparedness through a video conference with senior police officers and SIs, Anand said security planning should cover every stage — from the installation of Ganesh pandals to the final idol immersion on September 25. The DGP directed officials to give special attention to electrical safety, traffic management and crowd control at pandals. Police were asked to coordinate with the Electricity, Fire Services and other departments, while organisers should deploy volunteers, install CCTV cameras and ensure proper queue management.

He said details of pandals, organisers, committee members and vehicles proposed for idol immersion should be uploaded on the dedicated online portal. SHOs have been provided separate logins to monitor arrangements, while senior officers have been instructed to visit pandals and record their observations.

For the immersion, Anand called for advance mapping of routes, roads and bridges, including verification of their load-bearing capacity. Bomb disposal teams and dog squads should be deployed wherever necessary.

Uttam Blames El Niño, KCR’s Irrigation Failures for Telangana Water Woes

Hyderabad, TSIT BUREAU: Irrigation and Civil Supplies Minister N.Uttam Kumar Reddy on Monday attributed the prevailing water scarcity in Telangana to El Niño conditions and what he termed the irrigation failures of the previous BRS government led by former Chief Minister K. Chandrashekar Rao.

Speaking to journalists in the Assembly lobbies, Uttam Kumar Reddy said El Niño had adversely affected rainfall and water availability, while incomplete irrigation projects had compounded the situation. “The farmers of Telangana are facing difficulties because of two factors — El Niño and KCR,” he said.

The Minister alleged that the previous BRS government spent nearly Rs 1.81 lakh crore on irrigation during its decade in power, but failed to complete several important projects, including Kalwakurthy, Nettampadu, Koilsagar, Bheema and the SLBC Tunnel. He also questioned the BRS government’s record on the Palamuru-Rangareddy Lift Irrigation Scheme, saying around Rs 27,500 crore had been spent without developing the necessary distributory network to create the envisaged irrigation potential. He maintained that retaining Jurala as the project’s original source would have been more advantageous to Telangana.Uttam Kumar Reddy said the BRS had no moral right to question the Congress government on irrigation after leaving several projects incomplete and failing to secure necessary clearances for key schemes.

Bangladesh court grants bail to Chinmoy Krishna Das, but release remains blocked Dhaka, Sep 7 : Despite securing bail in two cases, prominent Bangladeshi Hindu leader Chinmoy Krishna Das remained behind bars, with his release blocked by two other cases, local media reported.

A High Court bench comprising Justice KM Zahid Sarwar and Justice Sheikh Abu Taher granted bail on Sunday after hearing two separate bail petitions filed by Chinmoy, the spokesperson for the Bangladesh Sammilito Sanatani Jagaran Jot, in the cases.

The cases were registered at Kotwali Police Station in Chattogram on November 26, 2024, over allegations of vandalism and obstructing police personnel from performing their duties.

Speaking to Bangladesh's leading newspaper The Daily Star, Chinmoy's lawyer Apurba Kumar Bhattacharya said the Hindu leader who has been behind bars since November 25, 2024, is accused in six cases, including murder and sedition.

Kumar said that although Chinmoy has obtained bail in five of the cases from the High Court and lower courts, the Supreme Court's Appellate Division has stayed the High Court order granting him bail in the sedition case. Chinmoy was arrested in Dhaka on November 25, 2024, and sent to jail the following day after a Chattogram court rejected his bail plea. On December 11, the same court again refused bail in the case.

His arrest sparked massive protests by the Hindu community in Bangladesh and across the globe.

Bangladesh has witnessed escalating violence against minorities, especially Hindus, during the eighteen-month tenure of former Muhammad Yunus-led interim government, with such incidents continuing under the ruling Bangladesh Nationalist Party (BNP) administration.

DU colleges open doors to PG students after collapse

New Delhi : In the wake of the deadly collapse of a PG hostel building in Delhi's Satya Niketan, several Delhi University South Campus colleges have stepped in to support students affected by the tragedy by opening their campuses and premises to those who are unable to safely return to their accommodation. At least six people have lost their lives in the building collapse, while five others have been rescued, and the search for those still trapped in the debris is underway at the collapse site. A large number of students are feared to be among those trapped in the rubble, as several students from nearby Delhi University colleges were reportedly residing in PG accommodations in the area. Aryabhata College, Motilal Nehru College, and Atma Ram Sanatan Dharma (ARSD) College announced a holiday in view of the tragic building collapse and the situation arising from the incident. Sri Venkateshwara College also declared a holiday. Many students living in the PG accommodations in Satya Niketan are enrolled in nearby Delhi University colleges, prompting institutions in the area to extend support to students who may have been displaced or are facing difficulties in returning to their accommodation. Several other Delhi University colleges have also offered assistance to students who are unable to access their PGs or are otherwise facing accommodation-related difficulties following the collapse.

Mayawati flags Delhi collapse, MP liquor deaths, UP-Bihar floods

New Delhi: Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP) supremo Mayawati on Monday expressed sadness and concern over the collapse of a five-storey PG hostel in South Delhi, the deaths caused by spurious liquor in Madhya Pradesh's Sagar district, and the loss of life and property due to floods in states such as Uttar Pradesh and Bihar.

She said these incidents indicate that the government and administration are not fulfilling their responsibilities properly and stressed the need for greater vigilance in matters concerning public welfare.

"The collapse of a five-story PG hostel in South Delhi, resulting in the deaths of five people, and the deaths of 18 people yesterday in Sagar district of Madhya Pradesh after consuming poisonous liquor, and the subsequent hospitalisation of approximately 190 sick people for treatment, and the destruction of life and property due to floods in states like Uttar Pradesh and Bihar are extremely sad and worrying", she said in a post on X. Air India Express flight returned to Kochi after engine oil pressure warning: Airline

New Delhi : An Air India Express aircraft, flying from the Cochin International Airport to Abu Dhabi, returned to the Kerala airport in line with established safety protocols after a problem was detected, the airline clarified on Monday.

