Fadnavis responds positively to Telangana's Tummidihatti proposal

HYDERABAD ■ TSIT BUREAU:

Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis has expressed willingness to consider Telangana's proposal to construct the Tummidihatti Barrage at 152 metres, subject to technical examination and assurances that the project would not adversely affect Maharashtra or its people.A Telangana delegation led by Chief Minister A. Revanth Reddy met Fadnavis at Sahyadri State Guest House in Mumbai. Irrigation Minister N. Uttam Kumar Reddy, the Chief Secretaries of both states and senior irrigation officials participated in the discussions.

Uttam Kumar Reddy explained that the 148-metre proposal under the 2016 agreement would not adequately meet the irrigation needs of the erstwhile Adilabad district. He said the proposed 152-metre level would enable greater use of gravity for water conveyance, reducing energy requirements and long-term operating costs.

Telangana also offered to compensate Maharashtra farmers whose agricultural land could face submergence, in accordance with Maharashtra's land acquisition and compensation policies.Revanth Reddy highlighted the long-standing irrigation and drinking water needs of Adilabad's tribal and Adivasi communities. Recalling Komaram Bheem's "Jal, Jangal, Zameen" struggle, he sought Maharashtra's cooperation in promoting the region's social and economic development.

Fadnavis proposed a joint committee headed by the Principal Secretaries of Irrigation of both states to examine the barrage height, water availability, submergence, compensation and technical feasibility. Officials and experts would prepare a timeline and roadmap, while the Central Water Commission would continue examinations within its jurisdiction. Revanth Reddy also invited Fadnavis to the Invest Telangana Global Summit, scheduled for December 7–9 at Future City in Hyderabad. Fadnavis expressed interest and said he would try to attend.

DAC clears Rs.2.12 lac cr defence deals; 82% to be sourced locally

NEW DELHI ■ (TSIT)

The Defence Acquisition Council (DAC), chaired by Defence Minister Rajnath Singh, on Monday accorded Acceptance of Necessity (AoN) to capital acquisition proposals worth approximately Rs 2.12 lakh crore for the three services, with around 82 per cent of the procurements slated to be sourced from the Indian industry.

The approvals cover a wide range of military hardware and systems for the Indian Army, Navy and Air Force, including artillery systems, helicopters, air defence equipment, unmanned aerial systems, surveillance platforms and naval capabilities. For the Indian Army, the council approved proposals for High Mobility Vehicles (HMVs), Self-Propelled Tracked Gun Systems, Gun Shot Response Systems (GSRS), Light Multi Role Helicopters (LMRH), Very Short-Range Air Defence Systems (VSHORADS), platform-based Counter-Unmanned Aerial Systems (C-UAS), long-range unmanned aerial systems, surveillance UAVs, integrated surveillance and strike systems, and long-range kamikaze drone systems.

The HMVs are intended to improve mobility, operational capability and logistical support in challenging terrain, while the Self-Propelled Tracked Gun Systems will provide mechanised formations with matching mobility and firepower. The GSRS will act as a force multiplier by providing real-time situational awareness.

China calls border patrols 'normal' amid India's objections

> Responding to a question citing India's assertion that the border situation is disturbed when Chinese forces deviate from established patrolling patterns, Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson says the two countries maintained communication through diplomatic and military channels..

NEW DELHI ■ (TSIT)

China on Monday defended its border patrols as "normal" activities to safeguard its territorial sovereignty, urging India to work with it to maintain peace along the disputed boundary amid differences over patrolling patterns."China strictly abides by the relevant agreements and common understandings reached between the two countries and conducts normal border patrol and control activities to safeguard its territorial sovereignty and stability in the border areas," Chinese Foreign Ministry spokesperson Guo Jiakun said at a regular press conference.

Responding to a question citing India's assertion that the border situation is disturbed when Chinese forces deviate from established patrolling patterns, Guo said the two countries maintained communication through diplomatic and military channels."We hope that India will work with China in the same direction by jointly implementing the common understandings reached between the two sides and maintaining peace and tranquillity in the border areas through concrete actions," he said.

The remarks came days after the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said the situation along the India-China border was disturbed from time to time when Chinese forces deviated from established patrolling patterns. MEA spokesperson Randhir Jaiswal made the statement on Friday in response to Indo-Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) Director General Shatrujeet Kapoor, who said face-offs between Indian and Chinese forces continued at several locations in Arunachal Pradesh.

NEW DELHI ■ (TSIT)

The government has amended the Central Motor Vehicles Rules, 1989, introducing changes to vehicle emission and fuel-related standards, including provisions for vehicles using 100 per cent ethanol (E100) fuel in flex-fuel vehicles, effective from Monday.

The government has expanded references to ethanol fuel by replacing several mentions of E85 fuel with E85 or E100 across emission standards and testing requirements, according to a notification issued by the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways.However, the government has also clarified that E85 or E100 fuel should be used only in flex-fuel vehicles designed by original equipment manufacturers.The rules revise certain fuel and vehicle classifications, including raising the gross vehicle weight threshold in one emission table to 3,500 kg from 3,000 kg.

Other amendments include updates to references for hydrogen-compressed natural gas (HCNG), gasoline blends containing up to 20 per cent ethanol (E20), biodiesel standards, and technical corrections in emission-testing tables and notes.

Jogulamba Gadwal: District Collector Rizwan Basha Shaik has directed officials to conduct extensive awareness campaigns in village meetings on the impact of El Niño and urge farmers to avoid paddy cultivation during the Rabi season in view of the rainfall deficit.

Addressing district officials at a meeting held at the Integrated District Offices Complex (IDOC) on Monday, the Collector stressed the need for judicious use of water and electricity. He asked officials to lead by example by conserving power in all government offices, from gram panchayat offices to the Collectorate.

He called for large-scale construction of farm ponds and soak pits to improve water conservation.

Reviewing the functioning of educational institutions, the Collector expressed concern over low student attendance in schools following the Dasara holidays.

136 paddy and cotton procurement centres opened in Husnabad

Husnabad, October 26: State Minister for Transport and BC Welfare Ponnam Prabhakar stated that the government is making all necessary arrangements to procure paddy and cotton harvested by farmers. He announced the opening of 136 procurement centres in Husnabad constituency from Monday.

The Minister inaugurated the paddy and cotton procurement centres at the Husnabad Agricultural Market Yard and subsequently addressed a press conference. The Minister advised farmers not to sell their paddy or cotton for less than the Minimum Support Price (MSP). He urged them to remain vigilant as traders may approach them directly at threshing floors, cautioning them against being deceived by middlemen. He noted farmers are free to sell if they receive a price higher than the government-mandated MSP. He directed officials to oversee operations at procurement centres to ensure there are no issues regarding weighing of produce, and assured that measures are in place to procure the entire quantity brought by farmers. The government has assured it will deposit the bonus for fine-variety grain directly into farmers' bank accounts.

The Minister emphasised the need for proactive measures in light of warnings that El Niño could lead to a lack of rainfall. He announced that an all-party meeting will be held on the 28th of this month to discuss necessary actions regarding drinking water, electricity and the agricultural sector, after which a delegation comprising representatives of all political parties will travel to Delhi to seek the necessary support for the state.

Noting the government's statement that the state holds sufficient food stocks for the next two years, he advised heightened vigilance regarding drinking water, urging everyone to use water judiciously.

The Minister said initiatives to replenish groundwater—constructing percolation pits, recharging borewells, desilting tanks and removing obstructions from canals—are being undertaken under the employment guarantee scheme. Stating that El Niño's impact is global, he urged everyone to focus on measures to support the public, setting aside political criticism.

He mentioned that the 18th 'Chandi Yagam' was conducted at the Sri Renuka Ellamma Temple in Husnabad, with prayers for abundant rainfall and a prosperous harvest.

Farmers Advised to Opt for Low-Water Crops

Khammam (TSIT): State Agriculture Minister Tummala Nageswara Rao has urged farmers across the state to cultivate crops that require less water instead of paddy during the Rabi season, in view of the anticipated water shortage. He cautioned that Super El Niño conditions could lead to drought and called for the judicious use of water and electricity. On Monday, the minister, accompanied by Additional Collector P. Srinivasa Reddy, toured Khammam district and inaugurated Indiramma houses constructed in Mallepalli village. He later visited Nallakunta tank following its filling.The minister said steps were being taken to improve irrigation facilities in Raghunathapalem mandal by supplying water to 25 tanks through the Manchukonda lift system and another 11 tanks from Bugga Vagu. He stressed the need to conserve water and prioritise drinking water supply. He also said Rs. 75 crore had been sanctioned for roads connecting farmers' fields, with another Rs. 25 crore to be allocated soon.

Stand With Her Charu Sinha Calls for Collective Action on Women's Safety

Hyderabad, TSIT: Telangana Police Women Safety Wing on Monday launched a two-day Training of Trainers programme at the University of Hyderabad as part of its "#StandWithHer" campaign to promote women's safety and gender equality. Organised in collaboration with Rubaroo and the university's Centre for Women's Studies, the programme aims to encourage people to challenge harassment, discrimination and gender-based violence instead of remaining silent spectators.