Boeing 737 flight IX 415 was about 50 minutes into its journey from Cochin to Abu Dhabi, flying at 36,000 feet when the crew noticed a rapid fall in Engine 1 oil quantity, according to reports.

"A week ago, one of our Kochi-Abu Dhabi flights made an air turnback in line with established safety protocols," an Air India Express spokesperson said. Meanwhile, the passengers were subsequently connected to Abu Dhabi on an alternative aircraft, the airline added in a statement. "Reports presenting this incident without the relevant timeline and context may inadvertently cause unnecessary concern among guests and the travelling public," the Air India Express spokesperson said.

Moreover, the pilots carried out a FORDEC assessment, a structured decision-making process used in aviation and decided to return to Cochin as the oil quantity continued to decline. The commander informed air traffic control through Mumbai Radio and the aircraft reversed course, sources said. The crew continued monitoring engine parameters and prepared for contingencies, the reports said.

They suggest that about 45 minutes after the turn-back, Engine 1 oil pressure began fluctuating and entered the red zone on the cockpit gauge, indicating a dangerous drop.

However, the aircraft landed safely at the Cochin International Airport.

In addition, the passengers were subsequently connected to Abu Dhabi on an alternative aircraft, the airline said.

Separately, earlier in August, an Air India Express flight from Dammam to Delhi was diverted to Ahmedabad after a tissue paper containing a bomb threat was found inside the aircraft's bathroom.

Kolkata: The Enforcement Directorate (ED) on Monday conducted searches at seven premises linked to Trinamool Congress (TMC) Rajya Sabha MP Mohammad Nadimul Haque in Delhi, West Bengal and Jharkhand as part of a money laundering investigation involving Urdu daily Akhbar-e-Mashriq.

The 56-year-old Haque, who is also a journalist and businessman, is a director of Akhbar-E-Mashriq Pvt Ltd, the company that publishes the newspaper.

The ED's Kolkata zonal office conducted searches at locations in Kolkata, Delhi and Ranchi. In Kolkata, officials searched the Akhbar-e-Mashriq office on Darga Road in Park Circus. Central security forces cordoned off the premises, with the main entrance closed during the operation.

A search was also conducted at Haque's government residence in Delhi, which also serves as a temporary TMC office.

The operation began early Monday and was carried out in coordination with security and state police forces. ED officials are examining documentary and digital evidence as well as the financial dealings of entities and individuals connected with the case. According to ED sources, the investigation relates to allegations concerning the publication and dissemination of material allegedly promoting communal disharmony. The probe also covers allegations of illegal transactions, unaccounted cash dealings and funding from suspected sources. The ED case under the Prevention of Money Laundering Act (PMLA) stems from an FIR registered by the Bidhannagar Police Commissionerate. Financial records and other documents linked to Akhbar-e-Mashriq are being scrutinised as part of the investigation. Besides Kolkata, the newspaper is published from Delhi, Ranchi, Asansol, Siliguri, Bhopal, Lucknow and Srinagar.

He holds a bachelor's degree in Political Science from St Xavier's College, University of Kolkata. Before entering politics, Haque was associated with journalism and writing. He was first elected to the Rajya Sabha in May 2012 and is currently serving his third term, which runs from 2024 to 2030. During his parliamentary career, he has also served on several important parliamentary committees.

MP spurious liquor tragedy

Sagar: An FIR has been registered against 20 accused in Madhya Pradesh's Sagar district under Sections 105, 3(5) and 123 of the Indian Penal Code and Section 49-A of the Madhya Pradesh Excise Act at Banda police station, a police statement said on Sunday. Police have so far arrested 10 of the accused named in the FIR. Interrogation is underway to establish the source and supply chain of the suspected liquor.

The tragedy occurred in the Banda and Shahgarh tehsil areas of Sagar district after the consumption of suspected spurious and illicit liquor. Preliminary reports have confirmed the deaths of 11 people, while several others are undergoing treatment in various hospitals.

Nepal observes mourning day for Rasuwa flood victims

Kathmandu: Nepal on Monday observed a national day of mourning on the 13th day of the devastating Rasuwa flash flood disaster, honouring more than 1,340 people who lost their lives in one of the country's deadliest natural disasters in recent history.

Nearly 5,000 people remain missing, including 589 foreign nationals, after flash floods struck Rasuwa, which borders China, and adjoining districts on August 26 following an ice-rock avalanche in the high Himalayas. The disaster caused extensive loss of life and widespread damage to infrastructure across northern and central Nepal. The government declared September 7 a national day of mourning to honour victims of the catastrophic floods that swept through Rasuwa, Nuwakot, Dhading and other areas along the Bhotekoshi and Trishuli river systems.

The observance comes on the 13th day after the disaster, in keeping with the traditional Hindu practice of marking the thirteenth day following a death. The day holds significance in many Hindu communities, when rituals are performed to honour the deceased and formally conclude the mourning period.

The Ministry of Home Affairs said the national flag would be flown at half-mast at government offices across Nepal and at Nepali diplomatic missions abroad. The floods destroyed homes, roads, bridges, hydropower projects, government offices and other critical infrastructure, leaving thousands of families displaced and disrupting livelihoods across the affected areas.

Two suspected arms dealers held in Agartala

Agartala: Tripura Police and Assam Rifles in a joint operation arrested two suspected arms dealers after they allegedly arrived in Agartala from Bihar, officials said on Monday.

The arrests were made on Sunday night in the Shalbagan area along the Agartala-Khowai road. Police were conducting vehicle checks when they received information from Assam Rifles that two men were allegedly moving on foot from Dondomia towards Agartala carrying illegal arms and ammunition. A joint ambush was subsequently laid in the area, following which the suspects were intercepted and detained.