Addressing participants, senior IPS officer Charu Sinha said women's safety required both individual responsibility and collective action. She explained that the limited response to a complaints mechanism introduced under the Safe Mobility Initiative had prompted deeper examination of society's acceptance of inappropriate behaviour, helping shape the campaign.

She urged participants to question patriarchal double standards, reject the normalisation of online harassment and examine their own attitudes. Rigid expectations of masculinity also restricted emotional expression among boys and men, she observed, emphasising respect, empathy and equality.

Launched in March 2026 as a year-long initiative, "#StandWithHer" seeks to build a network of trained individuals who can challenge harmful social attitudes and respond constructively to harassment.

Protect Vote, Safeguard Democracy Dr Kota Neelima

Hyderabad TSIT: TPCC Vice-President and Sanathnagar Congress incharge Dr Kota Neelima on Monday urged citizens to safeguard voting rights, describing them as the foundation of democracy.

Speaking at the "Vote Bachao, Desh Bachao Abhiyan" organised at Classic Gardens, Balamrai, under the leadership of Cantonment MLA Sri Ganesh, she stressed the need for free, fair and transparent elections.

Dr Neelima urged authorities to ensure that eligible voters were not arbitrarily excluded from electoral rolls and that ineligible entries were addressed according to law. Electoral roll revision must be transparent and accessible, allowing citizens to verify their details and seek corrections, she said.

She called for an impartial examination of allegations of vote theft and electoral irregularities, with legal action wherever violations were established. She also urged the Election Commission to strengthen transparency, accountability and public confidence.

Asking Congress workers to intensify voter awareness campaigns in every division, she urged them to help eligible citizens, particularly young and first-time voters, verify their names on electoral rolls.

"Protecting democracy is a collective responsibility," she said, calling for united efforts to uphold constitutional values and encourage public participation.

Air pollution is a silent killer, raises risk of heart attacks, strokes and lung cancer: Dr. C. N. Manjunath

BENGALURU, OCTOBER 26: Air pollution has emerged as a major public health concern, significantly increasing the risk of cardiovascular diseases, strokes and lung cancer, Bengaluru Rural MP Dr. C. N. Manjunath said on Monday.

Speaking at a round-table meeting on air pollution and its impact on public health, organised by the Vayu Respiratory Foundation on Church Street in Bengaluru, Dr. Manjunath called for urgent preventive measures to curb pollution and protect vulnerable communities. He emphasised that prolonged exposure to polluted air can damage vital organs, particularly the heart, lungs and brain, contributing to premature deaths. Air pollution can also adversely affect maternal and child health, increasing the risk of low birth weight and developmental problems. Long-term exposure may affect memory and cognitive function, he added. Referring to the scale of the problem in India, Dr. Manjunath cited figures indicating that nearly 2.2 million people died due to air pollution in the country last year. He stressed the need for coordinated action involving government agencies, healthcare professionals, environmental organisations and the public.

The meeting brought together medical experts, environmentalists and policymakers to discuss the health consequences of air pollution and possible solutions. Senior specialists, including pulmonologist Dr. Satish, cardiothoracic surgeon Dr. Vivek Javali and Dr. Ravindra Mehta, shared their insights on pollution-related health risks.

Health check-ups were also conducted for high-risk groups, including traffic police personnel and construction workers, who are regularly exposed to polluted air. Truck and autorickshaw drivers are among other occupational groups facing increased exposure. Children and the elderly are particularly vulnerable to its harmful effects.

Vehicular emissions, industrial activities, garbage burning and dust from construction sites are among the major sources of air pollution. Dr. Manjunath called for strengthening public transport, expanding metro connectivity and reducing traffic congestion to bring down vehicular emissions.

He also stressed the importance of scientific waste disposal and ensuring that garbage is transported in properly covered vehicles to prevent dust and pollutants from spreading. Construction sites, he said, should strictly implement effective dust-control measures.

The adoption of electric vehicles, cleaner fuels and appropriate emission-control technologies could further help reduce air pollution and carbon emissions. "Air pollution has emerged as a silent killer, posing a serious threat to public health. Protecting people from its harmful effects requires immediate preventive action, sustainable transportation, scientific waste management and collective responsibility. We must work together to reduce pollution and safeguard the health of present and future generations," Dr. Manjunath said.

Bengaluru: A police search at the residence of JDS worker Mohan Gowda in Byadarahalli, Bengaluru, in connection with the alleged sting operation involving former Chief Minister Siddaramaiah reportedly took an unexpected turn after a woman police inspector discovered that her gold bracelet was missing. The police team had visited Mohan Gowda's residence with a court-issued search warrant as part of the investigation. Inspectors Mukharam and Kavitha, along with other personnel, were involved in the operation.

According to the complaint, a confrontation broke out when police attempted to seize a mobile phone for investigation. Mohan Gowda's wife, Pavithra, and another woman identified as her friend allegedly refused to cooperate with the search. An argument reportedly escalated into a scuffle between Inspector Kavitha and Pavithra when the latter allegedly refused to hand over the phone.

During the altercation, a gold bracelet weighing approximately nine grams, which Kavitha was wearing, is alleged to have come off her wrist and fallen. The inspector reportedly realised that the jewellery was missing only after the police team returned to the station following the search.

Kavitha subsequently returned to the residence and searched for the bracelet. She also questioned Pavithra, who reportedly said that neither a gold chain nor a bracelet had been found at the house.

The inspector later lodged a formal complaint at Byadarahalli police station over alleged obstruction of official duty and the missing jewellery during the search.

Police initiated action on the complaint and began efforts to trace the missing bracelet and investigate the circumstances surrounding the incident. According to the report, Pavithra allegedly locked the house and left after fearing arrest.

The Byadarahalli police are searching for the woman and investigating the allegations. The incident has drawn attention because it occurred during a search connected with the politically sensitive sting operation case involving Siddaramaiah.

Bengaluru, : BJP leaders and workers staged a protest at Freedom Park in Bengaluru on Monday, demanding an apology from AICC president Mallikarjun Kharge for his controversial remarks about Prime Minister Narendra Modi. The protest turned tense when demonstrators attempted to march towards Vidhana Soudha and were stopped by police.

Leader of Opposition R. Ashoka, MLC Chalavadi Narayanaswamy and MLAs N. Ravikumar, C.K. Ramamurthy and Dr C.N. Ashwath Narayan were among those detained along with party workers.

Bengaluru records 5,459 road accidents in 2025 as traffic deaths climb to 999

Bengaluru : Bengaluru has witnessed a steep rise in road accidents over the past five years, with the number of crashes increasing from 3,213 in 2021 to 5,459 in 2025. The increase of nearly 70 per cent has been accompanied by a substantial rise in fatalities, according to traffic police data.The city recorded 3,822 accidents in 2022, followed by 4,974 in 2023. The number dropped to 4,769 in 2024 but rose again in 2025. Road accident deaths also increased from 654 in 2021 to 772 in 2022 and 915 in 2023. After declining to 894 in 2024, fatalities touched 999 last year. The latest figures indicate that the problem has continued into 2026. From January to September, 4,702 accidents were reported, resulting in 836 deaths and injuries to 4,111 people. Of the reported crashes, 808 were classified as fatal accidents.

Overspeeding, unsafe lane changes and driving on the wrong side are among the major causes identified by Director General of Police M.A. Saleem. The growing number of two-wheelers, expanding suburban areas and conflicts between fast-moving vehicles and pedestrians have also contributed to the challenge. A joint study by NIMHANS, Johns Hopkins University's Injury Research Unit and Bengaluru traffic police assessed vehicle speeds at 25 locations. It found that 30.6 per cent of the vehicles observed were travelling above the prescribed safe speed. Higher speeds were noticed on national highways and in rural stretches, particularly during late-night and early-morning hours.Police have stepped up action against traffic violations, including drunk driving, riding without helmets, using mobile phones while driving and jumping signals. Violators' driving licences are being referred to regional transport offices for suspension where applicable. Radar-based speed cameras have also been installed at selected locations along the Outer Ring Road. Authorities face the challenge of combining strict enforcement with safer road design, improved pedestrian facilities and faster emergency response to prevent further loss of life.

Bengaluru Metro's Pink Line faces cost escalation, deadline extended to 2027

Bengaluru, : Bengaluru's ambitious Pink Line Metro project is facing mounting scrutiny after its estimated cost rose from Rs 8,730 crore to Rs 17,346 crore, almost twice the original figure. The increase comes amid construction delays, expensive underground works and rising prices of building materials.

The 21.26-km corridor is intended to connect Kalena Agrahara in south Bengaluru with Nagawara in the north. The route includes 13.76 km of underground track and 7.5 km of elevated infrastructure. The project's completion, initially expected much earlier, has now been pushed to 2027.

Underground construction is the most expensive component, accounting for Rs 13,876 crore of the revised estimate. The elevated section is projected to cost Rs 3,470 crore. The scale of tunnelling and the technical challenges associated with underground stations have contributed significantly to the expenditure.

The project has also been affected by delays in construction, equipment rental expenses and shortages of labour. Prices of key materials, including steel and cement, have reportedly increased by approximately 40 per cent, adding to the financial pressure. Interest costs arising from the extended construction period have also been included in the revised estimate.

Platform screen doors, planned at underground stations to improve passenger safety, form another component of the overall project expenditure.