A search led to the recovery of two pistols, three magazines, eight rounds of 7.65 mm ammunition and two mobile phones, officials said.

The accused were identified as Suraj Kumar, 29, from Lakhisarai district, and Srikanth Kumar, 36, from Vaishali district in Bihar. They allegedly failed to produce valid licences or other documents authorising possession of the weapons and ammunition.

The recovered items were seized at the spot in the presence of an Executive Magistrate and independent witnesses, with proper seizure memos prepared, the official said. Tripura has witnessed several arrests of suspected arms dealers, many of them from Bihar, in recent years.

Calcutta HC quashes arrest warrant against Mahua Moitra

Kolkata: The Calcutta High Court on Monday quashed an arrest warrant issued against Trinamool Congress (TMC) Krishnanagar MP Mahua Moitra by a court in West Bengal's Nadia district. A division bench headed by Justice Debangshu Basak also transferred the related case from the Krishnanagar district court to the MP-MLA court at Bidhannagar in North 24 Parganas district. The bench further quashed other related orders passed by the Krishnanagar District Court in the case.

Moitra had been accused of making controversial and allegedly insulting remarks about the Indian Army and Union Home Minister Amit Shah. Some of her comments concerning women wearing tulsi wood necklaces, burqa and hijab had also triggered controversy.

A Krishnanagar resident had filed a complaint against the MP under various provisions of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS), 2023 and Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita (BNSS), 2023.

The complaint accused Moitra of degrading the modesty of women, inciting conflict between religious groups, hurting religious sentiments and intimidating people.

The Krishnanagar court had summoned Moitra several times. However, after she failed to appear, the court issued an arrest warrant against her.

Moitra subsequently approached the Calcutta High Court challenging the warrant. During an earlier hearing, the High Court had stayed its implementation.

On Monday, the division bench quashed the warrant and transferred the case to the MP-MLA court.

Moitra's counsel Ark Nag had earlier questioned whether the Krishnanagar court had jurisdiction to hear the case, arguing that as a sitting MP, the matter should be heard by the designated MP-MLA court. The division bench accepted the contention.

BJP mocks Congover Pilot's Punjab appointment

New Delhi: The Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) on Sunday took a dig at the Congress after the party appointed Sachin Pilot as its new Punjab in-charge, replacing former Chhattisgarh Chief Minister Bhupesh Baghel, saying the grand old party "knows how to play musical chairs very well".

Baghel has been appointed All India Congress Committee (AICC) general secretary in-charge of Assam as part of an organisational reshuffle. Speaking to reporters, BJP National Secretary Rohan Gupta said changing leaders, seats or locations would not help the Congress and that the party needed to change its policies and intentions. "Congress knows how to play 'musical chairs' very well. Changing leaders, changing their seats, or changing locations won't achieve anything. The Congress Party needs to change its policies and intentions. Look at the state of the four states where the people gave Congress an opportunity," Gupta said. Referring to Congress-ruled states, Gupta alleged that the party stood for corruption and questioned its performance in Karnataka, Telangana, Kerala and Himachal Pradesh. "Congress means corruption. Look at Karnataka, Telangana, Kerala, or Himachal Pradesh. It has been four years of government in Himachal, and the promise of 1 lakh government jobs is still only on paper.

The Day A Building
Fell And Delhi
Watched In Horror

For the past two years, I have been working the 5 am shift for the channel - anchoring and then reporting from ground zero after my bulletins. Sunday, September 6, was meant to be no exception to this protocol. But it was, for reasons beyond belief and comprehension.

At 2:15 pm, as I was heading back home after taking a few political reactions, I got a call. A building in Satya Niketan had collapsed. The flash on our reporters' group did not even hint at the scale of devastation that I was about to witness. Soon, I began giving lives from the car, hoping, praying that the tragedy wouldn't be so grim. With a glimmer of hope in my eyes, my cameraperson Momin and I rushed to the spot. We were amongst the first few journalists on ground.

What we saw next was total chaos. Ambulances, NDRF, police, fire brigade, and MCD officials were on the spot. A sea of people had come in to see the extent of the tragedy. What was once a multi-storeyed structure lay as pure debris before our eyes. Bulldozers moved through the narrow lanes as officials kept pushing people aside to make way. Often, officials had to physically intervene and diffuse scuffles that broke out while the operations were underway. One related yet inalienable detail was that the incident occurred right in time for the DUSU elections, so student leaders were present in large numbers. Occasionally, tempers flared and arguments even occurred. Over the next few hours, we saw leaders from across the political spectrum come in to assess the situation. My cameraperson and I reported continuously for over 8-hours. Issuing advisories on loudspeakers, the NDRF kept digging their way in to reach all those who were trapped. Despite hours having passed since the tragedy, the authorities faced numerous difficulties reaching those trapped beneath the rubble.

The incident and the gory visuals of students crying out for help, being taken away on stretchers, has cast a shadow on the memory of the national capital forever. Occurring shortly after the Prime Minister's visit to DU and ahead of BRICS Summit in the capital, the incident poses serious questions, the most important being: How many more such incidents do we need to learn from? A total of 13 people have been rescued from the debris of the nearly 50-year-old building. According to officials, five victims were brought dead to AIIMS Trauma Centre, while another critically injured patient died during treatment, taking the death count to six. An AIIMS update said 11 injured patients were brought to the trauma centre. Three remain admitted and are undergoing treatment. One patient underwent surgery on an injured limb, while another, who suffered minor injuries, was discharged after observation. Deputy Commissioner of Police (Southwest) Amit Goel said one more person was rescued during overnight operations but was declared dead, pushing the count to six.

Round-The-Clock Rescue Efforts

Rescue workers continued operations throughout the night as fears remained that several people, most of them students, could still be trapped under the debris.

The launch of EOS-05 is the first step taken by India in the field of continuous Earth observation

-Dr. Priyanka Saurabh

Earth observation satellites have now become essential tools in governance, disaster relief, agriculture, environmental protection, and national security. These satellites provide remote sensing data about the Earth's surface, atmosphere, and oceans, helping governments monitor changes that cannot be easily detected by ground systems. India's Earth observation mission has been well established for years, and the launch of EOS-05 on GSLV-F17 is a significant step towards enhancing its capabilities. This is particularly significant because its ability to image from geosynchronous orbit enables repeated observations of the Indian region. The launch of EOS-05 is part of a shift in the nature of satellite remote sensing. Earth observation has traditionally been a major application of satellites operating in low Earth orbit (LEO). These satellites will provide extremely detailed images, but due to their orbit, they will only pass over a specific area at regular intervals. This is very useful for periodic coverage, but it could be even more useful in rapidly changing conditions. These systems could be complemented by a geosynchronous imaging satellite that can observe a large area over a long period of time. This is especially important when events occur over a period of hours rather than days. Cyclones can suddenly intensify or change direction, floods can spread across a wide area, forest fires can ignite or become uncontrollable, and maritime activity can be in a state of constant flux. Continuous satellite observations can provide authorities with more dynamic information about such events. Therefore, EOS-05 should be viewed as a complementary element to LEO satellites in the Earth observation system. LEO satellites can be used to obtain detailed images, while geosynchronous satellites can provide greater stability and continuity. This capability is crucial for a diverse and disaster-prone country like India. Natural disasters like cyclones, floods, landslides, and forest fires frequently impact the country. Early warning, rapid assessment, and continuous monitoring are essential for effective disaster management. Frequent satellite observations can help authorities assess the evolution of a disaster situation and quickly locate affected areas. Satellite images can also be helpful in mapping inundated areas during floods. In the event of a forest fire, regular monitoring can be useful in observing changes in burned areas. This monitoring can also help understand changing weather patterns during cyclones. But imagery is only valuable if time and skill are invested in converting it into a useful product. The real challenge for India is to make satellite observations an integral part of disaster management platforms, providing administrators, disaster management agencies, and local authorities with real-time, easily accessible information. The aim is to bridge the gap between data collection and decision-making. Another sector that will benefit from EOS-05 and India's overall space Earth observation capabilities is agriculture. Regular monitoring of the agricultural landscape at the ground level in India is challenging and resource-intensive. Satellite observations can be helpful in assessing agricultural indicators such as vegetation, crop conditions, and land use changes. Satellite images can be used in conjunction with weather data, soil data, and ground observations to detect the development of stress in crops and changing environmental conditions. As the use of AI increases, this process can become even more efficient. Due to the sheer volume of data sent by modern satellites, manual interpretation alone is becoming increasingly difficult. AI-based systems can quickly process images, detect anomalies, and flag areas requiring immediate attention. These technologies can help accelerate crop assessment, disaster mapping, and environmental monitoring, reducing the time spent on manual analysis. The benefits of continuous observation are also significant from an environmental perspective. India is undergoing rapid urbanization, land-use changes, increasing pressure on forests and ecosystems, and increasing stress on water resources. Satellite monitoring can be used to regularly monitor long-term vegetation changes, wetlands, water bodies, and other ecosystems. Permanent datasets can help policymakers and researchers detect trends and make more effective environmental decisions. Satellite-based observation is also of immense strategic impor-

ance to India's maritime interests. The country's long coastline and location in the heart of the Indian Ocean region mean increased awareness of the marine environment is essential. Satellite monitoring can be used in conjunction with other monitoring methods to enhance knowledge about activities and changing conditions in the maritime domain. The importance of EO is also growing from a strategic perspective. In the modern security environment, timely and reliable information has become a strategic asset. Continuous imaging can enhance situational awareness and can be used in conjunction with airborne, ground-based, and other space-based surveillance systems. Furthermore, the country needs the capability to respond to such situations. India should not rely heavily on any single satellite and should build a diverse satellite constellation that can ensure continuity of essential services even if a specific satellite is unavailable. Therefore, building an integrated and intelligent Earth Observation (EO) ecosystem should be the key to moving forward. Data from EOS-05 should be integrated with other platforms, such as satellites, meteorology, agriculture, and disaster management. Image processing should be accelerated by implementing artificial intelligence (AI) tools and information should be made available for decision-making. The next step is for India to invest more in indigenous sensors, satellite platforms, communication systems, and data processing infrastructure.

The short story has carved out a unique and original place for itself in fiction. This is why, after being published in various languages, work on short stories is also being continuously conducted in dialects. From national magazines to local newspapers, short stories have carved a special niche for themselves. Various literary magazines have published special issues on short stories, and continuously produced innovative works and new experiments with short stories. In this series, senior literary figure and keen experimenter, Dr. Ramniwas 'Manav' Under his guidance, a collection of Haryanvi short stories, 'Mhari Matti, Mhare Akhar', has emerged as an innovative experiment in the field of Haryanvi mother tongue and short stories. Three short stories each by thirty-three writers have been included in the skillful editing and careful compilation of the divine couple Dr. Satyawar Saurabh and Dr. Priyanka Saurabh, who are associated with the continuity of multifaceted creativity. This collection, focused on folk culture, folk life, folk values and human values, can be called a living document drenched in the fragrance of the soil This collection of short stories, by some established and mostly emerging writers, offers a diverse range of subject matter, including sharp satire on social inconsistencies and social distortions, and poignant descriptions of subtle human emotions. Some highlight social hypocrisy, while others portray vividly social devaluation. A sense of authorial responsibility is evident in all the short stories in the collection. Except for a few, most of the works embody the essence of short story writing. The linguistic underpinnings of some of the works reveal a failed attempt to translate them from Hindi to Haryanvi, as short stories written in pure Haryanvi have a distinct air of levity. It would have been better if the collection had been titled "Mhari Matti, Mhare Akkhar" instead of "Mhari Matti Mhare Akkhar." Similarly, many short stories also suffer from Haryanvi spelling errors. The collection's consistent, concise introductions of all the short story writers, a highly artistic, attractive cover, and beautiful printing are additional highlights. It is believed that this collection will serve as an inspiring offering in the grand yagya of preserving the Haryanvi mother tongue, enriching short story literature, and making the Haryanvi dialect a language.