Despite years of work, the corridor remains incomplete, with around 70 per cent of construction reportedly finished. The delay has disappointed commuters who expected the line to provide an alternative to congested roads and improve travel between southern and northern Bengaluru.

The near-doubling of the project cost has renewed questions about the reasons behind the prolonged construction schedule and the management of public infrastructure expenditure. Residents are now looking for clear timelines and faster execution to ensure that the benefits of the Metro corridor are delivered without further delays.

Prove 600-crore Contract Allegation or Resign, Congress Tells Kumaraswamy

BENGALURU: The Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) has challenged Union Minister and JD(S) leader H.D. Kumaraswamy to produce evidence to substantiate his allegation that a 600-crore contract had been offered to eliminate his family, or resign from his post.

In a joint press statement, KPCC General Secretary S. Manohar and party leaders criticised Kumaraswamy for making what they described as sensational and politically motivated allegations against Karnataka Deputy Chief Minister D.K. Shivakumar. They said such statements lowered the standard of political discourse and appeared aimed at gaining political mileage. The Congress leaders alleged that Kumaraswamy had repeatedly raised issues relating to NICE, the Bidadi project and the alleged sting operation without presenting conclusive evidence. They claimed that his statements were diverting public attention from other controversies and allegations involving him.

Challenging Kumaraswamy to disclose the evidence, the Congress leaders urged him to submit relevant documents to the appropriate authorities and seek an impartial investigation by agencies, including the Enforcement Directorate, the Central Bureau of Investigation and the Income Tax Department.

They said Kumaraswamy, as a Union Minister, had a responsibility to uphold public accountability and substantiate serious allegations with credible evidence rather than political rhetoric.

The Congress leaders further said that if Kumaraswamy failed to prove his allegations against Shivakumar, he should withdraw his statements and apologise to the people of Karnataka.

They also urged him to protect the reputation of former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda and the credibility of the JD(S) by placing the facts before the public.

Isuzu Motors India marks 10 years of manufacturing at Sri City plant

BENGALURU, October 26: Isuzu Motors India (IMI), a subsidiary of Japan-based Isuzu Motors Limited, has completed 10 years of vehicle manufacturing at its Sri City facility in Andhra Pradesh, marking a decade of its Make-in-India journey and expansion into international markets.

Inaugurated in April 2016, the plant has emerged as a key manufacturing base for the company's domestic and overseas operations, guided by Isuzu's monozukuri philosophy, which emphasises manufacturing excellence, quality and continuous improvement.

Vehicles manufactured at the facility cater to the Indian market as well as export destinations in the Middle East, including Saudi Arabia, Bahrain, Qatar, Kuwait, Oman and Jordan, and Asian markets such as Nepal, Bhutan and Bangladesh.

The anniversary celebrations were attended by Naohiro Yamaguchi, president, representative director and CEO of Isuzu Motors Limited, Japan; Shigeru Wakabayashi, group CEO, Mobility Group, Mitsubishi Corporation, Japan; N. Yuvaraj, Secretary, Industries and Commerce, Andhra Pradesh government; and Ravindra Sanna Reddy, founder and managing director of Sri City, along with other dignitaries and company representatives.

Yamaguchi expressed satisfaction over the company's progress in India, noting that IMI had maintained consistent profitability since the 2022 fiscal year, while its export business had registered strong growth.

"India continues to be a strategically important market for Isuzu's global operations. Our focus remains on strengthening exports while accelerating growth in the domestic market," he said.

Wakabayashi said the next phase of growth would require the company to remain closer to Indian customers, understand their requirements and develop suitable vehicles and services. He added that Isuzu's global role in supporting transportation, livelihoods and society would be further expanded in India.

'Part of political process': SC junks plea against 6 AIADMK MLAs who defected to TVK

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Monday dismissed a plea against six AIADMK MLAs who voluntarily resigned from their seats after voting against the party whip and subsequently joined the ruling Tamilaga Vettri Kazhagam (TVK).

A bench comprising Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justices Joymalya Bagchi and V Mohana rejected a plea filed by advocate K Suthan challenging a Madras High Court order dismissing his plea. "Somebody resigns and becomes minister, it's part of political process," the bench said while rejecting the plea.

The high court on September 24 dismissed the PIL seeking framing of an "Election Expenditure Security" mechanism and five-year disqualification of the six AIADMK defectors, observing that the right to resign a legislative assembly seat is a facet of the constitutional scheme and cannot be burdened with extra-statutory conditions by judicial order. Madras HC upholds acceptance of resignations of 6 AIADMK MLAs, directs Speaker to complete disqualification proceedings in 2 months The petition had sought a direction to the Election Commission and the Tamil Nadu Chief Electoral Officer to frame an "Election Expenditure Security" mechanism under which a sitting MLA who resigns voluntarily from a seat and later wants to contest the by-election necessitated by the resignation, must first deposit an amount equal to the public money spent on holding the by-election.

The Madras High Court on October 13 upheld the decision of Tamil Nadu Assembly Speaker JCD Prabhakar accepting the resignations of six AIADMK MLAs, who later joined the ruling TVK.

The high court had directed the speaker to decide on the petition from AIADMK whip Krishamurthy seeking disqualification of S Jayakumar, Maragatham Kumaravel, P Sathyabama and Esakki Subaya from the assembly within two months.

S Jayakumar, Maragatham Kumaravel and P Sathyabama, elected from Perundurai, Madurantakam and Dharapuram assembly constituencies, respectively, resigned as members on May 25, 2026. Esakki Subaya, elected from the Ambasamudram constituency, resigned the following day. C Vijayabhaskar (Viralimalai) and M R Vijayabhaskar (Karur) resigned on June 16 and 29, respectively. All of them had been elected on AIADMK tickets in the April Tamil Nadu assembly polls. After resigning, they joined the ruling TVK led by Chief Minister C Joseph Vijay. Maragatham Kumaravel and Sathyabama won the bypolls – as TVK candidates – held on October 6 for the Madurantakam and Dharapuram assembly segments, respectively.

CHENNAI: Continuous rainfall in Kanniyakumari district has brought rubber tapping to a standstill, leaving thousands of workers without employment and affecting the income of rubber growers. Workers employed in small rubber plantations have urged the government to provide financial relief during prolonged rainy spells.

According to a Daily Thanthi report, rubber cultivation is one of the major agriculture-based industries in the district, supporting thousands of farmers, workers and traders involved in latex extraction and related activities. However, persistent northeast monsoon showers have disrupted tapping across both large and small plantations, affecting overall production.

Though rain guards have been installed on rubber trees in many plantations to facilitate tapping during wet weather, they have proved ineffective during continuous rainfall.

The disruption has also affected rubber processing units, as the shortage of latex has reduced the supply of rubber sheets to factories. The business of felling and selling mature rubber trees has also taken a hit.

CHENNAI: Anil Mahesh, former School Education Minister, was arrested by the Central Crime Branch (CCB) of the Greater Chennai Police on Monday evening (October 26) in the alleged Rs 100-crore corruption case involving renewal of licenses to private schools in Tamil Nadu. He was arrested at an apartment in Chennai's Aminjikarai after Justice V Lakshminarayanan of the Madras High Court rejected his anticipatory bail plea earlier in the day.

The case against Mahesh was registered based on a complaint by DC Elangovan, secretary of the Federation of Associations of Private Schools in Tamil Nadu, alleging that Tamil Nadu Private Schools Association president BT Arasukumar and other office-bearers collected several crores from private schools by promising to secure permanent recognition, licences, school upgradation approvals, clearances from the Directorate of Town and Country Planning (DTCP) and other statutory permissions during the previous DMK regime, when Anbil Mahesh was the School Education Minister (2021-2026).According to the investigating agency, 177 private schools have been identified in connection with the alleged collection of at least Rs 100 crore. 14 killed in lightning strikes, tourist entry barred to hill stations as rains batter TN

CHENNAI: Tamil Nadu Revenue Minister KA Sengottaiyan on Monday said 14 people have died due to lightning strikes since the onset of the Northeast monsoon, even as intensifying rains triggered red alerts and prompted authorities to bar tourist entry to major hill stations. Detailing the state's monsoon relief efforts, Sengottaiyan said families of the deceased have been provided Rs 4 lakh each as compensation.

He firmly dismissed media reports claiming 35 rain-related fatalities in a single day.

"Whether the remaining reported casualties are natural deaths or caused by incidents like minor wall collapses is being investigated by the respective District Collectors," the minister clarified. On the widespread impact, the minister noted that heavy rains triggered 62 landslides in the Nilgiris district, all of which have been swiftly cleared by authorities. Tragically, a rock fell on a bus in the district, killing the driver on the spot, while the conductor sustained a fracture.

The government has issued Rs 4 lakh to the driver's family, he added. Highlighting the administration's prompt response, Sengottaiyan stated that heavy waterlogging in Coimbatore and Tiruppur caused by overnight downpours was entirely drained by 4 am, restoring normalcy.

He also pointed to the unpredictable nature of the monsoon's cloud movements, saying, "Pudukkottai was given a red alert expecting heavy rain, but not a single drop fell there."

Preliminary agricultural assessments indicate that 3,500 acres of crops are currently submerged in Nagapattinam district, according to him. As a precautionary measure, the state has temporarily barred tourist entry into hill stations, including the Nilgiris, Kodaikanal, and Yercaud, until the rains subside. CARE Hospitals Engages Medical Students and Schoolchildren in Stroke Awareness Drive in Visakhapatnam

Visakhapatnam, 26 October 2026: CARE Hospitals, Visakhapatnam, organised the Stroke Quiz Championship 2026 and Stroke Awareness Painting Competition at Hotel Grand Bay on Sunday, ahead of World Stroke Day on October 29. The initiative aimed to raise awareness about early stroke symptoms, the importance of emergency treatment and preventive measures. Held under the message "Every Minute Counts," the event brought together medical students, interns and schoolchildren from Andhra Pradesh and Odisha.

Dr. G. Butchi Raju, Former Principal and Former Head of the Department of Neurology, Andhra Medical College (AMC), attended the event as Chief Guest. Dr. Rajesh Poosarla, Senior Interventional Neuro Radiologist; Dr. M. G. V. Aditya, Senior Neurologist; and Mr. G. Sukesh Reddy, Chief Operating Officer, CARE Hospitals, Visakhapatnam, also participated. They were joined by students from various medical colleges, medical interns, schoolchildren, teachers, representatives of GWS Art Academy, and doctors and staff of CARE Hospitals.

Dr. G. Butchi Raju, Former Principal and Former Head of the Department of Neurology, Andhra Medical College, said, "Stroke awareness should not be limited to doctors. Students and young people should also understand the condition. Recognising stroke symptoms early and seeking medical attention without delay is extremely important. Quiz and painting competitions are valuable ways of educating students about health. Medical students should share what they learn with society, while schoolchildren can help raise awareness within their families. Such initiatives can take the message of stroke awareness to a wider community."

Dr. Rajesh Poosarla, Senior Interventional Neuro Radiologist, CARE Hospitals, said, "One of the biggest challenges in stroke treatment is that patients reach the hospital too late. Many wait for symptoms to improve on their own, while others dismiss them as minor health problems. This leads to the loss of valuable treatment time. Warning signs such as facial drooping, weakness in an arm or difficulty speaking require immediate emergency medical attention. Timely treatment can improve a patient's chances of recovery."Dr. M. G. V. Aditya, Senior Neurologist, CARE Hospitals, said, "Stroke treatment has advanced significantly in recent years. In eligible patients with ischaemic stroke caused by a blockage in a major brain artery, mechanical thrombectomy may help restore blood flow. Advanced technology such as a Bi-Plane Cath Lab supports greater precision during these procedures. However, even with advanced technology, delayed arrival at the hospital can limit treatment options. Recognising symptoms and reaching a hospital promptly is therefore critical." He added that high blood pressure, diabetes, smoking and obesity increase stroke risk and should be managed appropriately.

Medical Students Demonstrate Their Knowledge in Stroke Quiz

The Inter-College Stroke Quiz Championship 2026 was organised for final-year MBBS students and medical interns from colleges in Andhra Pradesh and Odisha. Students from Andhra Medical College, GITAM Institute of Medical Sciences, Gayatri Medical College, Anil Neerukonda Institute of Medical Sciences, NIMS and Government Medical College in Vizianagaram, GEMS and Government Medical College in Srikakulam, RIMS, MKCG Medical College in Odisha and Rangaraya Medical College in Kakinada, among others, were invited to participate.

Heatwave triggers rise in 'Heat Headaches', neurological complaints surge across hospitals

New Delhi, : The ongoing intense summer heatwave is not only causing physical discomfort but is also emerging as a growing threat to neurological health, with hospitals and outpatient departments across the country witnessing a rise in complaints related to headaches, dizziness, fatigue and difficulty concentrating.

Doctors say many people experiencing persistent headaches and irritability during extreme heat conditions may actually be suffering from what experts are calling "heat headaches".

According to health experts, excessive sweating during summer leads to significant fluid loss, resulting in dehydration and electrolyte imbalance. This, in turn, affects blood circulation to the brain and can trigger headaches, dizziness and migraine-like symptoms. Medical professionals also pointed out that prolonged screen exposure, inadequate sleep and spending long hours in air-conditioned environments without proper hydration are further aggravating the problem.

Doctors warned that while many heat-related headaches can be managed through hydration and rest, certain symptoms should not be ignored.

Severe headaches accompanied by vomiting, confusion, blurred vision, fainting or excessive drowsiness may indicate serious heat-related illnesses such as heat exhaustion or heatstroke and require immediate medical attention.

Experts said the sharp rise in temperatures and prolonged heatwave conditions are among the key reasons behind the growing number of neurological complaints. People already suffering from migraines are said to be particularly vulnerable, as dehydration and heat often act as major triggers for migraine attacks.

Doctors observed that symptoms of heat headaches may vary from person to person and can include throbbing headaches, dizziness, irritability, nausea, eye strain, fatigue and difficulty concentrating. Health experts cautioned that many people tend to dismiss these symptoms as normal summer exhaustion, delaying proper treatment.

According to specialists, children, elderly individuals, outdoor workers, migraine patients and people spending long hours on screens are among the groups most vulnerable to heat-related neurological problems.Doctors advised people to remain adequately hydrated, avoid outdoor activities during peak afternoon hours, reduce excessive screen time and ensure proper sleep during heatwave conditions.

Experts also recommended the consumption of electrolyte-rich fluids such as oral rehydration solutions and coconut water to help maintain hydration levels.

Dr Anjani Kumar Sharma, Director of Neurosciences at CK Birla Hospitals, said dehydration can significantly affect brain function by reducing blood flow and disturbing electrolyte balance.

How Durga Puja Has Changed Over 60 Years

I have been observing Durga Puja in Kolkata for more than six decades. Like every cultural phenomenon, Durga Puja is not static. It changes constantly; it is dynamic and remains in a state of flux. However, Durga Puja 2026 has been distinctly different and represents a new cultural phenomenon.

One noticeable change has been the role played by the film industry, particularly Tollywood and television celebrities, in inaugurating Durga Pujas. With the BJP coming to power in West Bengal under Chief Minister Suvendu Adhikari, the festival has also acquired a different political and cultural character.

In previous years, celebrity appearances, especially those of actors and actresses, often became major attractions on the eve of Durga Puja. Their presence was accompanied by enthusiastic dancing, and during idol immersion, DJ music and loud, often raucous songs were almost obligatory. Compared with those earlier celebrations, this year's festivities appeared less dominated by such a film-oriented culture.

If Suvendu Adhikari and other BJP leaders repeatedly attempt to reshape Sanatani Durga Puja according to their own cultural preferences, they must remember that the festival is deeply rooted in Bengali society. For the Bengali middle class, Durga Puja has long been an integral part of its cultural identity, with roots that go back to the period when Kolkata was the capital of British India in the nineteenth century. During the more than 34 years of government by the Communist Party of India (Marxist), or CPM, Durga Puja was never banned or deliberately stopped. However, from an ideological standpoint, a committed communist was expected to be an atheist. Such a person could be a humanist, but not a ritualistic Hindu. Consequently, Durga Puja was often presented as an autumn festival, with greater emphasis on its social character than on religious rituals.

This was different from the way Navaratri was celebrated in North India and the Hindi-speaking heartland, where the festival had a stronger religious character. In Bengal, Durga Puja developed into a broader social and cultural celebration. During Mamata Banerjee's 15 years in power, this social dimension became particularly prominent. UNESCO recognised the festival's social bonhomie by inscribing Kolkata's Durga Puja on its Intangible Cultural Heritage list. Under Mamata Banerjee, however, the celebrations also acquired a carnival-like character, particularly through the Durga Puja Carnival on Red Road. Film stars, actresses and other celebrities became prominent participants. Some of them would dance on stage to Rabindra Sangeet, while others would dance to Hindi songs. Over time, such performances became a familiar part of the festivities.

The Suvendu Adhikari government has approached Durga Puja differently this year. There are two sides to this change, and both deserve consideration.

On the one hand, I do not believe there is anything inherently wrong with emphasising the Sanatani Hindu character of the festival. I have lived in Delhi for 40 years and have observed how Navaratri is celebrated there. Understandably, people may want Bengali Durga Puja to reflect some of the dignity and religious significance associated with Navaratri.

BJP Rules Out Trinamoolisation' Ahead Of Civic Polls, But Can It Afford To?

JAYANTA GHOSAL

BJP state president Samik Bhattacharya has made the party's position clear, saying that the BJP will contest the Kolkata Municipal Corporation election independently and does not need any other party's support. According to this position, there will be no coalition or electoral adjustment with any faction of the Trinamool Congress. However, on the occasion of Lakshmi Puja on Sunday, Adhikari visited the North Kolkata residence of MP and NCPI leader Sudip Bandyopadhyay at his invitation. He was accompanied by Transport Minister Arjun Singh. The BJP had so far been maintaining a distance from the TMC. Former BJP state president and Union Minister of State Sukanta Majumdar had also said that dissident Trinamool workers may ring the BJP's doorbell, but the party will not open the door to them.

The BJP's public position is therefore unambiguous: it intends to fight the civic elections on its own and does not want to be seen as accommodating disgruntled Trinamool leaders simply to strengthen its electoral prospects.