China to pump $54bn into state banks and insurers to boost economy

China is pumping tens of billions of dollars into eight state-owned banks and insurance companies to help shore up the country's financial system and boost its slowing economy. The cash injection, which is being led by China's finance ministry, will total 360 billion yuan ($53.6bn; £39.7bn), state news agency Xinhua said on Sunday. The outlet said the move "will help further enhance their sound operating capabilities, risk resistance capabilities, and ability to serve the real economy". It marks the latest move in Beijing's attempts to reinvigorate the world's second largest economy as it faces issues including trade tensions with the West, the impact of the Iran war and an aging population. The package will boost the finances of three big lenders and five insurers including the Industrial and Commercial Bank of China, the Agricultural Bank of China and China Export & Credit Insurance Corporation.

State news outlet Global Times said this "will give banks and financial institutions more resources to channel into credit for the real economy, while strengthening their ability to withstand external shocks at a time of global financial uncertainty". President Xi Jinping has long seen financial stability as key to China's national security. This weekend's announcements come as Beijing is aiming to reshape the economy in the face of a number of challenges such as a shrinking workforce, a years-long property market slump and ongoing trade and technology rivalry with the US. China's economic growth slowed sharply between the start of April and end of June as weak domestic demand and the Iran war's impact on oil prices overshadowed the country's strong exports. Official gross domestic product (GDP) figures released in July showed China's economy grew in the second quarter by 4.3%, below Beijing's annual target, and after a 5% rise in the first quarter. In March, Beijing cut the growth target to a range of 4.5%-5%.

KYIV AIR RAID ALERTS AT RECORD HIGH AS RUSSIA LAUNCHES ROUND-THE-CLOCK STRIKES

Kyiv is suffering more daily air raid alerts than at any time since Russia's full-scale invasion in 2022, according to BBC Verify analysis of government figures. Most air attacks used to come at night but Russia's new tactic of striking Ukraine's capital during the day is causing huge disruption to schools and businesses. The round the clock attacks have forced people to head for shelter as many as 13 times a day, with air raid alerts lasting from a few minutes to nearly four and a half hours. Residents in Kyiv are struggling to adapt to this new reality, adding to existing stress and anxiety. The alerts force pupils to leave their classrooms and workers their offices and leave commuters struggling to get home as overland trains stop. This has forced the government to plan a new, two-tier warning system that allows people to carry on working, travelling and studying depending on the scale of the threat. There was a brief pause in attacks on Kyiv over the weekend while US envoys were in town for talks about trying to end the war. But analysis of figures from the state-owned app Kyiv digital shows that since the round-the-clock Russian attacks began at the end of August, air raid sirens have sounded across Kyiv's skies on average 10 times a day. In the seven days from Thursday 27 August, Kyiv endured 76 air raid alerts. The largest comparable number in 2022 was the week beginning 27 February when there were around 66 alerts. Absolute comparisons are not possible because data gathered in the first few days of the invasion was sometimes incomplete. But the trend shown by the numbers is clear: From the BBC's office, we hear the near constant rumble of air defences and drone explosions. The more frequent Russian strikes are exacerbated by a second development, the use of newer and faster attack drones powered by jet engines. Some of these fly almost 370 mph (595 km/h), three times as fast the older Shahed drones driven by propellers, and are harder to shoot down.

Austria's Islamic headscarf ban in force as under-14s go back to school

As the new school year begins in Austria, a law banning headscarves in schools for girls under 14 has gone into force. The law forbids "traditional Muslim" head coverings, such as hijabs or burkas, in public and private schools across the country. Integration Minister Claudia Bauer, from the conservative People's Party (ÖVP), says the headscarf is "a sign of oppression and a means of controlling girls from the earliest childhood". But critics say the new law is fuelling anti-Muslim feeling in the country and could be unconstitutional. The law was brought in by the conservative-led coalition of three centrist parties, the ÖVP, the Social Democrats (SPÖ) and the liberal Neos. They say the law is a "clear commitment to gender equality" and is intended to protect the rights of young girls. Carla Amina Baghajati, from the official Islamic Community in Austria (IGGÖ), told the BBC that the organisation "firmly opposes the ban".

"We believe it unjustifiably restricts the fundamental right to freedom of religion and disproportionately affects Muslim girls," she said. "Rather than protecting children, it singles out a specific religious practice and risks excluding the very children it claims to support." The IGGÖ said it would support legal challenges by girls and their families "who believe that their fundamental rights are being infringed" and who wished to bring their cases before the Constitutional Court. The court struck down a previous ban on headscarves in primary schools in 2020 on the basis that it contravened the principle of Austria's religious neutrality. Teachers are expected to enforce the new ban if they see a child wearing a headscarf by holding a series of talks with the student and their legal guardians. If there are repeated violations, child services must be notified and as a last resort, guardians could face fines of up to 800 (€685). Some teachers have expressed concerns about having to enforce the ban. The Green Party's Sigi Maurer accused Education Minister Christoph Wiederkehr, from the liberal NEOS, of "creating new conflicts and offloading them onto the teachers". She said teachers were "already under enormous strain" and that Wiederkehr wanted to "foist the role of police officers onto them" on top of their other duties. The opposition far-right Freedom Party (FPÖ) says the current ban doesn't go far enough. It is calling for a general prohibition on headscarves and face coverings in schools for students and teachers alike. The FPÖ's Ricarda Berger said there was "no place for political Islam in Austria, and certainly not in our schools". Austria's Chancellor Christian Stocker, leader of the ÖVP, recently called for a constitutional ban on political Islam, telling Austrian public broadcaster ORF he did not "want to live in an Islamic state".