But how much of this confidence reflects the party's actual internal assessment, and how much is intended to shape public perception before the elections? The BJP believes it can perform exceptionally well in the coming civic polls, drawing confidence from its recent electoral performance, including the Assembly by-elections. The real question is whether this confidence is backed by a detailed understanding of the ground situation or is primarily part of the party's public messaging.

The internal electoral strategy will be crucial in determining whether the BJP can translate its political momentum into victories at the municipal level.

SEVEN CIVIC BODIES IN THE FIRST PHASE

The upcoming contest is not limited to the Kolkata Municipal Corporation. According to the election preparations reported so far, the first phase is expected to cover seven urban local bodies: the Kolkata and Howrah municipal corporations, along with the municipalities of Bally, Haldia, Dhupguri, Kalimpong and Kurseong. The State Election Commission has been preparing for the polls, although the final schedule remains subject to official notification.

The elections are politically significant because municipal bodies deal directly with the everyday concerns of urban residents. They also provide parties with an opportunity to assess their organisational strength beyond Assembly and parliamentary elections.

For the BJP, therefore, the civic polls will be a test not only of its popularity but also of its ability to identify suitable candidates, manage local political equations and address issues that directly affect voters.

Is the Trinamool Losing Touch with the Ground?

The BJP's assessment is that the Trinamool Congress leadership in Kalighat, associated with Mamata Banerjee, has become increasingly disconnected from the realities on the ground. According to this view, the anti-incumbency that has accumulated over 15 years of Trinamool rule remains a significant factor in the political atmosphere.

The BJP believes that this discontent extends to the Kolkata Municipal Corporation, where dissatisfaction with the existing administration could create an opportunity for the opposition. One of the central themes of the BJP's campaign is the historical and cultural identity of Kolkata and its municipal leadership. The party points to figures such as Chittaranjan Das and Subhas Chandra Bose, who served as mayors of Calcutta, to argue that the city has a distinguished political and intellectual legacy that should be reflected in its civic administration. The BJP's argument is that Kolkata deserves a mayor who embodies the city's Bengali identity, middle-class aspirations and historical association with the nineteenth-century Bengal Renaissance.

Bobby Hakim, who served as mayor of the Kolkata Municipal Corporation, has become part of this political debate. The BJP's campaign narrative links his prominence to what it describes as Mamata Banerjee's excessive dependence on Muslim votebank politics. The party argues that, given Kolkata's Hindu majority, the city's municipal leadership should better reflect its broader Bengali, middle-class and urban character.

This is the political thesis the BJP is attempting to advance. It wants to project a Bengali, educated, middle-class and urban face for the Kolkata Municipal Corporation, one that can be associated with the city's historical legacy and intellectual traditions.

The mayor of Kolkata is, in effect, the city's first citizen. The BJP therefore sees the choice of its mayoral candidate as more than a routine electoral decision. It wants the nomination to symbolise a return to the civic pride and intellectual traditions associated with nineteenth-century Kolkata. However, whether this strategy will resonate with voters remains to be seen. The city's electoral preferences cannot be determined by cultural symbolism or demographic arguments alone.

THE ELECTORAL CALCULATION BEHIND THE BJP'S PUBLIC POSITION

Despite its ideological emphasis and its public rejection of political accommodation with the Trinamool Congress, the BJP faces a practical electoral question: can it afford to ignore influential Trinamool councillors who may have strong local support? Several sitting TMC councillors remain politically active and have established their own local networks. They continue to hold their positions after the Assembly elections, and some may have personal support bases that do not depend entirely on the popularity of the Trinamool leadership.

This creates a dilemma for the BJP. Should it maintain a strict policy of keeping all Trinamool dissidents at a distance, or should it consider making room for individuals who could improve its chances of winning particular wards? There is also a broader question about whether the BJP should engage with dissident groups or political figures associated with different factions of the Trinamool Congress. Names mentioned in this context include Ritabrata and national-level Trinamool leaders such as Sudip Bandyopadhyay and Kakoli Ghosh Dastidar. Whether any such arrangement is politically feasible and what form it might take remains uncertain. The more immediate development, however, concerns individual councillors rather than a formal party-level understanding. The information available suggests that several TMC councillors have been approaching BJP leaders independently, rather than negotiating as a group or on behalf of the Trinamool Congress. This distinction matters. The BJP may publicly reject any arrangement with the Trinamool Congress while still having to decide how to respond when individual councillors seek entry into the party.

SUVENDU ADHIKARI'S ROLE IN CANDIDATE SELECTION

Chief Minister Suvendu Adhikari is likely to play an important role in these electoral calculations. Having previously been associated with the Trinamool Congress, he is familiar with many of its leaders, organisational networks and local political equations. That experience could help the BJP assess which candidates have a realistic chance of winning and which constituencies require a different approach. A principle frequently emphasised by Union Home Minister Amit Shah during elections is the importance of winnability. Political loyalty and ideological alignment matter, but a party must also consider whether its candidates can actually win.

Jantar Mantar banned, yet protests continue on the streets

SAURABH VARSHNEY

The movement, which began with allegations of vote theft, is raising several questions before the democratic system, including the accountability of the government, the role of the opposition and the restlessness of the youth.

The movement that began in the country demanding electoral transparency and alleged "vote theft" shows no signs of abating. The political atmosphere surrounding these protests, which began on October 2nd, remains increasingly heated. Despite administrative restrictions and restrictions on demonstrations at designated locations like Jantar Mantar, the movement's voices are now being heard on the streets. The participation of youth alongside opposition parties and the activism of YouTubers and digital journalists who express their views freely have given the issue a new dimension. The question is: should this movement be viewed solely as a political protest, or should it also be understood as a concern about public trust in the democratic system? India is the world's largest democracy. Here, elections are not just a means of forming a government, but also the most important opportunity to express the will of the people. Voters, through their votes, accept power and, if necessary, have the right to change it. Therefore, it is the responsibility of the democratic system to seriously address questions raised about the fairness and transparency of the electoral process. However, it is equally important to evaluate serious allegations like vote-rigging based on evidence and facts. Making allegations and proving them are two different things. The strength of democracy lies in the fact that neither those who ask questions are dismissed without hearing them, nor are allegations accepted as final without proof.

Any democratic government faces the challenge of dealing with protests. Maintaining public order is the responsibility of the administration, but in discharging this responsibility, it is also essential to respect citizens' right to peaceful protest and freedom of expression. If restrictions related to security, traffic, or law and order are imposed in any location, they must be clearly justified and enforced fairly.

It is not appropriate to label everyone who criticizes the government as anti-establishment. Similarly, breaking the law or infringing on the rights of ordinary citizens in the name of protests is also not justified. In a democracy, responsible conduct is expected from both the government and protesters.

If the movement creates the perception that the government wants to suppress dissenting voices, it could increase political distrust. On the other hand, if the protesters make claims based solely on emotions rather than facts, their credibility is also compromised. The best approach is to conduct impartial investigations into election complaints, ensure that the relevant institutions respond with facts, and clarify the situation with the public.

The opposition's role is not only to criticize the government, but also to ensure accountability of democratic institutions and to present alternative policies to the public. If the opposition alleges irregularities in the electoral process, it must present concrete evidence, systematic complaints, and factual arguments. Public trust cannot be maintained over time through mere slogans and political accusations.

At the same time, the government must understand that dismissing every criticism from the opposition as a political conspiracy is not the solution to the problem. In a democracy, the ruling party and the opposition are certainly rivals, but both are ultimately accountable to the public. The credibility of a constitutional institution like the Election Commission lies in maintaining public confidence in its decisions, processes, and grievance redressal system.

The role of YouTubers and independent digital journalists is particularly striking within this movement. Previously, mainstream media outlets had a greater influence on news and political discourse, but the internet and social media have given ordinary citizens a wider range of opportunities to express their views. Today, young people can share videos from the scene, investigate government claims, and highlight issues that may not receive adequate coverage.

This shift presents both an opportunity and a challenge for democracy. Independent digital journalism can be useful in questioning power and highlighting public concerns. But not every YouTuber automatically becomes a journalist. Credible journalism requires verifying facts, listening to both sides, verifying sources, and avoiding the spread of misinformation. Going viral and being credible are two different things.

Therefore, it is unfair to dismiss voices emerging from digital media solely based on their political preferences. Their content must be verified based on facts. Independent journalism is truly valuable only when it questions the ruling party and objectively investigates the claims of the opposition. The government led by Prime Minister Narendra Modi offered youth the promise of development, employment, opportunities, and a better future. Today, a segment of youth is vocal about issues such as employment, competitive exams, inflation, education, and political accountability. Therefore, it would be an incomplete analysis to consider youth participation in any movement solely as a result of political party influence.

Middle Power Myths, And Why The West Needs To Stop Putting India In A 'Box'

KANWAL SIBAL

Canada has faced insults and contempt from US President Donald Trump as well as economic pressure. This has goaded Prime Minister Mark Carney to widen his country's geopolitical and economic options. At the Davis Economic Forum, he spoke of "middle powers" joining together to carve out a more autonomous role for themselves at the international level. This has triggered discussions on many platforms on the international role of "middle powers" in the light of huge geopolitical, economic, technology and security disruptions caused by the Trump administration. There is no agreed definition of the attributes of "middle powers". It would seem that major European countries, such as the UK, Germany and France, are now seen as "middle powers". Former UK Prime Minister Rishi Sunak in a panel discussion at the recent Munich Security Conference in Delhi on "middle powers" was comfortable with the idea of the UK being a "middle power". Japan, Brazil, Turkey and Indonesia are also classified as such in the current discourse.