PROBE BEGINS INTO WHY CARGO PLANE OVERRAN MIAMI RUNWAY

Officials are investigating what caused an Amazon cargo plane to overshoot the runway after landing at Miami International Airport in a deadly incident on Sunday. Five people were killed and five others seriously injured when the plane, which was operated by 21 Air, crashed just before 14:00 (18:00 GMT). None of the group have yet been identified. The plane, a Boeing 767-300, crossed a road beyond the runway and hit several vehicles on the ground. It is not yet clear whether those who died were in the aircraft, on the ground, or both. 21 Air, a charter company based in North Carolina, said it was "devastated by the accident involving one of our aircraft in Miami". Both 21 Air and Amazon said they were co-operating with the investigation. "At least five people have lost their lives, and five others are injured," Miami-Dade County Mayor Daniella Levine Cava said at a news conference on Sunday evening. She added that rescue crews arrived at the scene within "seconds" of the crash. Three of the five people injured were in critical condition, Miami Fire Chief Raled Jadallah said. Several of the injured were trapped inside or under vehicles on the ground.

NEW VIDEOS OF MAN IN 9/11 LAWSUIT REVEAL EXTREMIST LINKS

The man at the heart of a $1 trillion (£733bn) lawsuit brought by 9/11 families had extensive links to Saudi government officials and went paintballing with one of al-Qaeda's future leaders, video obtained by the BBC reveals. The footage, which the FBI had within days of the 2001 attacks, stands in stark contrast to Omar al-Bayoumi's 25 years of denials that he was an extremist and a Saudi spy. Bayoumi, who claimed to be a student when he was in the United States, is seen in one clip embracing Anwar al-Awlaki, who would go on to lead al-Qaeda in the Arabian Peninsula. In another, Bayoumi and Awlaki are paintballing near San Diego with an official from Saudi Arabia's Ministry of Islamic Affairs. The videos form part of the 9/11 families' lawsuit against Saudi Arabia and have never been shown publicly before. The lawsuit argues Saudi Arabia was complicit in the attacks and that Bayoumi aided two of the 19 hijackers who flew planes into the World Trade Center and the Pentagon - with another crashing in Pennsylvania. Bayoumi was arrested in the UK by the Metropolitan Police days after the attacks and the videos were found among his possessions, along with other crucial evidence. This included a diagram of a plane with a flight descent equation written alongside. Multiple FBI agents received copies of the diagram, but it was never shared with the British interrogators, even though it had been couriered to the police station where Bayoumi was being held in custody. The diagram was also kept from some FBI agents investigating Bayoumi, as well as from the 9/11 Commission - the independent inquiry into the largest mass murder in US history, in which nearly 3,000 people were killed. Bayoumi was never prosecuted. He and the Saudi government did not respond to the BBC's requests for comment, but both have always denied any involvement in, or prior knowledge of, the attacks. The FBI declined to comment. After a judge ruled the lawsuit could go ahead in 2018, thousands of documents, as well as videos and photographs, have been released to the court and also declassified through an executive order made by former President Joe Biden. BBC Panorama and Radio 4 have examined these documents, and spoken to dozens of special agents and investigators, to trace the evidence the FBI gathered about Bayoumi and Saudi Arabia's alleged involvement in 9/11 - and to understand why it was never fully pursued over 25 years. Our investigation also found: The plane diagram was sent to the FBI's New York office and was analysed, according to an FBI source. But a US Department of Justice (DOJ) official told the BBC he was never shown a proposal to prosecute Bayoumi based on the evidence, even though "we've convicted people for less" FBI agents in San Diego, where Bayoumi had lived in the US, repeatedly requested copies of evidence but never received most of it. The San Diego and Los Angeles FBI offices were both blocked from interviewing Bayoumi's Saudi government contacts. Staff on the 9/11 Commission objected to the conclusion that Bayoumi was "unlikely" to have been involved with extremists.

KENYA MINISTER WARNS FOREIGNERS AGAINST 'MIS-USING' VISAS TO TRADE

Kenya's trade ministry has warned foreign nationals that visa-free entry into the country does not grant them the right to work, as the government vows to shut down unlicensed small businesses run by migrants. President William Ruto had set today as the deadline for foreigners operating small-scale businesses to cease work. Hundreds of people have gathered at Burundi's embassy in Kenya as they rushed to get documents, after the embassy had earlier said it would offer emergency free travel documents to citizens who want to go back home. It is unclear how many foreign nationals are involved in small-scale trading or how many would be affected by the crackdown. In a statement, the trade ministry said there was a "deliberate misuse of visa applications by some visitors", adding that some entered Kenya as investors or tourists but then got involved in business activities in breach of their declared status. "Owing to the high number of foreign ers involved in the retail and local trade sectors, there is therefore a need to align their activities and ensure compliance with work permit provisions," Trade Minister Lee Kinyanjui said. Last week, Ruto said that Kenya remained open to foreign investment, but it could not be "that a person comes from China or elsewhere to be a hawk or open a small shop". He argued that investors should create jobs and expand production rather than compete with Kenyans in small businesses. Ruto's comments sparked mixed reactions, with some critics describing them as a populist move that risked stoking xenophobia.

Indonesia volcano eruption leaves 270,000 stranded as airports extend closure

Germany's far-right AfD says 'democracy demands' parties work with them after state election win

The far-right Alternative for Germany (AfD) is "very, very close" to taking power, its deputy parliamentary leader has told the BBC, after a historic victory in elections for the eastern state of Saxony-Anhalt. Sunday's preliminary results show it fell three seats short of an outright majority, with 43.8% of the vote. It is now seeking support from other parties or individuals in order to govern. While most German political parties refuse to work with the AfD, Beatrix von Storch called for its opponents to enter talks and said: "You cannot say I do not accept the vote of the people". Germany's Chancellor Friedrich Merz said he was "deeply shocked" by the result, describing it as "seismic... not just in the country but also in my own political party and I take that very seriously". His party, the conservative CDU, saw its share of the vote almost halved to 17.2% in the state's preliminary results. Merz said it was not possible to return to "business as usual", adding that the country needed "profound reforms" and the CDU needed to "reach people at an emotional level. "This election result is a seismic result not just in the country but also in my own political party and I take that very seriously," he said. No far-right party has controlled a German state since World War Two, and governing at state level would mean powers over policing and local education. Von Storch said the state's results "were on the table and now democrats have to talk to [one] another. This is what democracy demands". She added that if parties refused to work with the AfD, "then we might end up in severe chaos and maybe we have a new election". Her comments were echoed by AfD's leader in Saxony-Anhalt, Ulrich Siegmund, who told a news conference on Monday that the party had won a "clear mandate to govern". The state's defeated premier, the CDU's Sven Schulze, also said the mandate to govern Saxony-Anhalt "now lies with the AfD". Saxony-Anhalt has a small population of 2.1 million and the AfD in the state is assessed by domestic intelligence as "right-wing extremist", a classification rejected by Siegmund, 35.

"TOO LATE NOW":

Lewis Hamilton Laments Ferrari Approach After Italian GP Tangle With Charles Leclerc

Charles Leclerc admitted his opening-lap scrap with Ferrari team-mate Lewis Hamilton went "too far" before crashing out of Sunday's Italian Grand Prix, leaving a vast scarlet-clad crowd disappointed. The Monegasque driver clashed with Hamilton at the first chicane, where the Briton bounced into the gravel and dropped to 10th from fourth. "Charles pushed me off," moaned Hamilton on team radio. Leclerc then slammed into the barriers at Parabolica on lap two and out of the race. After the recent Dutch Grand Prix, Hamilton complained that that the team had not issued orders to Leclerc. On Sunday the Briton was asked if the team should have made him the priority over Leclerc in the battle with the Mercedes-powered rivals atop standings. "It's too far past that already, too late for that now and I lost a lot of points to those guys," said Hamilton. "We will do our best to keep pushing the rest of the season, but they are out and out ahead of us." Leclerc said he suffered slight vision problems, but was more concerned at suggestions that the two Ferrari drivers appeared not to be working together as a team. "I don't really know who is forcing the narrative, that we are one against the other. At Zandvoort, there were way too many talks already," he said. "Here, it's true though that we went too far, I think, with Lewis in Turn One." Hamilton came into the weekend hoping for a record sixth win to boost his slim hopes for an eighth title. "That one hurts," he said. "That one definitely hurts. Thank you to everyone. To the tifosi, thank you for giving us your love, I'm sorry we couldn't give you the result you wanted." "I gave it absolutely everything, we just didn't have the speed on the straights. I was just mostly a sitting duck to those guys around me and up ahead, but we will look internally and try and figure out what we could have done better." Leclerc was checked over at the circuit medical centre after his crash and said he would require more checks before next weekend's first Spanish race at the new Madrid circuit.

ALL INDIA TENNIS ASSOCIATION ANNOUNCES TEAM FOR DAVIS CUP JUNIOR FINALS

The All India Tennis Association (AITA) on Monday announced the team for the Davis Cup Junior Finals, to be held at the Smash Sporting Club in Cairo, Egypt, from November 2 to 8, 2026. Hruthik Katakam, Ribhav Saroha and Tavish Pahwa are selected to represent the country in the junior tournament. It will be the first time the leading national team competition for players aged 16 and under, which is scheduled for 2-8 November at the Smash Sporting Club, is held in Africa. Over the past decade, Hungary, the United States, Turkey, Spain and Chile have staged the iconic event, with Chile hosting most recently on the clay of Santiago's Estadio Nacional. Clay is the surface of choice this year, as the Smash Sporting Club welcomes some of the world's best junior players. The 20-acre venue is located to the west of the capital and has been home to the

ICC Takes Action Against Pakistan Captain Fatima Sana After India Match In Women's Asia Cup

Pakistan captain Fatima Sana has been fined 10 per cent of her match fee for breaching Level 1 of the ICC Code of Conduct during a Group A match of the Women's Asia Cup against India in Dubai on Saturday. Fatima was found to have breached Article 2.5 of the ICC Code of Conduct for Players and Player Support Personnel, which relates to "using language, actions or gestures which disparage, or which could provoke an aggressive reaction from a batter upon his/her dismissal during an International Match." In addition to this, one demerit point has been added to the disciplinary record of Fatima, for whom it was the second offence in a 24-month period, taking her tally of demerit points in a 24-month period to two. Fatima received her earlier demerit point during the first match of a T20I series against Ireland in Dublin on 6 August 2025. The latest incident occurred in the second over of India's innings, when Fatima, after dismissing opener Shafali Verma, gestured in the direction of the pavilion. Fatima admitted the offence and accepted the sanction proposed by Supriya Rani Das of the Emirates ICC International Panel of Match Referees, so there was no need for a formal hearing. On-field umpires Nimali Perera and Shathira Jakir Jesy, third umpire Rokeya Sultana and fourth umpire Rabab Ahsan levelled the charge. Level 1 breaches carry a minimum penalty of an official reprimand, a maximum penalty of 50 per cent of a player's match fee, and one or two demerit points. THE RULE When a player reaches four or more demerit points within a 24-month period, they are converted into suspension points and a player is banned Two suspension points equate to a ban from one Test or two ODIs or two T20Is, whatever comes first for the player Demerit Points to remain on a Player or Player Support Personnel's disciplinary record for a period of twenty-four (24) months from their imposition following which they will be expunged.