The genesis of this "middle powers" concept is essentially the disarray in the western world because of the manner in which the Trump administration is bullying Europe and its other allies. Trump has discomposed the NATO alliance at a time when the alliance is deeply involved in a proxy war against Russia in Ukraine. Trump, Vance and others are openly interfering in the internal political affairs of Europe, attacking personally some European leaders, supporting right wing parties, lambasting European policies on uncontrolled migration to the point of wondering whether the European allies can remain dependable when political power slips eventually into the hands of Muslim migrants. With Trump's hectoring of Europe and a growing recognition that Europe faces a structural change in its relations with the US, Europe sees the necessity of re-ordering its ties with the non-western world. Drawing closer to India is an option, which explains the FTA with India as well as an intensive engagement of India by major European countries. This, of course, is in India's interests too as the Trump administration has delivered serious blows to bilateral ties on a number of issues. Once again the issue of trust has arisen in India-US ties, which in the last couple of decades had begun to dissipate.

Is India a "middle power" is a question now being discussed in think tank and other circles. The question got attention when at the Munich Security Conference organised in New Delhi, a "middle powers" panel was organised in which India participated.

India is obviously not a "great power" yet. It is not a permanent member of the UN Security Council. It is, however, a nuclear and missile power as well as a space power. It possesses large and strong military although its domestic defence manufacturing base is still deficient. India exercises strategic autonomy but it still has many vulnerabilities and external dependencies.

But India is not a "middle power". Its status is sui generis. It is the biggest country in the world population-wise. It has a young population. Its economy is growing, with a general international consensus that it will be the third largest economy in the world in a few years. In PPP terms, India is already the third largest. It has very considerable human talent, which in scale is a big national and even an international asset.

The big European countries are still powerful but they are not rising powers. They are declining powers, with a declining population, and the issue before them is to manage their decline and preserve their prosperity. Unlike India they are dependent on their security on the US. Germany hosts several US bases and US nuclear weapons are stationed on its soil. In a sense, Germany is still an occupied country.

Unlike most of the other "middle powers" which are compelled by alliances to operate in blocs, India engages all sides, be it US, Russia and even China. Europe today has essentially cut off ties with Russia. How many "middle powers" have the capacity to straddle the rich North and poor South. India has more geopolitical manoeuvrability. That India has dependencies does not make it a "middle power", as we are not unique in this regard in this interdependent and connected world.

LULA WINS A RECORD FOURTH PRESIDENTIAL TERM

Prominent figures from the right in Brazil, closely allied with Flávio Bolsonaro, have been posting on social media contesting the election result. Silas Malafaia is a conservative evangelical pastor with millions of followers online. He is close to the Bolsonaros and had been campaigning for Flávio ahead of the runoff. Last night, he posted an angry message to his Instagram saying that Lula had in fact "lost the election", and was trying to win through "legal manoeuvring". He added: "What is happening in Brazil is shameful." Meanwhile, Nikolas Ferreira, a 30-year old congressman who has also been crucial in Bolsonaro's campaign, posted a picture of Bolsonaro writing "until things are cleared up, Lula is not my president". In an earlier post he had said "Brazil will not concede". The language from both Bolsonaro and some of his prominent supporters - who have millions of followers online - has raised concerns about potential unrest following Lula's victory last night. It's not a surprise to close watchers of Brazilian politics that Flávio Bolsonaro has rejected this result. His father did the same, so his party has form for this. But his challenge is unlikely to succeed. Firstly, the challenge seems to centre on the decision by the Supreme Court justice Cristiano Zanin to extend voting hours nationwide by two hours. Some Bolsonaro fans are pointing out that Zanin was once Lula's lawyer and alleging bias. But while Lula's party requested extensions in some states due to public transport issues, Bolsonaro's own campaign petitioned the court for extensions in 17 municipalities too. Both knew every vote would count and didn't want their side missing out. There is undeniably frustration that some polling stations had already closed. But the president of the Supreme Electoral Court Kassio Nunes Marques – who was appointed by Flávio's father Bolsonaro, so is hardly a Lula ally – confirmed the victory and said that the voter extension did not change the outcome of the race. There was a substantive and definitive margin of defeat, and Bolsonaro's team announced this challenge without providing concrete evidence of any irregularities. Earlier this month, Brazilians went to the polls and gave Flavio Bolsonaro a first-round lead of 2.2 million votes over Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva. But three weeks later, Lula won the presidency by a margin of four million votes. The scale of the turnaround was remarkable. Between the two rounds, Lula gained around 11 million additional votes. So, how did he do it? Three factors help explain: First, turnout increased. More than 2.3 million additional voters cast ballots in the second round compared with the first Second, Lula appears to have won over many voters who either abstained or declined to back a candidate in the first round. The number of blank and spoilt ballots fell by about 1.8 million Third, he succeeded in persuading some voters who had previously backed Flavio Bolsonaro or other candidates to switch sides Things felt tense here in the capital, Brasilia, after the results came in and Flavio Bolsonaro rejected the result. There are concerns about whether this could trigger unrest with his supporters. Many remember the scenes of his father Jair Bolsonaro's supporters storming government buildings and the Supreme Court here ahead of Lula's 2023 inauguration after they did not recognise the last election result. So far, things are calm here. And there are a few differences to 2022's result that suggest it would be harder to try something similar. Firstly, I remember covering Bolsonaro senior's coup trial here last year and it was striking how much the evidence revealed about how he tried to use the machinery of the state – and senior figures within it – as president, to cling on to power. Because President Lula is the incumbent this time, Flavio Bolsonaro can't try that. Secondly, this result was not as close as 2022, so it would be a lot harder to claim irregularities. While Bolsonaro shares a lot of his father's traits, he has framed himself as the more "moderate" Bolsonaro, the "vaccinated" one even – so would he really go there? He has seen the consequences such rhetoric and actions had for his father. To give you a sense of how social media mobilised Lula's base ahead of the second round – one WhatsApp group that translates as "Lula's army" had nearly 11 million followers. It was used in the build-up to the final vote to share information about his campaign, mobilise supporters to turn out, and share news and updates. To give a sense of scale, about 124 million people voted for Lula or Bolsonaro in this election. I met many supporters of Lula's in the last week at demonstrations who specifically mentioned this group, and the president himself said he'd never seen anything like the campaign that had happened in the last few weeks. The winner: Brazil's left-wing President Luiz Inácio Lula da Silva has won a fourth term in office, defeating his right-wing challenger Flávio Bolsonaro. What was the margin? Lula won 51.79% of the vote, while Bolsonaro had 48.21% - that's a difference of more than 4 million votes.

Venezuelan opposition leader María Machado returns after months in exile

Venezuelan opposition leader María Corina Machado has returned home to a fraught political landscape after more than 10 months in exile. "I am here. With you," Machado wrote on X on Sunday. Her return comes after repeated prior efforts to re-enter the country came to no avail. In January, a month after Machado left Venezuela on a speedboat under cover of darkness to accept the Nobel Peace Prize in Norway, the US seized her opponent, President Nicolás Maduro. The Trump administration then backed his deputy, Delcy Rodríguez, as leader and she was sworn in as interim president, later signing an oil deal which granted very favourable terms to the US. Machado was photographed on Sunday attending Mass at a church in the Venezuelan state of Lara, surrounded by supporters hugging her and clasping her hands. She then began travelling to the capital Caracas in a caravan of cheering supporters. More supporters have lined the route of her journey to the capital. She was photographed smiling as she leaned out of the sunroof of a car as she entered Caracas late on Sunday night. "Night of reunion in our Caracas. For the reunion of each family, for the Freedom of each political prisoner, for the Freedom of Venezuela," she wrote on X. Her ally, former presidential candidate Edmundo González, confirmed her arrival, writing in a statement: "I am thrilled to announce to you that our leader, my dear María Corina, is on Venezuelan soil."

ALEXANDER VOLKANOVSKI BREAKS JOSE ALDO'S ICONIC UFC RECORD

Alexander Volkanovski is now ahead of Jose Aldo in UFC featherweight history after stopping Movsar Evloev at UFC 333 in Abu Dhabi. The Australian's second-round technical knockout was his ninth win in a UFC featherweight championship bout. He surpassed Aldo's previous mark of eight. The 38-year-old retained the 145-pound title on Saturday night at Etihad Arena after stopping the unbeaten Evloev at 4:54 of round two. Volkanovski knocked Evloev down with a right hook, then finished off his opponent with ground-and-pound as referee Marc Goddard intervened with six seconds left in the fight. José Aldo's record falls as Volkanovski claims featherweight history

The win was Alexander Volkanovski's second successful defence since he reclaimed the vacant featherweight championship back in April 2025. He first lost the belt to Ilia Topuria at UFC 298 in February 2024 before returning to the top of the division a year later.