Aryna Sabalenka Books US Open Quarter-Final Clash With Linda Noskova

Two-time defending champion Aryna Sabalenka subdued American Taylor Townsend in straight sets on Sunday to book a US Open quarter-final clash with Wimbledon winner Linda Noskova. Sabalenka rallied from 3-1 down in the second set for a 6-4, 6-3 victory on Arthur Ashe Stadium, where men's defending champion Carlos Alcaraz took on 20th-seeded American Tommy Paul in search of a quarter-final berth. Sabalenka needed all of her resolve against the multi-faceted Townsend, whose blistering service returns and net prowess flummoxed the Belarusian star in a first set that opened with five breaks of serve.

PIETERSEN JOINS ENGLAND'S WHITE-BALL COACHING TEAM

England have appointed former Ashes-winning batter Kevin Pietersen to their white-ball coaching team in the build-up to the 2027 ICC Cricket World Cup. Pietersen, 46, joins as a specialist mentor and will start in the role for the upcoming T20 and one-day matches against Sri Lanka. He will also be involved in this winter's tours to Australia and South Africa, before joining up with the teams again for the home series against Pakistan and New Zealand next summer, as well as the 50-over World Cup, which is being held in South Africa, Zimbabwe and Namibia in the autumn. "I've got immense respect for KP and what he's achieved in the game," said England's white-ball head coach Brendon McCullum. "He's had an amazing impact on English cricket, so for someone with his experience, knowledge and stature to want to play a role with this team is a fantastic result." Pietersen is one of England's most successful white-ball batters, being named player of the tournament when they won the T20 World Cup for the first time in 2010. The right-hander scored almost 4,500 ODI runs at an average of 41.32 - bettered only by Joe Root - while in T20 cricket he has the highest average of all batters to hit more than 1,000 runs for England. He did, however, fall out with a number of former England players and coaches during his career. He was accused of being "divisive" in the dressing room and was dropped during a Test series against South Africa in 2012 for sending "provocative" text messages to opposing players, for which he apologised to then captain Andrew Strauss. He was only allowed to return to the team after a successful 'reintegration' period. Pietersen was also one of the first to advocate for England players being allowed to play in the Indian Premier League and other white-ball franchise leagues around the world - a stance which often put him at odds with his employers.

ANTONELLI 'WALKS OVER WATER' FOR WIN THAT WILL GO DOWN IN F1 FOLKLORE

Kimi Antonelli's stunning victory in the Italian Grand Prix from 19th on the grid will go down in Formula 1 folklore - and, remarkably, his team boss Toto Wolff said that he had seen it coming on Saturday. After Sunday's race, Wolff said that beforehand he thought that one of his two drivers was going to be standing on the top of the podium. It was an eye-opening statement given they started the race 17 places apart on the grid, George Russell on the front row alongside shock pole winner Pierre Gasly's Alpine;

Antonelli on the penultimate row. "I thought one of the two is going to win," Wolff said. "Either George, because he was on the front row, or Kimi because he's going to walk over water, here at Monza. And I felt that yesterday also," Wolff was asked to explain why he felt a performance he was comparing to a miracle was on the cards. "It's been a while that I've seen drivers," he said. "Energy levels, mindset or behavioural pattern. I knew that was his mission today, to win the race. I chatted with his father yesterday. The father also saw that coming. "These are the moments where you can see how a weekend is panning out through the sessions that a special moment can come." For the Mercedes drivers, this race was all about the context of the weekend. Antonelli knew coming in that he would be starting at the back because of a grid penalty for using too many engines this year. Russell knew that he had to make the most of this opportunity and cut as much as he could out of his team-mate's 59-point championship lead.

Fifth or sixth was the general consensus for what might be realistically possible for Antonelli, who himself said after the race that he had "thought a podium was possible". What changed everything was his remarkable progress in the early laps of the race, which brought to mind another Biblical miracle, the parting of the Red Sea. Antonelli was 14th after a relatively conservative first lap, then 12th at the end of lap two, when Charles Leclerc crashed his Ferrari to bring the race to a temporary halt.

‘EPIC – FIRST SEMESTER’ WILL WIN HEARTS JUST LIKE ‘90S’: DIRECTOR ADITYA HASAN

later went to the UK for my Master's. I had already made a few short films, and after returning from the UK, I started trying to make films. After about six months, I made a film titled "Teacher" with Colors Swathi. It was produced by Naveen Medaram and Abhishek Nama, but unfortunately, the film was stalled due to certain reasons. "Naveen garu was a senior at the university where I studied in the UK. Since we shared an interest in cinema, I approached him and got introduced to him."

■ HOW DID '90S' HAPPEN?
"I wrote the story of '90s' based on my father's real-life experiences. Initially, an OTT platform liked the story and came forward to produce it. However, they backed out after six months. "ETV Win's Sai garu and Nithin garu already knew about the story and later called me. That's how '90s' eventually came to life."

■ HOW DID YOU GET THE NAME ADITYA HASAN?
"My original name is Aditya. I am a huge fan of Kamal Haasan garu. Out of that admiration, I changed my name to Aditya Hasan."

■ IS 'EPIC' YOUR BIOPIC?
"There is definitely inspiration from real-life incidents, but my life isn't that beautiful," he says with a laugh. "We have taken some cinematic liberties. "Even in '90s', the name of our hometown and the names of my family members are used, but not every incident shown in the series actually happened in our lives. We took incidents from different lives and crafted them into a story."

■ WHAT CAN AUDIENCES EXPECT FROM 'EPIC'?
"EPIC" will connect with everyone. The story is inspired by some beautiful incidents from real life. "EPIC" is actually a continuation of the world created in '90s'. It explores a phase in the younger brother's life from that story. I also have an idea of telling the elder brother's story and the sister's story as separate chapters in the future."