Aldo was the champion of the featherweight division after having won eight championship bouts and successfully defended his title seven times. Volkanovski has now matched that defence total with seven, but his nine title-fight victories put him alone at the top of the division's all-time list.

Unlike Aldo, whose title win came in one continuous reign. Volkanovski's record spans two separate championship runs. He first defended the belt from 2019 to 2024 but later regained it after Topuria vacated the championship to switch to lightweight.

Volkanovski's record became 29-4 overall and 16-3 in the UFC. However, Evloev's record became 20-1, having lost the first bout of his professional career even as the No. 1 contender in featherweight.

DANA WHITE BACKS VOLKANOVSKI'S DREAM SUPERFIGHT

The Australian has again raised the possibility of a lightweight superfight with Justin Gaethje. He said such a bout could serve as a retirement fight for both champions, with the winner potentially vacating the belt to allow younger contenders to move forward.

Dana White appeared open to the idea after UFC 333. The UFC CEO said, "When you've accomplished what he's accomplished, there's not much we're going to say no to with him." He added, "So we'll see how this whole thing plays out."

For now, Volkanovski's legacy at featherweight is secure. The record-breaking win over Evloev strengthened the argument that he is the greatest 145-pound fighter in UFC history, while also leaving the division's next generation to fight for the opportunity to challenge him.

HARIS RAUF CLASHES WITH WILL JACKS, TENSION ESCALATES IN PAKISTAN VS ENGLAND MATCH

The tri-series clash between England and Pakistan turned into a heated affair on Sunday after Haris Rauf was involved in a verbal altercation with all-rounder Will Jacks. Playing at Lahore's Gaddafi Stadium, England were bowled out for 241 after being put in to bat. In reply, Pakistan kept losing wickets at regular intervals, but Shadab Khan held firm with an unbeaten 113 off 96 balls to guide the hosts to a thrilling one-wicket victory. The win was Pakistan's third successive triumph in the series and secured their place in the final. The incident occurred during the 46th over of Pakistan's chase.

Sam Curran banged in a short delivery to Shadab, who was batting on 99 at the time. While Shadab appealed for a wide, the cameras shifted focus to Haris Rauf at the non-striker's end, where he was seen exchanging words with Will Jacks. As the argument escalated, Rauf aggressively moved towards Jacks with his bat in hand. The on-field umpire quickly stepped in to diffuse the situation and prevent it from worsening. Moments later, England veteran Joe Root also intervened, acting as a peacemaker and escorting Rauf away from the confrontation. Talking about the match, Shadab Khan's maiden century rescued Pakistan from a dire situation and took them to a stunning one-wicket victory over England in the ODI in Lahore on Sunday, booking the hosts' spot in the final of the tri-series. Defending a modest 242-run target, England were on the cusp of victory with the home team reduced to 154-9, but Shadab's unbeaten 113 condemned Harry Brook's side to a third defeat in five days in the series, which also involves Sri Lanka.

India Coach's Clear Message To Bhuvneshwar Kumar On Underwhelming T20I Return

Indian bowling coach Morne Morkel spoke on the message given to veteran pacer Bhuvneshwar Kumar following his return to the Indian setup after four years, with him having told the 36-year-old to "not chase anything and just be himself" and urged that he be allowed to find his feet back into the team for a few games. The 36-year-old Bhuvneshwar, who played a massive role in Royal Challengers Bengaluru's (RCB) back-to-back IPL title wins in the 2025 and 2026 seasons, returned to the Indian side for New Zealand T20Is to the delight of many Indian fans. However, with figures of 0/49 and 1/50 in the first two T20Is, the 'Swing King' has not delivered as per expectations after a blockbuster IPL 2026, where he emerged as the joint second-highest wicket-taker, taking 28 scalps in 16 matches. Speaking to reporters about Bhuvneshwar's return, Morkel spoke of the expectation factor and the amount of time Bhuvneshwar had to train for his return to international cricket after four long years.

"I have got a lot of sympathy for his return. You know, the reason why I say that is that there will be expectations after 4 years to come out. He has done exceptionally well in the IPL; he has bowled really well. One is to block the expectation factor out. Leading into, you know, his selection. I mean, there was a month of cricket where, yes, he trained, but this is a different beast coming and playing international cricket where the margins are small. So he had to come in with limited training because of the schedule, get himself ready," he said.

"So the skill and, you know, his experience, everything is there, but at the end of the day, you know, you have to respect the game of cricket, and you have to be able to allow him to just find his feet in some of the games. And for me, that has been the message from the start when he joined the squad: you know, do not chase anything, just be you."

"I Would Like To Take It With Zoil Instead": Fan Leaves Cinna Embarrassed During Photo Request

Cinna is used to fans asking for pictures, but one request this week didn't go the way she expected. While she was out with fellow streamer Zoil, a fan walked up for a photo, and Cinna got ready to pose with both of them. The fan then made it clear he only wanted Zoil in the picture and asked her to step out of the frame. Cinna was visibly embarrassed, and the moment was shared widely online soon after. Zoil gets the photo as Cinna steps aside Cinna had already moved into the shot when the fan stopped her. "I would like to take it with Zoil instead," he said. She stepped out, visibly embarrassed, and the fan got his photo with Zoil alone, without her in the frame. Zoil is a British streamer who built his audience on Twitch through gaming and Just Chatting streams, and he's known to a lot of viewers as a close friend of xQc. Plenty of people online still couldn't believe the fan picked him over Cinna, especially after the month-long run she had on Twitch this summer. Most subscribed woman on Twitch gets left out of the frame Cinna started Cinnathon on August 1, 2026, and streamed 24 hours a day for 31 days with one clear goal: to become the most subscribed woman on Twitch. By the end of the run, she had 140,451 active subscribers at her peak, the highest active count of any woman on the platform at the time. Ironmouse is still often named as the record holder among women when all-time peaks are counted, and Kai Cenat holds the overall record, with 1,095,265 subscribers during his Mafiathon 3 in September 2025. The subathon also brought in sponsors. On August 2, just a day into the stream, Bang Energy announced it had signed her, with almost the entire month of Cinnathon still to go. She's nominated for Best Marathon Stream at The Streamer Awards for that broadcast, and she's also up for the Sapphire Award. The ceremony, which QTCinderella hosts every year, is on November 12 in Los Angeles, and Cinna is one of the bigger names heading into the night.

Imane "Pokimane" Anys says Brandon "Atrioc" Ewing showing up in her Twitch community still shakes her, nearly four years after the deepfake controversy that involved several female streamers. Out On 199, Devdutt Padikkal's Reaction On Controversial Dismissal Goes Viral Devdutt Padikkal stood firm like a wall and rescued India A on Day 3 of the first unofficial Test against New Zealand A at Bert Sutcliffe Oval in Lincoln. India A had finished Day 2 at 106/2 in their second innings, with Padikkal unbeaten on 56 and Sai Sudharsan on 39 at stumps. Resuming on the third day, Padikkal continued his fine form and scored a magnificent 199 before being caught behind by wicketkeeper Mitchell Hay off Zak Gibson's bowling. Having fallen just one run short of a double century, Padikkal appeared visibly disappointed with the umpire's decision, arguing that there was a huge gap between the bat and the ball. Padikkal not only anchored the innings but also stitched together a crucial 215-run partnership with Sudharsan, who made 91. He then added another valuable 142-run stand with Yash Rathod (66) as India A recovered strongly after being bowled out for just 113 in their first innings.

Padikkal's Fiery Form

Padikkal's 199-run knock has provided a significant boost to India's Test squad ahead of the upcoming two-match series against New Zealand. The series begins on November 19, and Padikkal is expected to play a key role for the visitors. The left-hander was also in excellent form during India's two-Test series against Sri Lanka in August.

In the first Test, which India won by 165 runs, Padikkal scored 167 and 44. He followed it up with another impressive performance in the second Test, scoring 117 in a match that ended in a draw.

Paige Shares Unfortunate Update After Her Flight and Train Plans Fall Apart

=Paige is stuck in Scotland with no clear way back to the United States, and it's all because of canceled flights and trains ahead of WWE RAW. The former Divas Champion had been at Comic-Con Scotland, and the trip home went sideways fast when her flight got canceled. Next she tried a seven-hour train to London so she could catch another flight, but that fell apart too. She laid it all out on X, blaming the airline and the storm-related cancellations for leaving her stranded, and the whole mess lands right in the middle of her ongoing feud with Nikki Bella. Paige's Flight Was Canceled After Her Seat Was Given Away at the Airport Paige said the trouble started before she ever got on the plane. According to her post, the airline told her it had handed her seat to passengers from a flight that was delayed earlier. She wrote: "Got up early to catch my flight, got there, they GAVE MY TICKET AWAY." It got worse from there, because the flight itself never left. Storm Boelo hit Scotland with severe weather and disrupted air travel and rail services over weekend, and National Rail warned passengers about cancellations and delays from the storm. So Paige went looking for another route. Her backup was that seven-hour train ride to London, where she hoped to get another flight. Canceled as well, which left her unable to keep going with her original plans.

REAL MADRID CENTURY 'JUST A DETAIL' FOR KYLIAN MBAPPE AFTER EL CLASICO WIN

Kylian Mbappe said reaching a milestone 100 goals for Real Madrid during the 2-1 Clasico win over Barcelona in La Liga on Sunday was "just a detail" compared to the team's victory. The French forward hit a brace to bring up his century for Los Blancos across all competitions since joining in 2024. Mbappe's double, either side of a Raphinha strike for the hosts at Camp Nou, brought third-place Real Madrid within three points of the La Liga leaders and reigning Spanish champions. "I'm very happy, I think everyone knows I like to score goals, I like to help the team with that, but I think today it's just a detail, because... the most important thing is the team's win," Mbappe told Real Madrid TV. "Honestly, the real star of the game today is the team, the group, because we knew we had to play a big game, a team game... "We know that in the end it was a great game, but it still only counts as three points, and we need to pick up a lot of points to win La Liga." Jose Mourinho's Madrid have now won five matches in a row and seem to be coming into strong form. "It doesn't mean anything, we have to continue, because five games for us is nothing, we want to win every game," added Mbappe, 27. "(Winning) is a good message today, but we can't think the season is done -- next week (at Racing) Santander we have to put in the same intensity."

The 27-year-old, the second-best La Liga scorer this season, is building on a remarkable performance last campaign, which saw him finish as La Liga and the Champions League's top scorer, the World Cup Golden Boot winner and the all-time leading World Cup scorer. Those statistics have made him one of the frontrunners for the Ballon d'Or ahead of Monday's gala in London. Defeats to Real Betis and Atletico Madrid last month shook Real's top-flight campaign, but recent results reflect stability. Real have now won five matches in a row – three in La Liga and two in the UCL – and seem to be coming into strong form. Even though Sunday's victory was just a second in eight games against Barcelona, Real are slowly reducing the gap on Barca this season, with just over a quarter of the season played. After 10 matches, they are third in the league standings on 24 points, three points behind Barcelona, while Atletico are sandwiched in between, sitting second with 25 points.

'Aadarsha Kutumbam – House No. 47' Is Different from Trivikram's Previous Films: Says Srinidhi Shetty

Victory Venkatesh and the wizard of words, Trivikram Srinivas, have joined hands for the prestigious film Aadarsha Kutumbam – House No. 47. Produced by S. Radha Krishna (Chinababu) under the Haarika & Hassine Creations banner, the film features Srinidhi Shetty as the female lead. Bringing the festive spirit of Diwali a little early, the film is set for a grand worldwide theatrical release on October 30.

Coming 20 years after Venkatesh and Trivikram last collaborated, Aadarsha Kutumbam has generated considerable expectations. The recently released trailer has further raised the excitement surrounding the film. With the release date fast approaching, the promotional activities are gaining momentum. In this context, heroine Srinidhi Shetty recently interacted with the media and shared several interesting insights about the film.

WHAT EXCITED YOU ABOUT SAYING YES TO THIS FILM?

I had always wanted to work in a film directed by Trivikram garu. So, receiving a call from him made me extremely happy. Moreover, this is a new genre for both Trivikram garu and Venkatesh garu. If you look at Trivikram garu's filmography, Aadarsha Kutumbam is completely different from his previous films. That is why, after hearing the story, I immediately felt that I had to be a part of this film.

Although I play a mother in the film, I never once considered turning down the offer. Films and characters like these come along very rarely. The combination of Trivikram garu and Venkatesh garu is special in itself. Getting an opportunity to be part of such a wonderful film featuring these two stalwarts is truly a privilege.

HOW IS YOUR CHARACTER? HOW DID YOU FEEL ABOUT DOING COMEDY?

As Trivikram garu explained, this is a crime comedy with elements of dark humour. This is the first time I have played a full-fledged comedy-oriented character. My character loses money in a chit fund scheme and ends up getting into debt.

Since I had never played a role of this kind before, I initially had some doubts about how I would pull it off. However, after seeing the final output, I felt extremely satisfied with my performance.

TRIVIKRAM GARU IS KNOWN FOR HIS BRILLIANT DIALOGUES. HOW DID YOU FEEL ABOUT DELIVERING HIS LINES?

Trivikram garu's dialogues carry a great deal of depth and meaning. So, before delivering each dialogue, I made an effort to understand its underlying meaning. The film has several wonderful dialogues, and his magic as a writer is evident throughout. The dialogue in the trailer, "What is the war that can be won without an army dying, sir?" particularly impressed me. It is a line that I loved, and I believe audiences will appreciate it just as much.

WERE YOU DISAPPOINTED BY THE POSTPONEMENT OF THE FILM'S RELEASE?

When you have worked hard on a film for nearly a year and a half, and there is still an opportunity to improve the final output, I believe it is better to take a little more time rather than rush into releasing it. Producer Naga Vamsi garu also explained the same point. The release date was moved from October 9 to October 30 to ensure a better output. I feel that these additional three weeks have helped make Aadarsha Kutumbam even better.

WHY DO YOU DO RELATIVELY FEW FILMS?

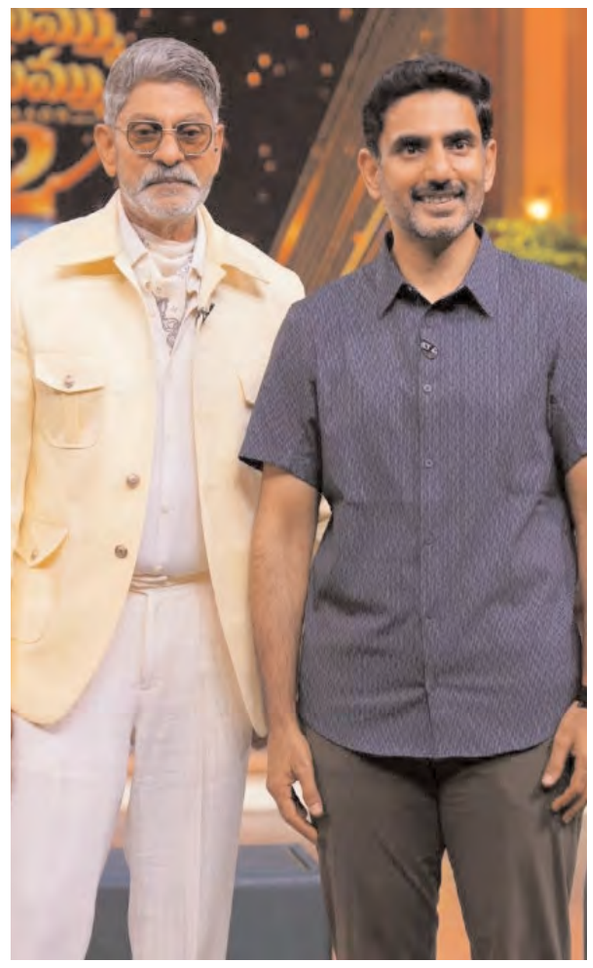

I have been choosing films based on the content and whether the stories appeal to me. Aadarsha Kutumbam is also a film I selected because I genuinely liked it.

However, the big-budget films I work on often take a year or two to complete. That is why it may seem as though I am doing fewer films. I joined the sets of Aadarsha Kutumbam in July 2025, and more than a year has already passed since then.

DID YOU TRY TO MATCH VENKATESH GARU'S PERFORMANCE?

Venkatesh garu is an extraordinary actor. His comic timing is fantastic, and his performances in emotional scenes are equally remarkable. Matching him is not something that can easily be done, but I made an honest effort from my side.x

NARA LOKESH'S DEEPAVALI SPECIAL BRINGS FAMILY ANECDOTES, SCHOOL-DAY CONFESSIONS AND A 'LEGEND' MOMENT TO 'JAYAMMU NISHCHAYAMMU RAA – SEASON 2'

A familiar film dialogue, an unexpected childhood confession and a family anecdote that takes a humorous turn the latest episode of 'Jayammu Nishchayammu Raa with Jagapathi' – Season 2 promises a different kind of festive conversation. Andhra Pradesh IT Minister Nara Lokesh joins host Jagapathi Babu for the show's third episode, bringing personal recollections and a playful exchange of stories to the Deepavali special.

The season began with Sai Pallavi, whose appearance opened the series of celebrity conversations, before bringing together director Trivikram Srinivas, composer Thaman S and special guest Sunil for its second episode. The upcoming instalment moves into a different sphere, with Lokesh offering glimpses of the person behind his public responsibilities through stories that are as amusing as they are personal. One of the conversation's lighter moments revolves around his school years. Looking back at his time as a student, Lokesh recalls an impressive distinction of sorts: being the recipient of more punishments than his classmates. What could have remained an ordinary childhood memory takes a comic turn when the conversation draws in his uncle, Nandamuri Balakrishna. Lokesh's response suggests that mischief, in this family, makes for an entertaining subject of comparison. His recollections of the period surrounding his wedding bring another amusing exchange to the fore. Lokesh remembers Balakrishna addressing him as 'Alludugaru'. Rather than taking the affectionate form of address at face value, he recalls instinctively wondering what was being planned for him. The anecdote turns a simple family interaction into a moment of comic suspicion, offering a glimpse of their dynamic away from the screen. The conversation also circles around the contrast between Balakrishna's formidable cinematic image and his life beyond it. Lokesh hints at the existence of one person who can leave the actor apprehensive, setting up a revelation that the promo deliberately holds back.
